REDS VETO BORDER WATCH IN BALKANS

U. S. WARNS 'GRAVE SITUATION' HAS BEEN CREATED

CHICAGO TO START RENT CONTROL IN WEEK; COURT TEST BY HOTELS LIKELY

Ordinance, Adopted Despite Ruling by Legal Counsel, Bars Rate Increases of More Than 15 Per Cent.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, July 29—This city's new rent control ordinance, designed to protect hotel permanent guests from gouging landlords and adopted in the face of an adverse ruling by the city's legal counsel, will go into effect a week from today.

The ordinance, passed by the City Council last Friday and signed immediately by Mayor Martin H. Kennelly, prohibits rent increases of more than 15 per cent above the June 30 level for permanent hotel tenants.

Validity of the bill was hotly argued in the council which, however, passed it unanimously. The city's corporation counsel warned that the city was going beyond its home rule powers, but, hesitant to fight the legislative desires of the aldermen, assisted in preparation of the bill and provided suggestions intended to give it the best chance of survival in the courts.

State of Emergency.

Among these suggestions was insertion of a clause that a state of emergency existed under the city's health, safety and public welfare needs. Hotel men are expected to rush to the courts with a contest after the three-man commission created by the ordinance starts enforcing its provisions.

The new law is conceded to be stop-gap legislation. A state law recently was enacted permitting municipalities to set up local rent control commissions, but this law does not become effective until federal rent control expires next March 1.

Various aspects of the tenant problem were considered by the council's housing committee, which decided that the only class of renters clearly excluded by the new federal law was permanent hotel guests. These persons, as in other cities, had deluged city authorities with complaints that they had suffered outrageous rent increases.

No Transient Protection.

The council committee at first decided to put all hotel rates under city ordinance, but decided to ignore transient guests since federal regulations governing them had been dropped last spring. Under

SWELTERING NIGHT, HOTTEST YET, DUE; BREAK TOMORROW

Forecaster, Saying Showers Are Coming, Points Out Heat Is Good for Corn.

St. Louisans will swelter through the hottest night of the year tonight, the weather man predicted today, but a break in the broiling temperatures should arrive tomorrow night.

Meteorologist Harry F. Wahlgren forecast a low temperature tomorrow morning of only 78. He expects thundershowers tomorrow afternoon to be a harbinger of cooler temperatures.

Yesterday's high here was a hot 90 at 5 p.m., but the mercury registered 102 at Kansas City, and temperatures in the 100s were general from Texas to the Canadian border. It's good corn-growing weather, Wahlgren pointed out.

St. Louisans found light smoke over the city when they got up this morning. Beginning at about 5 o'clock, smoke carried in by a southeast wind limited visibility to about two miles.

GIRL PULLS FIRE HOOK FOR PEANUTS BUT GETS A SCARE

When firemen with four pieces of apparatus and three policemen in a squad car responded to an alarm from a box at Adkins avenue and Bowen street yesterday, they found only a badly frightened 10-year-old schoolgirl.

There wasn't any fire, she said. Three playmates told her that, if she pulled the hook on the fire box, she'd get a big handful of peanuts because policemen had changed the alarm boxes into peanut vending machines, she said.

The playmates, two 12-year-old boys and a girl, 10, fled when the alarm was turned in, but police rounded them up. They will report to the juvenile officer at the Carondelet station for a lecture next week.

K.C. GRAND JURY RECONVENES; TWO AIDS FOR PHELPS

Two-Week Session to Be Held — Assistants Are Named at Special Prosecutor's Request.

By SPENCER R. McCULLOCH
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 29—A special Federal Grand Jury, empowered to investigate the August 1946 primary vote frauds and the theft of ballots from the Jackson County Courthouse two months ago, reconvened today for a two weeks' session.

Two special assistants in the Department of Justice criminal division have been ordered to report Thursday to Richard K. Phelps, special federal prosecutor here.

The men are William A. Paisley, chief of the general crimes section of the criminal division, and Eric Broome, a specialist in fraud cases. Attorney General Tom C. Clark said yesterday they were appointed at the request of Phelps.

Phelps was named June 17 as a special assistant to Clark and given full authority to prosecute any federal violations which might develop in connection with the fraudulent primary. It was understood he was to have such help as he thought he needed.

Assistants' Records.

Paisley was Assistant United States District Attorney at Jacksonville, Fla., from 1928 to 1941, before going to Washington to the criminal division assignment. He successfully prosecuted former Representative Andrew J. May of Kentucky and the Garsson brothers for conspiracy to defraud the Sharp Weather Changes Believed To Have Hastened Death of F.D.R.

By ARTHUR J. SNIDER.
The Chicago Daily News-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch. Copyright, 1947.

CHICAGO, July 29—Franklin D. Roosevelt's death was hastened by the powerful effects of sharply-changing weather conditions, in the opinion of Dr. William F. Petersen, director of clinical research at St. Luke's Hospital here.

Tracing the weather record at Hyde Park, where the President reportedly suffered a stroke March 25, 1945, Dr. Petersen found the mercury had gone above 80 in mid-March, dropped to freezing levels by March 22, then shot up again.

The President was hurried to Warm Springs, Ga., where the final blow came on April 12.

"At Warm Springs there was a related situation," Dr. Petersen said in a report published in Postgraduate Medicine.

"It was almost freezing on the 7th of April. The came an upswing of 40 degrees.

"Thrombosis followed by rupture and hemorrhage probably was the immediate cause."

Dr. Petersen believes weather variability with its wide and rapid temperature changes is responsible for the breakdown of machinery in many sensitive persons.

"Coronary thrombosis occurs most often at temperature extremes, that is, during periods of unusually high or low temperatures and most often after periods of cold," he said.

A cold air mass has the effect of contracting the blood vessels, which causes the blood pressure to rise. To compensate, the body produces a chemical called histamine which serves to dilate the blood vessels and thereby drop the blood pressure. The effect of a sudden temperature rise would also be to enlarge the blood vessels.

The result would be a very low blood pressue, leaving many areas of the body, particularly the cerebral region and the extremities, without an adequate blood supply, he said.

"This could result in sudden clotting in those region and in the coronary," Dr. Petersen said.

Says Officials Rejected Plan for Baby Carriers, Later Called for More —Left Note for President.

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—Henry J. Kaiser, the industrialist, testified today that he sent a four-paragraph note to the late President Roosevelt in 1942 and got a wartime contract to build small aircraft carriers after top Navy officials previously had rejected his offer.

Kaiser told a Senate War Investigating subcommittee of this incident after saying "I can't recollect" when asked whether he went to the White House also in connection with contracts he secured to build cargo-carrying airplanes.

The committee is seeking facts regarding some $40,000,000 worth of airplane contracts awarded to Kaiser and Howard Hughes, aircraft designer and film producer.

Senator Ferguson (Rep.), Michigan, questioned Kaiser on this.

Story of "Baby Flattops."

On the "baby flattops"—small aircraft carriers—Kaiser told this story:

He talked with the late Marvin McIntyre, secretary to the late President Roosevelt, about building the aircraft carriers.

McIntyre was "very available" and when the Navy rejected Kaiser's plans "by a vote of 16 to nothing" he consulted McIntyre.

"At the time I had seen the President only once," Kaiser went on. "I went in to see Mac."

McIntyre told him, Kaiser said, that if Kaiser would "write a little letter of about four paragraphs" that McIntyre would "lay it on the chief's desk."

Kaiser said the next day he received a call from Adm. Emory S. Land, then directing ship construction.

"Adm. Land said, 'What the hell have you been doing?'" Kaiser continued.

Letter Caused Reversal.

Kaiser said the letter to President Roosevelt caused top Navy officials to "reverse" themselves.

"I got an order for 100 air carriers," he said. "All hell broke loose."

The Navy, he asserted, had not wanted carriers but had demanded destroyers to fight U-boats. It finally canceled orders for 50 carriers, he said.

Kaiser said the Navy did not want to call his ships "aircraft

99 OF LAST BILLS CONGRESS PASSED NOW AT WHITE HOUSE

Rest of 250 Measures Still to Be Delivered for Action by Truman.

WASHINGTON, July 29 (UP)—President Truman will find at least 99 bills passed by the Eightieth Congress on his desk when he returns to the White House late today from Kansas City.

There is a backlog of some 250 measures enacted by the Congress in the last days of its first session, but so far only the 99 have been delivered to the White House, Assistant Press Secretary Eben Ayers told reporters.

The President has 10 days—Sundays excepted—from the time the bills reach him to sign, veto or ignore the bills. The latter is generally referred to as a pocket veto.

U.S. TO INCREASE BROADCASTS TO RUSSIA, CUT TIME FOR OTHER LANDS

Overall Reduction of 40 Per Cent Made in Foreign Information Program to Fit Smaller Budget.

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—Expansion of American official broadcasts to Soviet Russia was ordered today by the State Department as it cut back other programs because of reduced funds allocated by Congress.

Officials said, beginning tonight, a new 30-minute "Voice of America" program of news in the Russian language and music will be beamed to the Moscow area. A one-hour program of news, music and features which started last February will continue unchanged.

The new half-hour broadcast was timed to reach Moscow at midnight. The present program is heard from 8:00 to 9:00 p.m. Moscow time.

The expansion, officials indicated, results from recommendations of Ambassador Walter B. Smith in Moscow. The new broadcast will be prepared by the present staff and is to involve no additional cost.

Total Time Reduced.

Assistant Secretary of State William Benton announced a 40 per cent cut in the "Voice of America" broadcasts and other major changes to make the enterprise fit its smaller budget.

Broadcasts will be reduced from 55 to 33 hours a day, and Danish and Swedish will be dropped from the list of 26 languages in which the programs are now beamed abroad.

Effective today a new system of "block programming" goes into effect to concentrate the broadcasts into the best evening listening hours in each country and to permit staff reductions.

Congress reduced funds for this year from $8,400,000 to $6,900,000. It directed also that part of the operations be turned over to private radio concerns.

Indonesia Program Retained.

Benton listed these changes:

Dutch language programs to The Netherlands will be eliminated, but programs to Indonesia in that language will be continued.

Broadcasts to Latin America will be most severely reduced — from 18 hours and 15 minutes to 9 hours daily, mostly in English language programs.

Broadcasts to the Far East will

CRITICS DENY ITEMS BY MARK TWAIN ARE 'SUPPRESSED'

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., July 29 (AP)—Two men who should know say there is no truth in a Russian writer's statement that "reactionary American publishers" are suppressing certain "anti-imperialistic" essays of Mark Twain.

The disputants are Bernard de Voto, literary critic and for eight years custodian of Mark Twain's unpublished writings, and Dr. Dixon Wecter, University of California professor and literary editor of Twain's estate. Both joined in contradicting the comments of the Russian critic, M. Mendelsohn.

De Voto said that "the essays singled out by Mendelsohn have been circulated in millions of copies, including pamphlet form."

IRATE FISHERMAN BRINGS DOWN PLANE WITH A BEER CAN

OMAHA, Nebr., July 29 (AP)—A fisherman annoyed by a DDT-spraying plane flying low over nearby Carter Lake, downed the plane—by heaving a beer can into its propeller.

Pilot Larry Anderson of Kansas City had no trouble landing the plane at the nearby Omaha municipal airport, but repair of the propeller "cost us five hours flying," H. A. Herschfield of Aerial Crop Service said.

U.S. STEEL TO BOOST PRICES ABOUT $5 A TON SOON

Bethlehem and Other Firms Announce Similar Increases On Products.

NEW YORK, July 29 (AP)—United States Steel Corp. said it would announce within the next few days steel advances of about $5 a ton, Irving S. Olds, chairman, announced after a directors meeting.

The announcement virtually completed the cycle of price increases by the nation's steel producers. Earlier in the day increases were posted y Bethlehem Steel, Inland Steel and Youngstown Sheet & Tube. Over the weekend most other companies announced increases ranging from $5 to $10 a ton on finished products.

United States Steel Corporation reported today net income for the second 1947 quarter was $29,336,868, equal to $2.65 a common share, compared with $13,900,270 or 87 cents in the similar period a year ago when output was affected by a two-month coal strike. The usual dividend of $1 a share on common stock payable Sept. 10 to holders of record Aug. 8 was declared. Net income for the first quarter of 1947 was $39,234,511, equal to $3.78 a common share.

THREE IRGUN JEWS HANGED DESPITE REPRISAL WARNING

Two Britons Held as Hostages in Palestine Reported 'Being Executed' in Retaliation.

JERUSALEM, July 29 (AP)—The British hanged three Jews today in defiance of a Jewish underground threat to retaliate with the execution of two British hostages and "bathe the Holy Land with blood."

A British military announcement said Meir Nakar, Yacoub Weiss and Absalom Habib were put to death between 4 and 5 a.m. in Acre prison in Palestine's north coast for their part in the May 4 break there, in which 251 prisoners were freed and 16 persons were killed.

A Jewish underground source said last night that Irgun Zvai Leumi, to which the three belonged, had tried British Sergeants Clifford Martin and Mervin Paice and condemned them to death for being members of a force "illegally occupying Palestine" and "conspiring to oppress the rightful citizens of Palestine." The two Britons were kidnaped July 12 at Natanya.

This source said that Irgun

TAFT TO SPEAK UP ON MAJOR ISSUES IN WESTERN TOUR

Senator's Announcement Taken as Challenge to Dewey to Make Views Known.

By JACK BELL.

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—Senator Taft of Ohio called today for a "frank discussion" by his fellow Republicans of domestic and foreign issues.

Taft, scheduled to receive his state's "favorite son" indorsement for the G.O.P. presidential nomination at Columbus Thursday, said he plans to bear down during his Western trip in September on issues likely to arise before the next session of Congress.

"I plan to talk about the issues before the country," including the Marshall plan for economic aid for Europe, Taft told a reporter.

"Before Congress meets again (in January), I think all of these matters should be freely discussed throughout the country, particularly by Republicans."

His statement was interpreted as a challenge to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York to speak out.

On his own Western trip Dewey remained silent on major political developments. He declined to discuss his views on the new Taft-Hartley labor act and refused to comment on the Marshall plan after Secretary of State Marshall explained it to the Governors conference at Salt Lake City.

Friends say Taft hopes to emphasize on a tour of California, Nevada, Oregon, Washington, Idaho and possibly Wyoming that he is willing to state his stand on every domestic and international issue of importance.

He already has said he plans to talk on the accomplishments of the last Congress, in which he played a leading part as chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee.

Taft will begin what he regards as a political testing tour with an appearance before the American Bar Association convention in Santa Cruz, Sept. 12, as one of a panel discussing the Taft-Hartley act.

He will swing into political meetings with an address before the California Young Republican clubs at Los Angeles on Sept. 16.

In quick succession he has scheduled talks Sept. 19 before the

MISSOURI BASIN RECLAMATION AND IRRIGATION FUNDS

$28,215,000 for Current Fiscal Year, $11,215,000 Over Previous Estimates.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 29—A preliminary study of official figures showed today that the Interior Department's Bureau of Reclamation would have $28,215,000 to spend on reclamation and irrigation projects under the Pick-Sloan plan in the Missouri river basin in the current fiscal year.

It had been announced heretofore that the year's fund for this work would be $17,000,000, as listed in the regular departmental appropriation bill as signed by President Truman last Saturday. However, a last-minute supplemental appropriation bill carried $6,400,000 in additional funds and it developed that Congress provided also for the bureau to use in the current year a balance of $4,815,000 left over from the last fiscal year.

The "regular funds" will be used for eight main irrigation projects and for power transmission lines, while the supplemental fund will go toward building 12 bureau dams in the Pick-Sloan plan.

STOCKS OFF $1 TO $3 A SHARE; WHEAT AND COTTON DECLINE

Steel, Auto, Rail, Rubber, Farm Implement Securities Give Ground.

NEW YORK, July 29 (AP)—Heavy selling drove stock prices down $1 to more than $3 a share today in one of the severest declines in months. More than one billion dollars in market value of all shares listed in the exchange was erased.

Wheat declined 9 cents at Chicago. Cotton at New York dropped $2.90 to $3.30 a bale.

SURGERY ON JUSTICE DOUGLAS

PORTLAND, Ore., July 29 (AP)—Justice William O. Douglas of the United States Supreme Court underwent a tonsillectomy today and a nurse at Physicians and Surgeons Hospital said "Everything is just fine."

The Justice, vacationing at his summer home at Lostine in the Wallowa Mountains, said last night he had decided it was time to do something about his recurring throat infections.

SOME DELEGATES TO CONSULT WITH GOVERNMENTS AT ONCE — JOHNSON

Russia Abstains From Voting on Individual Sections, but, With Poland, Says No on the Final Vote.

By JOHN A. PARRIS JR.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., July 29 (AP)—Using its veto, Russia today blocked a United Nations Security Council effort to establish a border watch over the Balkans and brought a warning from the United States that a "grave situation" had been created.

Herschel V. Johnson, United States deputy delegate, declared that the Soviet action had created a situation that required the consultation of some delegates with their governments immediately.

On Johnson's motion the Security Council adjourned until tomorrow afternoon, forestalling an expected speech from Andrei A. Gromyko, Russian delegate, on his veto.

The Council had previously approved the commission plan paragraph with Russia abstaining on all these votes but when it came to a final vote on the plan as a whole Gromyko used his power of veto.

Poland Also Votes No.

The final vote was 9 to 2, Russia and Poland in the negative.

The vote on Johnson's move to adjourn was 8 to 1, with Poland against it. Syria and Colombia abstained.

Russia's veto of the American resolution recalled pointedly a remark several days ago by Sir Alexander Cadogan, chief of the British delegation. He said that if the U.N. could not reach an agreement on effective action to maintain peace in the Balkans the delegates might as well "pack up and go home."

Voting by Sections.

On the paragraph by paragraph vote the council majority had approved the commission.

The council voted 9 to 1, with Russia abstaining and Poland in the negative, to create the commission.

Then, on the crucial vote for 11 members as demanded by the United States, the council voted 7 to 0 with Australia, Poland, Russia and France abstaining.

Russia abstained in the first test vote, the Council approving the preamble by a 9 to 1 vote. The preamble found that a dispute existed which was likely to endanger the maintenance of international peace and security. Poland voted against the preamble.

The Council by a 10 to 0 vote next approved a paragraph recommending that the contending parties in the Balkans abstain from all action likely to increase tension. On that paragraph Russia abstained.

The Council decided nine to one, with Russia again abstaining, that giving any support to armed bands in the Balkans by any of the four countries—Greece, Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria—should be construed as a threat to peace within the meaning of the U.N. charter. Poland voted in the negative.

Continuing the voting by sections, the council, by a 10 to 0 vote, with Russia abstaining, recommended that the four governments in the Balkans case establish as soon as possible normal diplomatic relations among themselves.

For Frontier Conventions.

The council voted 9 to 1 wtih Russia again abstaining, a recommendation for the four governments to enter into frontier conventions providing for regulating their frontiers, where most of the trouble has occurred.

The Council approved by a vote of 8 to 0, with Russia, Poland and Syria abstaining, a paragraph dealing with handling refugees in the four countries recommending that refugee camps be put under the supervision of some international body authorized by the United Nations.

The council approved 9 to 0,

Little Red Riding Hood Called No Tale for Tots; 'Quivers of Fear'

LONDON, July 29 (AP) — The Nursery Schools Association of Britain today condemned the tale of Little Red Riding Hood as cruel, deceptive and likely to create fear complexes among children.

Miss Joyce Cornish-Bowden, education secretary of the association, demanded that the story be kept from British youngsters because of its harmful influence.

A few weeks ago the Middlesex County Council prohibited Punch and Judy shows on the ground that they teach children to become wife beaters.

Miss Cornish-Bowden, an authority on child education, said Little Red Riding Hood would be suitable if it were not for the big bad wolf. When the little girl finds her grandmother isn't there, "any child will feel quivers of fear," she said.

BRITISH CONSIDER CUTTING ARMED FORCES TO EASE ECONOMIC CRISIS

Chief of Staff Montgomery Reported Curtailing Tour in Far East to Return Home for Discussion.

LONDON, July 29 (AP) — Authoritative sources said today that Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery would curtail his Far Eastern tour immediately and return to Britain to discuss slashing the nation's armed forces in view of the economic crisis.

Montgomery, chief of the British imperial general staff, was to have gone to Tokyo to visit Gen. Douglas MacArthur on Aug. 5. He left Britain June 21, and has spent most of his time in Australia and New Zealand.

Whitehall sources said Montgomery was returning on his own initiative because of the increasingly serious view taken in high government quarters of the industrial and financial crisis stemming in part from the rapid dwindling of the American loan. The acute need for greater production, stressed last weekend by leaders of all major political parties, may well mean the armed forces will have to be cut to provide more men for coal mines and factories, official quarters said.

1,297,300 in Armed Forces.

The War Office announced recently that the number of men and women in the British Army, Navy and Air Forces on June 30 was 1,297,300. Reduction of this figure has been urged by leftwing Labor party critics of Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's policies, but the Government, backed solidly by the Conservatives, has delayed the cut in view of the world situation.

Today's indication that the cut is being considered came amid such other "crisis" signs as a fall in prices on London security exchanges, an all-out government effort to increase coal production, and persistent talk of a possible government shakeup.

Prime Minister Attlee held an unheralded meeting with senior cabinet members last night, presumably to discuss the economic situation. Tomorrow he is scheduled to address a closed meeting of all Labor members of Parliament.

Many Labor M.P.s as well as a large segment of the Conservative and non-partisan press are urging Attlee to give "stronger" leadership and to warn the public to cut their low living standard still lower. The majority of the press has accused the Government of letting the country "drift."

Possibility of Tapping Reserve.

A Government source said the Government might tap its 640,000,000 pounds (about $2,560,000,000) reserve as a stopgap between the expiration of Britain's United States loan probably in December, and the operation of any Marshall plan for Europe. He said some of the reserve was in dollars and some in gold.

The official speculated the Government would not be likely to spend more than a third of the fund. "If we did, people would get terrified of sterling, with consequent disastrous results for us," he explained.

He emphasized that a decision whether to go into the reserve could be taken later, probably in the late autumn, in the light of the prospects then for Congressional approval of the Marshall plan.

U. S. MISSION TO GREECE PLANNING ON YEAR BASIS

ATHENS, July 29 (UP)—Dwight Griswold, head of the United States mission to Greece, said today that his mission is preparing its plans on a one-year basis and that "any long range program will be held to a minimum."

Griswold, speaking at a press conference, made no comment on a proclamation in the morning Communist press which called him the "American gauleiter," presently in Greece to establish a colonial program for American monopolies.

Griswold expressed hope his mission could establish operational control of the Greek budget. The Greek budget year started in April but has been extended to 15 months to coincide with the mission's year of operations.

Another crew member of the B-29 was seriously injured, and another escaped injury. The plane was on a training flight.

Sandburg Finds Wheedling In Many Letters to Lincoln

President's Contempt for Patronage Whiners Shown in Annotation on Pleas.

By CARL SANDBURG
(Copyright, 1947.)

THIRD OF A SERIES.

WASHINGTON, July 29.

WHAT now in politics is often termed the Gravy Train was known in Lincoln's times as the Hog Trough and the proper petitions and improper shennanigans, wheedling, growling and griping of it runs through about half of the letters in the papers newly opened to the public in the Library of Congress. Among the groaners and gripers was former Congressman William Kellogg of Canton, Ill., and the latest revelation of his course of conduct is in a letter of April 8, 1863, from his home city. On the envelope in what seems to be the handwriting of Secretary John Hay is a notation:

I understand my friend Kellogg is ill-natured—therefore I do not read his letters.

The species of polite importunity and whining balderdash that Lincoln had grown tired of hearing from Kellogg are in a sentence from the long drawn letter, as follows:

"At the time I was indiscreet enough to indicate to your Excellency a desire for an appointment to any office, for which, I was vain enough to believe I was qualified but from the position now offered I am forced to conclude, that your Excellency held a decidedly different opinion from my own on the subject, or that my political status was such that the administration would suffer by my appointment to an office of the grade of those held by Peck, Wilmot, Olin, Fisher, Swett, Ashby and Carter and many other recent appointments."

For Lincoln students one point of interest in the foregoing is that it checks so curiously with documents made public some years ago from the Oliver R. Barrett collection in Chicago. Congressman Kellogg as of April 3, 1861, wrote bitterly in the executive mansion of his "humiliation" in the refusal of an appointment by the President, Lincoln writing on the reverse side of this note: "Mr. Kellogg does me great injustice to write in this strain—He has had more favors than any other Illinois member, not excepting, I think, Judge Trumbull. Is it really in his heart to add to my perplexities now?"

Those acquainted with Abraham Lincoln's vital, garrulous, illiterate, graphic cousin Dennis Hanks, as revealed in letters and interviews, are interested to find his tone of voice, his backwoods lingo, his capitalization and freedom from punctuation are the same as of yore:

The farewell speech of Lincoln from a Wabash Railroad coach, to his friends and neighbors of his home town of Springfield, Ill., Feb. 11, 1861, we have now in a text as Lincoln himself wanted it.

There have been those who claimed the Nicolay-Hay text omitted a Lincoln reference to his career being "checkered," with other variants from what was actually spoken. What we have now is not merely the address as partly written by Lincoln, but the writing is the only known specimen of Lincoln working with a lead pencil on a jolting, careening Wabash train of '61.

The good Jim Randall helped me in a study of this odd sheet of paper. The familiar Lincoln handwriting, with a lead pencil giving a dim gray more often than clear black, holds these lines:

No one, not in my situation, can appreciate my feeling of sadness at this parting. To this place, and the kindness of these people, I owe everything. Here I have lived a quarter of a century, and have passed from a young to an old man. Here my children have been born, and one is buried. I now . . .

And at that point it would seem that Lincoln tried to write the word "leave," found it too indistinct, ran his pencil through it, and from then on left the writing to Nicolay from dictation, Lincoln speaking the remaining lines of that utterly solemn sentence—leave, not know when, or whether ever, I may return, with a task before me greater, than that which rested upon Washington.

The shadow of Robert Todd Lincoln has not grown less by virtue of his decisions as to what he deemed worthwhile of his manuscript possessions to go to posterity. Several with whom I have talked who have been active in ransacking his heritage seem to have gotten better acquainted with the donor, with some manner of increase in affection and respect for him. The previous evidence is definite that he had in his possession letters written by his mother and he chose to include in his bequest none of these letters. His mother is represented in the collection by one lone example of her writing, with her signature merely initialed. On the back of a telegram notifying President Lincoln and Secretary Stanton of severe injuries received by Secretary Seward in a carriage overturned by runaway horses, Mary Lincoln wrote with a lead pencil:

We will be Ready to Leave tomorrow eve 6 o'clock
Do wait and return with us.
M. L.

In a card catalogue of the collection I picked at random some five inches of cards in the category of "Republicans," though if it had been a box of D's instead of R's I would have tried "Democrats." I rambled along and found nothing you might call fresh or provocative as a subject. Yet I well know that later under some dull heading may leap forth a brignt human item. Jim Randall had a word for it last Friday before the "unveiling." He was reminded of a boy stumped by an examination question, "Name the undiscovered islands of the Pacific ocean."

LETTERS DISCLOSE FEAR OF PLOT TO POISON LINCOLN

Rumor Had It That Servants Killed Whig Predecessors.

WASHINGTON, July 29 (INS)—The Lincoln papers disclose official fears for the life of the Civil War President even before he was inaugurated.

These apprehensions were based on reports which had circulated for many years that Whig Presidents Harrison and Taylor had been poisoned by White House servants in a Democratic political plot.

A number of letters intimating that the same "fate" might befall Lincoln were found in the Robert Todd Lincoln collection.

As the "poison plot" whispers had it, Harrison and Taylor, the first two Whig occupants of the White House, were administered poisons slowly in their food by resentful and possibly inspired servants kept on from administration to administration.

The most authoritative missive relating to possible poisoning of Lincoln was written by A. H. S. McKim, who it appears had the job of guarding the country's chief executives. Dr. Aaron Gibbs, of Chicago, a friend of Lincoln's, apparently had written McKim inquiring about precautions being taken to protect the President-elect. McKim answered:

"After the President-elect shall arrive, we will take care of him, even on the day of inauguration, and while we here do not doubt but that some disturbance might take place, I do not apprehend dangers at that time, but should he keep the same servants in the house who are there now and have been for the last 16 or 20 years it is feared he will meet the same fate that Generals Harrison and Taylor are believed to have met."

RUSSIA ASKED TO CONSULT BEFORE SEIZING AXIS ASSETS

LONDON, July 29 (UP) — The Foreign Office announced tonight that Britain had asked Russia to consult both the British and Americans before any further Soviet seizure of "enemy assets" in Hungary.

The British note said Britain wanted to be sure that all German and Italian assets the Soviets wanted actually were German and Italian, and not the objects of thin legal pretexts or duress. It said Britain could not agree to the transfer of property if part of it were owned by non-German or non-Italian nationals.

CHEERY POSTCARDS ANNOUNCE MAN'S DEATH AND FAREWELL

"With a ripple of merry laughter,
"A smile and a gay goodby
"To all who made life worth living;
"Back to the dust go I."

Stone had the cards prepared prior to his death with instructions they were to be mailed the day he died.

7 SENATORS NAMED TO JOINT INVESTIGATION OF HOUSING

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—Senator Vandenberg (Rep.), Michigan, announced yesterday appointment of seven Senators on the joint congressional committee to investigate housing.

All are members on the committee of Banking and Currency. They are Senators Tobey (Rep.), New Hampshire, chairman; Flanders (Rep.), Vermont; Cain (Rep.), Washington; McCarthy (Rep.), Wisconsin; Wagner (Dem.), New York; Taylor (Dem.), Idaho, and Sparkman (Dem.), Alabama.

Raymond M. Foley, now top man over federal housing activities, has been named by President Truman to serve as temporary head of the new, unified housing agency, it was reported today.

Foley now is administrator of the National Housing Agency and controls the various housing agencies which were unified during the war. A peacetime reorganization plan in which Congress concurred, will continue the unification under the designation—Housing and Home Finance Agency.

Hurt When Scaffold Collapses.

Joseph Curia, a carpenter, 1309 Benton street, suffered a fractured left leg today when the scaffold on which he was working at 2629 Sullivan avenue collapsed. Curia fell 20 feet. He was taken to City Hospital.

RUSSIANS SPURN APPEAL TO JOIN EUROPE AID PLAN

France Rebuked for Making New Plea for Co-operation at U.N. Meeting.

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., July 29 (AP)—The Russian bloc today rebuked France for bringing the Marshall plan into a United Nations debate and delivered a vigorous attack against the U.N. Economic Commission for Europe for allegedly interfering in the economic affairs of Germany.

The Soviet attack was launched jointly by Soviet Union Delegate Alexander P. Morozov and White Russian Representative L. I. Kaminsky shortly after France made a new bid before the Economic and Social Council for Russian co-operation in the Marshall plan.

Morozov made no direct reference to France's bid, but declared Russia's position already had been made clear by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov at the three-power conference in Paris. At that time Molotov refused to go along with Britain and France on the Marshall plan.

Kaminsky declared "the Economic and Social Council has no right to discuss the Marshall plan" and said the council "should not become a forum for diffusion of propaganda on the Marshall plan." He said the American program was "clearly linked with the German economy, which also has no place on the agenda."

French Appeal.

The French appeal was made by Delegate Georges Boris.

Boris said distrust between Russia and the Western Powers was paralyzing European economic recovery. He blamed the failure of the recent three-power conference in Paris on this distrust and urged that the big powers make every effort to develop "freedom from distrust."

Speaking of Russia's contentions that the British-French program for implementing the Marshall plan would interfere with national sovereignties, Boris said:

"We hope this attitude will change when distrust disappears."

British-Russian Exchange.

Morozov provoked an exchange with British Minister of State Hector McNeil by declaring that "neither the Economic Commission for Europe nor any other organ of the United Nations can make a government take a decision which does not correspond to its interests."

McNeil said the question about the powers of other organs of the U.N. was "not a matter to be discussed here." As far as the Economic and Social Council or its organs were concerned, he added, "There can be no question of their decisions being enforced on any government."

"There is no question of sovereignty being infringed or decisions being imposed," he declared. "Never. Never Never."

Morozov devoted most of his speech to an attack on the Economic Commission for Europe, one of whose resolutions, he said, "is a clear infraction of the principle that questions concerning Germany as a whole come within the competence of the Allied Control Commission."

McNeild said the ECE had stayed well within the terms of its instructions, which authorized it to consult with either the Allied Control Commission in Berlin or with occupation authorities in each of the four zones. He said these consultations could not be considered as "interference."

Myrdal's Remarks.

Gunnar Myrdal, executive secretary of the ECE, said yesterday that "millions of Europeans live in misery and hunger" beause they do not co-operate in a continent-wide reconstruction program.

Myrdal did not mention the Marshall plan specifically, but it was clear that he had this in mind as he invited all countries to work with ECE in trying to solve their problems.

U.N. Plans Organization to Combat Depressions.

GENEVA, July 29 (AP)—The United Nations International Trade Organization is being designed to combat economic depressions, a report released yesterday indicated.

In a progress report on the ITO charter negotiations here, the preparatory committee said agreement had been reached on a provision that members could meet and initiate consultation "against the international spread of a decline in employment, production or demand."

Such action could be taken in urgent cases in which indirect action through the U.N. Economic and Social Council might involve undue delay.

'LABOR RACKETEERS' AREN'T DRIVING HIM OUT, HARTLEY SAYS

Asserts He Told Voters in Last Campaign This Was His Final Term.

WASHINGTON, July 29 (UP)—Chairman Fred A. Hartley Jr. of the House Labor Committee said today that his retirement from Congress at the end of 1948 would not put an end to his "active interest in politics."

In a statement, the New Jersey Republican said that "labor racketeers" have been seeking to make capital out of his announced retirement,

"They have spread the falsehood that I chose not to run again because I was afraid that my strong advocacy of the labor bill would result in my defeat," he said.

He said he told the voters during the last campaign that this would be his last term.

During the last three campaigns, he was opposed by the CIO and the AFL, Hartley said. "I trounced this opposition in all of these campaigns and could do it again if I chose to do so," he said. "However, I made my decision and I am standing by it."

DENIAL THAT RUSSIA SOUNDED SWEDEN ON SEPARATE PEACE

LONDON, July 29 (AP)—A denial that Russia ever engaged in separate peace negotiations with Germany was published in the Moscow newspaper Izvestia today under the by-line of Alexandra Kollontay, former Soviet Minister to Sweden.

Mme. Kollontay was replying to a June 18 article in Liberty magazine, which said a Soviet Foreign Ministry official, A. M. Alexandrov, arrived in Stockholm early in 1943 with instructions for her to sound out the Germans on a separate peace. She declared Alexandrov was in Australia at the time and never had been in Stockholm.

Mme. Kollontay said the article was a "malicious slander" aimed at "confusing public opinion and sowing mistrust among the United Nations." She said she was "gravely ill and stayed in the Red Cross clinic" at Stockholm during the period of the reported negotiations.

NO GENERAL OIL SHORTAGE, SAYS SENATE COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, July 29 (UP)—A Senate Public Lands subcommittee reported today that there is no overall oil shortage in the United States, either now or in the forseeable future.

The subcommittee, which held extensive hearings, said in a preliminary report published in the Congressional Record:

"The consensus of testimony by Government and industry representatives . . . indicates that there is neither a short-term nor a long-term over-all shortage of oil in this country."

Spot shortages predicted for this fall and winter in the Midwest, the report stated, will be due primarily to the lack of steel to build new pipe lines and tank cars. It added that "one of the salient reasons" for lack of steel "has been the increased export of steel tubular goods to foreign countries."

ROYALL TO FLY TO REICH, TRY TO SETTLE U.S. SPLIT

War Secretary to Confer With Clay, Long at Odds With State Department Over Treatment of Germany.

By R. H. SHACKFORD

WASHINGTON, July 29 (UP)—Secretary of War Kenneth C. Royall will leave by plane today for a European conference with Gen. Lucius D. Clay, United States military governor in Germany, in an apparent attempt to iron out a long-standing feud between Clay and the State Department.

The War Department merely said Royall would spend seven days in Germany, during which he will inspect military establishments and confer with Clay, as well as other "leading military government officials."

Clay's difficulties with the State Department date back more than a year, and officials are fearful lest they make it more difficult to reach agreement with Britain on how to increase Ruhr coal production.

Clay also has disagreed with both the British and French over treatment and administration of Germany and he has never hidden his belief that poor British administration is a major cause of low German coal production. He also has opposed Britain's desire to socialize the Ruhr coal mines.

The fued between Clay and the State Department has reached a new peak during the recent United States efforts to arrange the English-American talks on coal and was sharpened by the decision to delay announcement of tne new level of industry for Germany because of internal French difficulties.

Some of the facts can now be disclosed:

1. Clay refused to come to Washington to head the United States group in the forthcoming talks. The British promptly rescinded their first acceptance of the United States invitation and tried to broaden the talks to include all of Germany's economic problems.

2. Clay was especially annoyed by a last-minute Washington decision to hold up the new level of industry for Germany which he had negotiated with the British. The decision was made by Secretary of State George C. Marshall personaly for high policy reasons, including the proposal's threat to the Marshall plan for European reconstruction.

3. American officials here, on the other hand, are equally annoyed at apparently inspired American dispatches from Berlin stating that Clay and his staff feel that Marshall has suddenly taken over policy-making in Germany. The State Department always has been the policy-maker, with Clay carrying out the policy.

Lewis W. Douglas, United States Ambassador to Britain, advised the State Department today that the delayed talks with the British on coal production in the Ruhr can begin here next week.

Douglas cabled that the British delegation will leave England by plane this week end.

MISTAKE IN RECORD PUTS HERESY IN KNUTSON'S MOUTH

By a Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 29—Washington political observers rubbed their eyes and looked again. It was still there, in black and white, on page A4137 of the Congressional Record, Representative Knutson (Rep.), Minnesota, rock-bound conservative chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, had come out for an extension of the President's reciprocal trade authority.

"Why," gasped a syndicated columnist, "that's just like Bob Taft voting for Henry Wallace."

The statement appeared at the conclusion of remarks on the reciprocal trade law placed in the record by Knutson. It read:

"Mr. Speaker, in view of the tremendous importance of the reciprocal trade program to the establishment of an international trade organization and to the ultimate success of the Marshall plan for the rehabilitation of Europe, and the overwhelming public support manifested by the American public, I trust that the Committee on Ways and Means will early in the next session report out a bill providing for the extension of the reciprocal trade authority of the President without restrictive amendments."

Those who refuse to believe everything they read, regardless of whether it appears in such an authoritative journal as the Congressional Record, were told by Knutson's office that it was all a horrible mistake.

It seems the paragraph belonged on the end of a speech on the same subject by a Democratic member of the Ways and Means Committee, Representative Mills of Arkansas. In the adjournment rush shorthand stenographers got Mill's and Knutson's talks confused.

It was learned also today that Senator Fulbright (Dem.), Arkansas, doesn't think prosperity is an evil—the Congressional Record just misquoted him.

In last Thursday's Record, Fulbright was quoted as saying that "We should not count on this continued evil of prosperity."

The Senator put the record straight—what he said, he stated, was, "level of prosperity."

GOLD MINER KILLS PARTNER, THEN BLASTS SELF TO DEATH

QUINCY, Calif., July 29 (AP)—Sheriff Melvin Schooler said today a gold miner shot his partner to death before the eyes of the partner's wife Saturday night, then killed himself with a dynamite blast which sealed his body in an abandoned mine shaft.

The two had drunk three bottles of wine and quarreled. Fred Larsen first knocked Donald Waite unconscious in a cabin and while Mrs. Waite tried to revive her husband, Larsen shot him with a .32 caliber revolver, the sheriff said.

The miner held Mrs. Waite hostage from 7 p.m. until dawn, wrote a note telling what he had done, and then blew himself up.

20 DEAD, 417 HURT IN NITRATE BLAST ON SHIP AT BREST

Buildings in French Port Smashed In, Explosion in Gas System, Gasoline Set Afire.

BREST, France, July 29 (AP)—Officials reported 20 dead and 417 or more injured in this port today from the explosion of ammonium nitrate fertilizer that wrecked the Norwegian freighter Ocean Liberty yesterday.

Nine of the injured died today, the French Ministry of Marine said. Badly injured and hospitalized at nearby Landerneau were 46 others. In addition, Ponchalet Hospital reported it had treated 376 for cuts and bruises inflicted by flying debris.

Hundreds more were shaken severely when the nitrate went off with a shattering blast that smashed in building fronts along the harbor area, set off an explosion in the city's gas system, fired a gasoline storage tank and demolished lines of communication.

All those killed were dock workers or seamen. The crew had been taken off the ship before the explosion, but its captain was reported killed by flying debris while standing on shore.

Fires started by the blast still were burning today. Much of Brest had been destroyed by aerial bombardment in the war, and many of the buildings in the business district consisted of pre-fabricated one-story wooden structures that went up like matchboxes.

The explosion occurred as the ship was being towed out to the roadstead after an unsuccessful five-hour fight to extinguish a fire discovered in its hold as it lay alongside a dock waiting to discharge its cargo.

Jules Moch, French Minister of Public Works, said the United States and France might confer on new ways to transport ammonium nitrate, recalling the simlarity of this explosion to the one at Texas City, Tex., last April which killed 470 persons.

"The casualties might have been as bad as in Texas City," Moch said, "if it were not for the bravery and quick thinking of the men who towed the burning ship toward the sea."

J. G. Trahan, who was mayor of Texas City at the time of the disaster there, sent a message of sympathy last night to the mayor of Brest and said the people of Texas City would be happy to help the people of Brest.

TRUMAN FLIES BACK TO CAPITAL AFTER FUNERAL OF HIS MOTHER

President Pays Final Visit to Cottage Where She Died; Simplicity Marks Services—Only 37 Present.

By HARRY WILENSKY
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

GRANDVIEW, Mo., July 29—Mrs. Martha Ellen Truman lay beside her husband in a tree-shaded grave today, and President Truman, worn and drawn from the sorrow of his mother's funeral, flew back to Washington, where a desk piled with legislation passed by the recently-adjourned Congress awaited him.

The presidential plane took off at 10:43 a.m. (St. Louis time) and landed in Washington at 3:16 p.m.

Truman paid a final, one-hour visit this morning to the cottage where his mother died. Then he motored to the airport, accompanied by his wife and daughter, Margaret, who will remain at the summer White House in Independence, Mo. The President's sister, Miss Mary Jane Truman, and brother, Vivian, also went to the airport to see him off.

Vivian Truman said it had not yet been decided whether his sister would live with his family or would continue to make her home in the Grandview cottage where she had cared for their mother.

Goes Right to Work.

At the airport, President Truman shook hands with a few old friends and relatives, and managed a shadow of his well-known smile. As he entered the plane, he took off his double-breasted gray coat and sat down with some papers before him, apparently going right to work.

Accompanying him on the flight back to Washington were the Mexican Ambassador, Espinosa de los Monteros, and Eugene Anzorena, secretary to the Mexican Embassy in Washington, who flew here yesterday to convey the condolences of Mexican President Miguel Aleman in the death of Mrs. Truman.

The simplicity which had characterized the life of Mrs. Truman throughout her 94 years marked the funeral yesterday. By her wishes, the private service, conducted in the plain, old-fashioned parlor of the Truman cottage, was brief, and there was no eulogy.

Only 37 persons, most of them relatives, were present as the Rev. Welbern Bowman, pastor of Grandview Baptist Church, recited the age-old words of comfort, "The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want."

President in Kitchen.

The President, his wife and daughter sat in the kitchen, and the others filled the dining room and parlor, where folding chairs had been brought in to supplement the davenport, oak chairs and rockers. The silver-gray casket rested in the bedroom where Mrs. Truman died last Saturday.

President Truman, wearing a tan suit, shed no tears during the service, but profound grief was mirrored in his tense features.

The minister read a short obituary of less than 200 words prepared by the President's sister. This was strictly factual.

"She would not have wanted a eulogy," it was explained.

The minister read the first 10 verses of the Ninetieth Psalm, concluding:

"The days of our years are threescore years and 10; and if by reason of strength they be fourscore years, yet is their strength labor and sorrow; for it is soon cut off, and we fly away."

Service Takes 20 Minutes.

There was no music, and the service took only 20 minutes. The casket was carried down the cottage steps by four grandsons and two nephews. It was covered with red roses, white orchids, gardenias and white and red gladioli—flowers from members of the immediate family.

Ten automobiles, preceded and followed by machines bearing Secret Service men and state police, made up the funeral procession, which moved past barriers erected one block from the home to insure privacy.

A reverent silence hung over the little town, which was observing a day of mourning. Neighbors, some in their Sunday clothes, had placed chairs on their lawns and brought their friends in. They stood with bared heads as the procession passed.

It was very hot—what Mrs. Truman called "corn-growing weather"—and the mercury registered 101 degrees as the President's mother made her last journey. The 10-mile route to Forest Hill Cemetery, on the southern outskirts of Kansas City, led past Truman Corner, behind which lies the farm of her son, Vivian.

Every foot of the route was familiar to Mrs. Truman, a native of Jackson county, who remembered when the area was unfenced prairie.

At the cemetery, members of the family took seats between the gravestone of Solomon Young, Mrs. Truman's father, and the unmarked grave of her husband, John, who died in 1914.

Reads From Genesis.

The minister read the familiar nineteenth verse from the third chapter of Genesis: "For dust thou art and to dust shalt thou return," offered a prayer and stepped back from the grave. The service at the cemetery was over in three minutes.

The President shook hands with some of his relatives before entering the waiting automobile to return to the summer White House.

The casket was lowered into the grave later. Over Mrs. Truman's final resting place towers a ginkgo tree, a species imported from China for its decorative quality. The branches with their fan-shaped leaves hang low and shade the grave.

Thirty floral pieces were banked beside the grave, although the family had asked that no flowers be sent. A 30-inch upright wreath of roses and gladioli bore a ribbon inscribed: "Members of the U. S. Senate."

Mrs. Truman had expressed the conviction that flowers were not for the dead, but "for people who are alive to appreciate them." President Truman's comrades of Battery D paid their respects to the mother of their World War I captain by sending flowers to the living. A letter of condolence to the Chief Executive informed him the group had sent flowers in Mrs. Truman's memory to "the most forgotten ward" in the General Hospital at Kansas City.

6000 Signatures on Petitions For Session on City Rent Control

Progressive Citizens of America Chapter Sets Up Two Booths—Albanese Cites Cost of Proposed Ceilings.

Approximately 6000 signatures on petitions calling for a special aldermanic session to enact city rent and eviction controls have been obtained in the last week by the St. Louis chapter of the Progressive Citizens of America, Jack Becker, vice chairman, announced today.

The campaign for signatures was started after Mayor Aloys P. Kaufmann and Acting Mayor Charles E. Albanese refused to call a special session on the basis of a ruling by City Counselor George L. Stemmler that city rent control legislation would be unconstitutional.

Ten of the city's 28 aldermen have announced they favored a special session despite Stemmler's ruling, on the ground that his opinion is highly debatable in the light of the present housing emergency.

The Progressive Citizens' organization obtained about 1200 signatures at two booths last night—one at Delmar boulevard and De Baliviere avenue, the other at Sarah street and Finney avenue, Becker said. Over the weekend 4800 signatures were obtained at an American Veterans' Committee booth at Seventh street and Washington avenue and a Progressive Citizens booth at Hodiamont and Easton avenues, he reported.

At the Delmar-DeBaliviere booth one woman commented: "I don't have a place to live, so they can't raise my rent." Another said: "They've moved me four times in the past 18 months—sure, I'll sign."

The AVC will operate a booth at Jefferson and Franklin avenues today, starting at 4:30 p.m. and the two Progressive Citizens' booths will continue operation today, it was stated.

Acting Mayor Albanese said yesterday he had been doing some figuring and estimated that cost of city rent control would range upwards of $100,000 a year, which he said will have been wasted if the courts later should hold the proposed ordinance illegal.

Besides, he added, the city might be liable for rent reductions ordered under the ordinance, if it were reversed by the courts.

Alderman Alfred I. Harris, leader of the movement in the board for a special session for rent control, characterized Albanese's opinion on the city's possible liability as "preposterous" and "utterly" without legal justification." City Counselor Stemmler, asked about Albanese's legal opinion, declined comment.

Harris announced he and State Representative Joseph Wynne Murphy will organize a city-wide committee representing business, labor, church and professional groups to get behind the movement for a special aldermanic session for rent control legislation. Murphy appealed last week to the heads of the two state legislative chambers to call a special session to enact an enabling law to permit city rent control.

Eviction of Veterans Reported Increasing Daily.

Eviction of veterans is increasing rapidly and the average daily rate of evictions for July is now four and a half times as great as in June, before the new federal rent control law went into effect, William K. Moors, director of the Veterans' Service Center, reported today.

In the last six business days, Moors said, 83 veterans came to the Center for advice, after receiving eviction notices, making the average 13.1 a day. "The rate is increasing week by week, as we expected," Moors said.

Since July 1, the Center has learned of 222 eviction cases and has received 1026 telephone inquiries on housing. A fourth of the telephone calls were about evictions. In June, the Center received 972 telephone inquiries, but only 5 per cent were eviction inquiries.

Thus far in July, the Center has found housing for 68 veterans and has quarters listed for 219. However, many of the listings are of vacant single sleeping rooms, which are not in great demand. In June, the Center listed 258 dwelling places and found quarters for 79 applicants.

"Next month I believe we will see people in the parks and on the sidewalks," Moors asserted. "We know of 222 eviction cases involving only veterans so far this month. There must be many more evictions. Our listings are not nearly enough to take care of just the veterans."

Most of the evictions of veterans are legal, Moors continued. Usually, a property owner wants a flat or an apartment for his own use or the use of a member of his family. "We are seeing now a shift in population, with many doubled-up families spreading out," Moors said. "That's what is causing many of the evictions."

In June, the Center's daily rate for eviction cases was 2.4. The rate rose to 10.8 a day this month.

Grounds for eviction in the federal law are:

1. Failure to pay rent.
2. Use of premises for immoral purposes or for other than living quarters, or failure to fulfill obligations of tenancy.
3. Desire of owner to use premises as his own home.
4. Sale of property for use by the buyer as his own home.
5. Desire of the owner to alter or remodel for protection of the property or to demolish and rebuild housing accommodations.
6. Desire of the landlord to regain possession of non-housekeeping accommodations in the landlord's own home.

ACCIDENT, Md., July 29 (UP)—Mrs. Earl Deal, 38 years old, was killed here in an accident. The door of an automobile in which she was riding came open. She fell out.

MRS. DOLLY DORELIS SUES FOR DIVORCE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PALM BEACH, Fla., July 29—Mrs. Dolly O'Brien Dorelis has filed suit for divorce here against Jose Dorelis, Romanian millionaire exporter of perfume oils and former husband of Ellen Steinberg, daughter of Mark C. Steinberg of St. Louis, it was learned today. She charged cruelty. The Dorelises were married in May, 1946.

Mrs. Dorelis's first husband was the late Louis G. Heminway. Their son, John Hylan Heminway, is the husband of the former Jane Alva Johnson, Veiled Prophet Queen in 1933. Mrs. oDrelis later was married to the late Julius Fleischmann, Cincinnati yeast manufacturer, and the late Jay O'Brien, a polo player.

She was photographed frequently with Clark Gable in 1945 after he left the United States Army. Dorelis married the former Miss Steinberg in St. Louis in February, 1942, with Prince Rene of the House of Bourbon as best man. That marriage ended in divorce in June, 1942.

JUKE BOX PLAINTS ON EAST SIDE IRK POLICE FORCE HEAD

Police Commissioner John T. English of East St. Louis is irked because East St. Louis juke box operators do not complain to the police about the invasion of the field by Capone-backed racketeers, but instead tell their troubles to the newspapers.

Commissioner English said no complaints had been made thus far to police, but that if operators faced any troubles, "they should take them to the place they belong—the police." Then he added:

"If they don't, we can get rid of all the criticism about the juke box business by getting the City Council to pass an ordinance prohibiting all music in taverns."

Later he said he had no definite plans for any such ordinance but had simply been casting about for some method to combat the alleged entry into the music-box field of gangsters. The Post-Dispatch recently disclosed that 11 tavern operators had been forced to handle machines distributed by the group controlled by the Chicago syndicate.

KIRK WALKER, SUPPER CLUB OWNER, KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

Kirk Walker, Negro, owner of Kirk's Supper Club, 3842 Windsor place, was killed yesterday and Benjamin Thomas, publisher of the Evening Whirl, Negro tabloid, was seriously injured in a traffic accident on U. S. Highway 66 near Litchfield, Ill.

Walker and Thomas were returning from the East-West Negro all-star baseball game at Chicago. The Walker machine left the highway and sheared off a telephone pole. Thomas, suffering a broken right leg and right arm, was brought to St. Mary's Infirmary.

Funeral services for Walker will be Thursday from the Walton undertaking establishment. He is survived by his wife and infant son.

PERJURY INQUIRY IN SHEARER CASE BY U.S. ATTORNEY

Drake Watson to Compare Auto Dealer's Affidavit With His Lawyers' Testimony.

Attorneys for Franklin Wells Shearer today filed an appeal from the ruling denying the automobile dealer permission to withdraw the guilty plea he entered May 21.

The possibility of perjury in the attempt to obtain a jury trial for Franklin Wells Shearer, Maplewood automobile dealer, on the charge of a $210,000 income tax evasion, will be investigated by United States Attorney Drake Watson, that official said today.

Watson has asked for a transcript of testimony given at a hearing yesterday before District Judge George H. Moore, and will compare the testimony with the affidavit filed by Shearer, seeking permission to withdraw his plea of guilty. Judge Moore, who sentenced Shearer to two years' imprisonment and $10,000 fine, on the plea of guilty, refused to permit withdrawal of the plea, and termed the motion filed with him a frivolous one.

Shearer has the right to appeal from Judge Moore's denial of his motion, supported by affidavit, for permission to withdraw his plea. However, the court could refuse to grant a supersedeas bond, and in that case he would have to report to the United States marshal next Monday for removal to prison. The institution at Terre Haute, Ind., is his probable place of confinement.

Shearer did not testify yesterday, but he was the signer of the affidavit containing statements which, Judge Moore held, were not borne out by the testimony of his two lawyers, Joseph C. Hopewell and Dewey S. Godfrey.

The affidavit, filed by Hopewell, said the lawyer had permitted Shearer to plead guilty only after Godfrey, former chairman of the Democratic City Committee, had assured Shearer several times that no prison sentence would be assessed.

Godfrey testified that he told Shearer it was a possibility that only a fine would be imposed, but did not give any positive assurance to that effect.

POLICE TO HAVE CRIME LIBRARY, BUT NO SHERLOCK BOOKS

Police rookies with ambitions to perform detective deeds of derring-do will have an opportunity to bone up on scientific crime detection in a new library which is to be opened for members of the St. Louis police force in a room on the sixth floor of Police Headquarters.

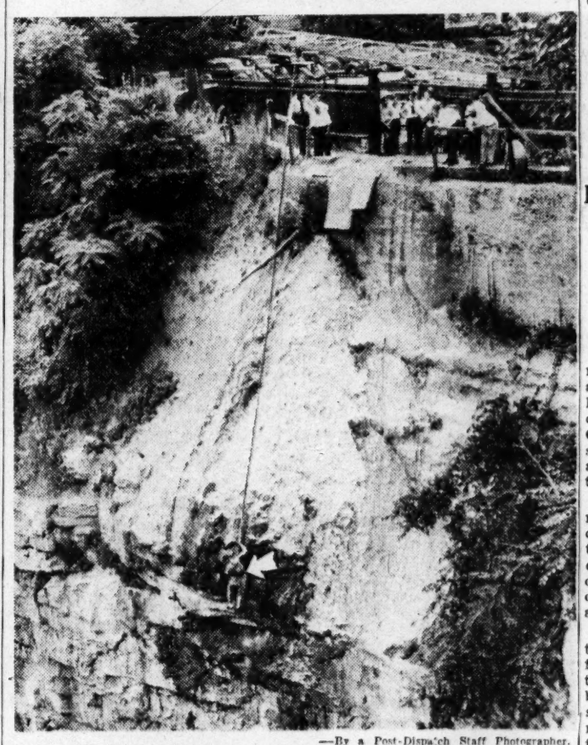

Sherlock Holmes, and W. S. Gilbert's reflections on a policeman's lot, probably will not be included, but H. Sam Priest, president of the Board of Police Commissioners, hopes to keep in the library copies of St. Louis ordinances and Missouri statutes, and books on judicial procedure and scientific crime detection.

A professional librarian will be employed to have charge of the library and prepare a detailed index of the books, Chief of Police Jeremiah O'Connell announced. He said police officers will not be required to use the library, which will have about 400 books.

WRIT IN RACING NEWS CASE

JEFFERSON CITY, July 29 (AP)—Judge Sam Blaid of the Cole county circuit today issued a writ of usury calling for a review of the Public Service Commission order stopping telephone service to the Harmony Publishing Co. of Kansas City, a racing news service.

Rescue of a Kitten

BOY TO GET KITTEN THAT HE SPOTTED AT BOTTOM OF QUARRY

Humane Society Man Goes Into 300-Foot Pit to Save Animal.

Richard Borage, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Borage, drove with his father to the Humane Society of Missouri's shelter at 1210 Macklind avenue today to visit "Smokey," a nine-week-old female kitten rescued from the bottom of a quarry 300 feet deep yesterday.

Harold Present, the society's field superintendent, rescued Smokey after Richard discovered the kitten at the bottom of the quarry, 5100 Virginia avenue. Present promised Richard he could have the kitten in five days if nobody claimed it. Smokey, meantime, will be recovering from hunger and exposure suffered at the bottom of the pit.

Present, an old hand at rescuing animals, was assisted yesterday by firemen from Hook and Ladder No. 11. They tied a rope around him and lowered him to the quarry's bottom, where Smokey was sitting on a board, floating in oily water.

When Present got near the kitten, it jumped into the water and began to swim away. Present plunged in too and after a short chase stuffed Smokey under his shirt and was hauled up. Richard, who lives at 5123 South Compton avenue, was waiting at the top. Present, who suffered cuts and bruises on jagged edges of the quarry, said it was "one of the roughest jobs I ever attempted."

FOX PUTS A THRILL IN DREARY LIFE OF NIGHT CLUB PORTER

(Picture in Everyday Magazine)

CHICAGO, July 29 (UP)—Horace Williams's job as a porter in a night club ordinarily is dull. Merely a matter of manipulating brooms and polishing cloths.

Williams unlocked the door yesterday, walked in—and saw a red fox seated on one of the leatherette bar stools.

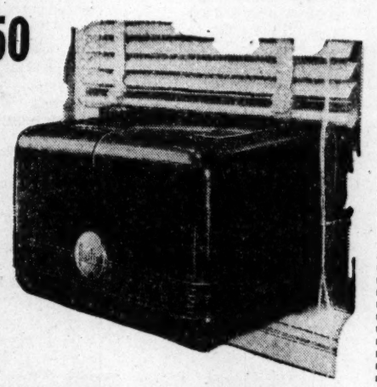

Williams stared at the fox. The fox stared back. Williams started backing toward the door. The fox snarled.

"I saw those sharp teeth and I beat it out of there right quick," Williams said.

Williams called the Anti-Cruelty Society, which sent its best fox-catcher to take the animal away.

No one seemed to know how the fox got into the club. Everybody agreed that foxes—wolves, maybe, but not foxes—usually don't hang around night clubs.

WOMAN BOOKIE, 19 CUSTOMERS ARRESTED IN RAID

Her Cigar Store Was Under Surveillance Two Months—Two Clerks Seized Also.

Miss Fannie Fishman, bookmaker, and two of her clerks are at liberty under bond today following a raid yesterday on her cigar store at Ninth and St. Charles streets by the gambling squad of Capt. Joseph Wren, who arrested 19 customers in the establishment.

Miss Fishman, Nathar. Maltzman and Morris Zorensky, her clerks, are all charged with setting up and keeping a gambling establishment, and Zorensky is charged also with being custodian of a bet. They are scheduled to appear in Police Court Aug. 27.

Capt. Wren and his men raided the cigar store late yesterday and found most of the customers sitting around listening to the baseball scores. Miss Fishman grabbed several boxes of betting tabs and rushed for the washroom, but officers intercepted her. She protested loudly and at length on the propriety of the raid, but Capt. Wren showed her a search warrant, and Miss Fishman, the clerks, and the 19 customers rode in a police patrol wagon to the Carr Street Station.

The raid was made after the place had been under surveillance for two months, and undercover agents of the gambling squad had made six bets on horses. The last bet was made yesterday with marked money. As the police were conducting the raid, numerous telephone calls came in from persons desiring to place bets. In the basement, Capt. Wren found a room suitable for use as a hideaway bookshop but it had not been used for some time.

The customers were held at the district station until they signed the usual brief forms to the effect that they knew gambling was going on in the establishment. Some of the customers were stubborn at first and refused to sign the forms but later relented and all signed and were released without charges.

One man in the cigar store was not taken into custody when he satisfied Capt. Wren that he was a traveling salesman from Baltimore, Md., and had dropped in the store actually to buy a cigar.

Miss Fishman has operated in St. Louis for many years. Her last conviction was Nov. 2, 1941, when she was fined $50 by Police Judge Joseph B. Catanzaro on a charge of operating a handbook in the basement of the same store raided yesterday.

INDONESIANS FIRE RUBBER ESTATES, SPARE OIL FIELDS

Trees Cut Down in Some Instances — Reporter Also Sees Tea and Quinine Areas Ablaze.

By STANLEY SWINTON.

BATAVIA, July 29 (AP)—Dutch military authorities, busily extending their hold on the resources of Java and Sumatra, today reported scattered instances of republican sabotage in oil field areas and elsewhere but said that the general situation was "developing favorably."

The threatened "scorched earth" policy of the Indonesians, however, is a flaming reality over a large part of southwest Java, over which this correspondent flew in a Dutch-piloted B-25 reconnaissance plane. Hundreds of fires crackled across the ridged, green hills between Wijnkoops Bay and Tasikmalaja, more than 12 miles to the east.

I saw at least three rubber estates ablaze. On others, the gray trunked rubber trees had been cut down and lay in a crazy tangle on the ground. Scores of other fires were burning in what crew members told me were tea and quinine growing areas. One rubber mill was burning.

Fires Race Over Brush Areas.

I quit counting after seeing more than 200 fires. Dozens seemed to have been set without logical reason, just the scorched earth for the scorched earth's sake. Many fires raced across brush areas of no economic importance. Far more important was the obvious large scale destruction of estates.

The Netherlands Army said its casualties had reached 50 killed, 86 wounded and nine missing, a total of 145, since hostilities began July 20. (Gen. Soedirman, Indonesian commander, Saturday estimated Dutch casualties at 9000. His army reported 763 soldiers in Dutch service surrendered yesterday.)

The Dutch said that in the captured northern Java port of Tegal, 35 miles east of Cheribon, a bank, a power station and half the docks had been destroyed. In southern Sumatra, the Dutch reported, fires engulfed four wells in the Peosapo fields, two of them caused by sabotage and two of them ignited from burning grass. Standard Oil officials were quoted as saying the fires were of minor importance.

Water Supply Reported Cut.

The Netherlands Army said the republicans had cut off the water supply to Salatiga in central Java and were committing sabotage on telephone communications in the Semarang area on the north coast.

Economically, however, Dutch communiques said, the Semarang vicinity is returning to normal. The population was reported going back to villages and rice fields and, with connections restored between the city and the hinterland, food prices were said to be falling. The Dutch said village life was getting back to normal also in the Padang area of western Sumatra, where they reported the population was helping find land mines, and the people were returning home in large numbers in eastern Sumatra.

In the Indonesian capital of Jogjakarta the republican army said its air force bombed Dutch positions in Semarang and Salatiga. An Indonesian communique reported a Dutch warship had shelled Pekalongan, 30 miles east of Tegal, Saturday.

In a review of the first week of conflict, the Indonesian news agency Antara said republican forces were threatening Semarang from east and west; had halted the Dutch at Salatiga and Ambarawa, some 10 miles northwest, and had isolated Dutch pockets at Salatiga, Ambarawa and two other places on the route to Jogjakarta.

GREEK CABINET DISPUTE OVER ARMY IS REPORTED

ATHENS, July 29 (AP)—Napoleon Zervas, Greek Minister of Public Order, was reported today to have left a cabinet meeting in anger last night after a heated discussion of army organization and tactics with Premier Demetrios Maximos.

The discussion was reported to have arisen over an article in Zervas's weekly paper Ethniki Floga, signed by a former military man who is a friend of Zervas's and declaring that the nation "has no army." It alleged that mountain divisions had no anti-aircraft guns, no anti-tank guns, no heavy machine guns and no mortars, while the guerrillas often were equipped with new British heavy weapons.

Salonika press dispatches, meanwhile, quoted Greek military authorities in that northern city as saying government troops had beaten back a strong guerrilla attack on Amyntaion in western Macedonia, killing 105 of the attackers and wounding many more. Casualties to government forces were listed as nine killed and 79 wounded.

ROSETTA EBERLEIN ESTATE IS LEFT MOSTLY IN TRUST

The will of Mrs. Rosetta Eberlein, filed today in Probate Court, left the bulk of her estate in trust for two sisters, Mrs. W. F. Harkert and Mrs. R. C. Spackler, after making specific bequests totaling $82,500.

The bequests included $2000 to the Evangelical Children's Home and $2000 to Shriners' Hospital. Miss Catherine Wall, a friend named as a trustee, will receive $10,000. Other bequests were mostly to friends and relatives. A relative estimated total value of the estate at about $200,000. James J. Seeley, an attorney, was named a trustee with Miss Wall.

Mrs. Eberlein, widow of Dr. Elwin W. Eberlein, died July 17 in her apartment at the Congress Hotel, 275 Union boulevard. She was 60 years old. Her husband died in 1930.

FOUR-LANE HIGHWAY ON 3RD ST. FAVORED

City Plan Commission Proposes This to Reduce Cost of Construction.

A recommendation that the proposed inter-regional highway from Twelfth boulevard and Gravois avenue east to Third street and Clark avenue, then north to Washington avenue, be made a four-lane highway instead of six-lane has been made by the City Plan Commission, it was learned yesterday.

The recommendation was made to limit construction costs, as nearly as possible, to the $8,465,628 federal grant allocated for the work. However, the Plan Commission further recomemnded that land be acquired, and the highway designed, to allow for future construction of two additional traffic lanes.

The commission, which earlier had rejected one of three proposed routes for the highway through the south-central downtown section, expressed its approval of one of the two other plans submitted by the state highway department for location of the roadway from Twelfth and Gravois to Third and Clark. Estimated cost of construction of a four-lane roadway under the plan approved would be $8,841,000.

The other plan would require expenditure of an estimated $7,827,000 for construction. Chief differences between the plans are the properties on which they would encroach and the fact that the second plan provides for a reverse or S curve through the industrial area to avoid some of the large plants. Both plans provide for elevated structures.

The commission said that if the highway could be completed more quickly under the second plan than under the first, the commission would be willing to proceed with the second. Estimated cost of land acquisition under the two plans is, respectively, $2,100,000 and $1,972,000.

College President Asked to Quit Because of Divorce, Remarriage

—Associated Press Wirephoto.
DR. W. A. SHIMER

MARIETTA, O., July 29 (AP)—Dr. William Allison Shimer, president of Marietta College, today had a statement from the school's trustees declaring he had been asked to resign because of his divorce and remarriage.

Two weeks ago while on a wedding trip in Canada he received a letter demanding his resignation. Returning here, he requested an explanation.

The trustees sent him a letter yesterday stating, "The reason was simply your separation, divorce and remarriage. The board was not concerned with the pros and cons of the divorce. It believes, however, that the way of life of a college president must be an inspiration to the students and a model both on and off the campus for all to live by."

Dr. Shimer's first wife obtained a divorce a year ago on the ground of gross neglect. Last month he was married to Miss Dorothy Blair, formerly dean of women at Marietta.

President Shimer withheld immediate comment on the board's letter.

The century-old co-educational school is privately endowed. It has an enrollment of about 750 men and 250 women. It is non-sectarian.

REMINGTON RAND STRIKE ENDS

NEW YORK, July 29 (AP)—CIO United Electrical Workers yesterday ratified an agreement providing an 8-cent hourly wage increase and six paid holidays annually and ended a five-week strike against eight plants of the Remington Rand Co.

The settlement calls also for arbitration of the remainder of the union's original demands for a 15-cent hourly raise.

THREE IRGUNISTS HANGED DESPITE REPRISAL THREAT

He did not say whether they would be dead or alive. British authorities believed Irgun would act in a dramatic way, probably by throwing the bodies of the two in a public place.)

British soldiers and police searched eight Jewish vicinities near Tel Aviv last night in an evident effort to liberate Martin and Paice.

Less than three hours before the executions of the three Jews, an empty pillbox near the prison was blasted—apparently, officials said, by a mine. A heavy guard was set up around the prison and soldiers and police blocked off Tel Aviv, some 60 miles south of Acre.

An unofficial source said police escorted families of the condemned men to the prison late last night. The three were expected to be buried in the Government cemetery at Safad.

Violence in Jerusalem.

An hour after the hangings had been made public, a grenade was thrown at a police armored car in Jerusalem. A little later, police shot and wounded a Jewish youth trying to flee a checkpost here.

Six instances of violence were reported in the Holy Land yesterday. The only extensive casualties, however, occurred in the First British Infantry camp at Tel Litvinsky near Tel Aviv. An explosion outside an outdoor theater there last night wounded six persons.

A reliable source said the Palestine Government planned to enact a law to permit destruction of houses connected with suspected underground attacks. Last week the military commander of the Haifa district ordered five houses, near the scenes of attacks, forfeited. Thirty-three families put out of the houses were sheltered temporarily in schools. They have asked the Palestine supreme court to return their homes.

4500 JEWS REFUSE TO LAND IN FRANCE

PORT DE BOUC, France, July 29 (UP)—Some 4500 Jewish refugees arrived today aboard three British freighters and told French authorities they would not land on French soil alive.

The refugees were transported here by the British who intercepted them aboard the Exodus of 1947, formerly the President Warefield, off Palestine.

The Jews flatly informed the French they would not leave the ships anchored in the harbor here and said they would go ashore nowhere but in Palestine.

Rene Colaveri, secretary-general of the prefecture of the Department of Bouches du Rhone, visited the three ships today. He said he had given the refugees a message from Premier Paul Ramadier offering them asylum in France.

French officials said they would not force the Jews to disembark.

DENIES ARMY PLOT TO SEIZE DOMINICAN GOVERNMENT

HAVANA, July 29 (AP)—Reports heard by the United States State Department that a revolutionary army is being trained in Cuba for an attempt to overthrow the Dominical Republican Government of President Rafael Trujillo are "pure fantasy," says Col. Fabio Ruiz Rojas, chief of the Cuban national police.

Col. Francisco Javier Arana, chief of Guatamala's armed forces, also denied in his Capital that Communist revolutionaries had left Guatamala to join in an invasion of the Dominican Republic.

Last Saturday the Dominican ambassador to Washington told reporters a 3000-man army of "Communist revolutionaries" from Cuba, Guatemala, Venezuela, and Puerto Rico was preparing for an attack on Trujillo's country. The State Department said yesterday it had heard such rumors.

RUSSIA VETOES U.S. RESOLUTION FOR BALKAN WATCH

with Russia and Poland abstaining, a paragraph providiny for transfer of minorities.

The Council concluded discussion of the Balkans problem shortly before lunch, thus paving the way toward a climax of a month-long fight between the United States and Russia.

Johnson opened the morning session by insisting the proposed commission be composed of 11 members. He made it clear he would fight all attempts to set up a smaller commission.

France, Australia Yield.

France and Australia then agreed not to press their proposals which would bar the big powers from the proposed commission. The French had suggested the commission be composed of only the six non-permanent Council members.

In the weeks of debate on the Balkans issue, Russia has told the Council it could not approve the American resolution to set up a commission to stand watch for at least two years and have the power to conciliate disputes and investigate border incidents. Gromyko has contended the Council can only make recommendations and cannot take action, a thesis based on a Soviet interpretation of the charter. The majority of the Council members disagree with Russia on this point.

During the morning debate, Delegate Alfonso Lopez of Colombia told the Council that it should be ready to act in Indonesia's "undeclared war" if it went ahead with the plan to set up a Balkans commission. It was the first time that the Indonesian fighting had been mentioned in the Council.

Lopez remarked that he was glad the Council seemed eager to take action in the Balkans case while in Indonesia there is "actually undeclared war regarding which the Security Council is doing nothing." He said that "under agreements between the United States and Greece concerning the Truman Doctrine, the presence of the United States in Athens will have very much to do with the development" of the commission the United States wants installed in the Balkans.

India Postpones Plea to U. N. on Behalf of Indonesia.

NEW DELHI, July 29 (AP)—An official source said tonight that "certain developments" had caused the Indian interim government to postpone an appeal to the United Nations on behalf of the Indonesian republic.

Vice President Jawaharlal Nehru had said the matter would be presented to the U.N. today.

A spokesman declined to say what the developments were. He refused to contradict a report which had gained currency in capital circles that the postponement resulted from fresh hope that the United States and Britain were preparing to take the lead in pressing for a cessation of the warfare.

The Government did, however, fulfill Nehru's announced intention of excluding Dutch aviation from India. An official announcement said the Dutch Embassy was notified that a temporary agreement permitting Dutch planes to land in or fly over India had been withdrawn. The British Government was informed.

THE HAGUE, July 29 (UP)—Some quarters said today that the Dutch may be about ready to accept British mediation in Indonesia provided the republicans recognize Dutch sovereignty over their country and issue an immediate cease-fire order.

KAISER TESTIFIES HE GOT F.D.R. TO CHANGE NAVY STAND

carriers" and at first "wanted to give them to the British" but finally "turned the heat of hell on us to produce more of them."

"The Navy reversed itself," he continued. "It was wonderful. Adm. King came in and said he wanted to help."

Adm. Ernest King was chief of naval operations and commander in chief of the Navy at the time.

Ferguson demanded that Kaiser give the committee a copy of the note to Roosevelt. Kaiser said he did not have a copy with him but would supply one later.

Protest Against "Smears."

At the outset of the hearing, Kaiser protested there has been a "smear campaign" against him.

"I have never in my entire history had such a smear campaign directed against me," he declared.

The "baby" aircraft carriers have been credited by the Navy with playing a major part in winning the war. Kaiser swung into the story of them as Ferguson pressed a line of questions aimed at uncovering whether Roosevelt had a hand in award of an $18,000,000 contract to Kaiser and Hughes for three 200-ton, eight-engine plywood cargo planes.

Under this questioning, Kaiser said "It would appear" that the President "left a note" (presumably to Navy officials) about the carriers.

He said he knew of no such note about the "flying boat" airplanes.

Kaiser told the committee that he conceived the idea for a 200-ton cargo plane in the spring of 1942.

He said he discussed it with plane builder Donald Douglas and Douglas was "tremendously enthusiastic."

Charges 'Double Cross.'

He went on to contend that Grover Loening, former aviation consultant to WPB Chief Donald Nelson, "double-crossed" him on the flying boat proposal.

He said Loening stopped to see him in San Francisco a few days before a meeting of a WPB committee in Los Angeles in August 1942. He put into the record a number of affidavits from his employes purporting to show that Loening then was enthusiastic about the idea.

"When did you have these affidavits prepared?" Ferguson asked.

"At the time I got the double cross," Kaiser said.

About the "double cross," Kaiser related that Loening made an appointment to meet him in Los Angeles several days later. Kaiser said he kept the appointment but Loening did not.

He said he was kept "cooling my heels" for most of a day while a WPB committee met.

Finally, he said, he was permitted to lunch with the committee.

He continued: "Mr. Loening was a totally different man. Mr. Douglas had switched, and I still don't understand it to this day."

A little later, Kaiser said that when he finally was admitted to lunch "I knew what was going on and I didn't have to be hit over the head." He added:

"In my opinion it was a beautiful frame-up to kill the aircraft cargo program, and it succeeded."

Kaiser said he does not know to whom in Washington the committee talked and then cooled on the cargo plane idea, but that he would like the committee to try to find out."

Kaiser asserted his airplane contract received approval from Adm. William D. Leahy, chief of staff to President Roosevelt. He said he took his plane-building proposal to Leahy on instructions from Donald Nelson, then chairman of the War Production Board.

Loening testified yesterday the meeting attempted merely to clarify a Washington directive as to whether the committee was only to advise Kaiser, or had instructions to develop plans for planes which Kaiser would build.

Kaiser's Aid Sworn In.

Chad F. Calhoun, a Kaiser aid, sat beside the industrialist while he testified, occasionally supplying an answer to Kaiser. Ferguson finally had Calhoun sworn as a witness and then asked him whether he knew of anybody in Washington who was "giving Mr. Kaiser the brush-off."

"I most certainly do," Calhoun replied. "Mr. William Batt and Mr. Merrill Meigs."

Batt is a former WPB vice chairman. Meigs was one time chief of WPB's aircraft division.

Senator Cain (Rep.), Washington, wanted to know why Batt and Meigs gave Kaiser the brush-off.

"That's what we have never known," Calhoun replied. "We would like the committee to find out."

Kaiser gave the committee a long general statement and also what he termed a "supplementary statement."

In the supplementary statement, Kaiser referred to yesterday's testimony by Meigs that Kaiser is one of the world's greatest salesmen.

"The term supersalesman can well be used in a complimentary sense," Kaiser said, "but I would be naive indeed if I assumed that it was used in a complimentary sense with reference to me."

Lists Interests as Builder.

He said that "to straighten out, once and for all, the matter of whether Henry Kaiser is a builder or some kind of supersalesman," he wanted to list his interests.

Among them he cited what he called the largest sand, gravel and ready-mixed concrete business in northern California, the world's largest cement plant, an insurance company and seven hospitals, the West's only integrated steel plant, the Kaiser-Frazer Automobile Corp., and half a dozen others.

"This peacetime record should make it amply clear that whatever success I may have achieved is based on the fact I am a builder and no mere supersalesman," Kaiser said.

Kaiser indicated irritation when Ferguson asked him repeatedly what engineering plans he had for flying boats at the time he was negotiating with the WPB in August 1942.

The witness said he probably had only sketches, not detailed blueprints.

Kaiser accused Meigs of being in league with unidentified aircraft manufacturers to keep him out of the business.

"In my opinion, Mr. Meigs was protecting certain interests," he declared.

Ferguson asked him to elaborate, and Kaiser said he meant "certain aircraft manufacturers." The chairman pressed him to name them, and Kaiser said:

"I have often said I really do not know who engineered this (cargo plane) program out of existence."

Before Kaiser was permitted to testify, Senators Ferguson and Pepper (Dem.), Florida, clashed sharply over the procedure to be followed.

When Ferguson started to ask questions, Kaiser said he would prefer to be allowed to read his statement first and then answer questions.

"I'd rather ask you a few questions and then we'll make your statement a part of the record," Ferguson said.

Pepper, a subcommittee member, objected.

He said if Kaiser were permitted to proceed in his own way it would give him a "fairer opportunity to present his story."

In his statement Kaiser challenged Senate investigators to unmask the powerful "forces," in and out of Government, which he said gave the "clever, mysterious kiss-off" to his wartime plan to lick the U-boat menace with an armada of wooden flying boats.

Vigorously defending the mass production project which he planned with Hughes, Kaiser indicated he believed that old-line aircraft manufacturers torpedoed it to safeguard their hold on the aviation industry.

The statement said that the cards were so "stacked" and the opposition reached so high that "words came to me on the night of Aug. 2 (1942) that certain Army generals were going to run me out of town."

'Former Government officials testified yesterday about the contracts awarded Kaiser and Hughes. They said the contracts were awarded despite the opinion of technical experts that the Kaiser-Hughes plans were "fantastic."

No planes produced under the contracts are in use by the armed services.

Inquiry Concerns Two Contracts for New Kinds of Aircraft.

WASHINGTON, July 29 (UP)—The current Kaiser-Hughes hearings before a Senate War Investigating Subcommittee concern two separate wartime contracts for new kinds of aircraft.

Together they call for a total Government expenditure of nearly $40,000,000. To date, the Government actually has paid out $26,600,000.

The first contract was let in 1942 by the Defense Plant Corp., wartime subsidiary of the Reconstruction Finance Corp., to Kaiser-Hughes, Inc., a nonprofit company set up by Industrialist Henry J. Kaiser and Plane-maker Howard Hughes.

It called for three 200-ton, eight-engined flying boats built of plywood. Because of material shortages, delays and the war's end, however, only one was built—at a cost to the Government of something over $18,000,000. This sum has been paid. The plane is at Terminal Island, Calif., awaiting its first test flight, probably next winter.

Under the original plan, according to Kaiser, Hughes was to engineer the experimental model and Kaiser then would mass-produce the craft. But Kaiser withdrew from the venture eight or nine months after it started.

Hughes went on building the mammoth aircraft, however, and delivered it to the Government last February. Since then, he says, he has put $7,000,000 of his own money into the flying boat getting it ready for its forthcoming test. Under the terms of the contract, the project was strictly a nonprofit, no-fee venture.

Kaiser was not involved in the second contract—$13,000,000 award to the Hughes Aircraft Co. for three Army photo planes. This contract originally was much larger, calling for 101 aircraft.

It was scaled down when the war ended to three planes, and the Government handed Hughes $8,600,000 to reimburse him for money he had spent preparing to carry out the original contract.

The total Government expenditure on this contract thus will be $21,600,000—when Hughes gets his $13,000,000. He will not get that sum, however, until the Army has accepted the last of the three photo planes. It has accepted two, but the third is still undergoing tests at Wright Field, O.

U.S. TO INCREASE BROADCASTS TO SOVIET LISTENERS

be cut from 9 hours and 45 minutes to six hours in English, and English language broadcasts to Europe from 28 hours and 30 minutes to 17 hours daily.

Benton said various operations would be turned over as rapidly as possible to private companies, but the department will continue directing from its New York headquarters the programs for 10 countries, Russia, Bulgaria, Romania, Yugoslavia, Australia, Hungary, Poland, Greece, Korea, China, and a short daily program to Germany.

The present staff of more than 500 of the international broadcasting division, mostly in New York, will be reduced to about 225. Private contractors are expected to employ many of the language and other specialists let out.

12-Nation Check Mapped.

The State Department plans for reducing the scope of the programs came as two congressional committees mapped a joint on-the-spot check in a dozen European countries as to the effectiveness of the broadcasts.

Senator H. Alexander Smith (Rep.), New Jersey, chairman of a Senate committee designated to make the study, told a reporter his group and a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee will leave about Nov. 1 to study this country's information efforts abroad. Representative Mundt (Rep.), South Dakota, heads the House group.

"I am deeply concerned with the Voice of America program and have been endeavoring through this session of Congress to collaborate with Secretary of State Marshall in strengthening his hand in the delicate international dealings which lie immediately ahead," Smith said.

"To me it is utterly absurd for this country to be spending billions of dollars for the humane and economic relief of the devastated countries of the world only to have Russia and her satellite countries interpret it as this country having imperialistic designs."

Smith said the congressional groups will travel together. They plan to visit France, Britain, the Baltic and Scandinavian countries, Italy, Greece, Turkey, Austria, Germany and Spain.

Before the European phase of the inquiry, he said, the groups will look into the New York office of the Voice of America program, where the broadcasts were prepared.

Senate authority for an on-the-scene inquiry into the program's effectiveness came after Senator Taft, (Rep.), Ohio, and others blocked efforts to complete Congressional action on the Mundt bill to give legal authorization to the information program. The measurle was passed by the House and approved by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Smith said the legislators would try to check particularly: (1) Russian propaganda efforts designed to "misinterpret" this country's aim; (2) how British and French information programs compare iwth uors; (3) whether the American programs are efficiently managed; (4) whether Europeans and United States diplomatic representatives abroad can suggest improvements for the American program.

DEWEY TOPS POLL OF REPUBLICANS IN HOUSE, SENATE

Only 119 of 255 Congressmen Willing to Take Stand on Choice for Nomination.

WASHINGTON, July 29 (UP)—Congressional Republicans still are cagily avoiding a public stand on their choice for the 1948 G.O.P. presidential nomination. It is "too early" to choose, most of them explained when their opinions were sought in a survey.

The United Press questioned 255 Republican members of the House and Senate and found only 119 of them willing to say that they favored Dewey, Taft, Stassen, Vandenberg or Bricker. Most of these stipulated that their names not be used.

Two midwestern Senators—one favoring John W. Bricker and the other Arthur H. Vandenberg—said they believed that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, now completing an unofficial political tour of the West, "is in front now."

Of the 51 Republican Senators, 44 were reached for their opinions. Of this number, 25 declined comment and only 19 were willing to name their choices.

In the House, 211 of the 244 G.O.P. members were polled. Of this number, 100 expressed their preferences, 83 said they were undecided, and 28 had no comment.

Here is the way the 119 choices stack up:

Candidate.	Senate	House	Total
Dewey	2	41	43

Stassen	2	10	12
Vandenberg	6	4	10
Bricker	4	6	10

TAFT TO SPEAK UP ON MAJOR ISSUES IN WESTERN TOUR

Commonwealth Club at San Francisco; Sept. 20 at Reno; Sept. 25 before the Associated Service Clubs of Seattle and Sept. 25 before Tacoma's World Affairs Council.

A day later, Taft will address the Republican Clubs of Oregon at Gearhart, going on to Boise, Idaho, the following day. Taft said he has been invited to stop in Wyoming on his way back to Ohio.

Not connected with this tour is a date for Taft to address the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce at Chicago, Oct. 9.

Taft intends to maintain until after the western tour that he is not an announced presidential candidate. He said today that he would have nothing to say at the functions at Columbus Thursday about his possible candidacy.

As plans now stand, Senator John W. Bricker will announce before the Ohio State Republican Committee meets that he is supporting Taft as the state's favorite son.

The state committee promptly will indorse Taft and, at a night banquet speech, the latter will say that he is highly honored but wants to await the results of his Western survey before he decides finally.

Nevertheless, state committee representatives are expected to get busy picking Taft delegates to run in next year's primary. Few expect any major opposition to them, although there have been some reports that former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, an announced presidential candidate, may test his strength in northern Ohio where Taft is reported weakest.

Dewey Confers With Michigan Republican Leaders.

OWOSSO, Mich., July 29 (UP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey will confer with Michigan Republican leaders today in a bid for second call on the state's 41 delegates to the 1948 G.O.P. national convention.

The New York Governor, it was reported, "realizes" that Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg is Michigan's "favorite son" candidate, but hopes to build up his reserve strength by obtaining a second choice pledge.

Dewey's meeting with National Committeeman Arthur E. Summerfield, Mrs. Dudley C. Hay, National Committeewoman, and State Chairman John A. Wagner will be the first important political conference in his native state.

The Governor arrived in his home town Sunday and has spent the past two days chatting with his mother, Mrs. George Dewey, and boyhood friends.

Dewey visited his old boss, Earl Putnam, on his nearby farm yesterday. They discussed farming problems.

"By the way, Mr. Putnam, what do you think of your old hired-hand now?" a friend of Dewey's asked.

"He seems to be doing a lot better than I am," Putnam replied.

"When I was a hired-hand I wasn't very smart, but I worked hard," Dewey remarked.

The Governor worked on the Putnam farm when he was 16 years old.

WOMAN BANK ROBBER SENT TO MENTAL HOSPITAL

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DES MOINES, Ia., July 29 — Mrs. Opal Dixon, serving a life term for a Des Moines bank robbery, which she committed after holding up the United Bank & Trust Co. in St. Louis, has been transferred from the Rockwell City Reformatory to the Cherokee State Hospital for the Insane, it was learned today.

She was sent to the state hospital for observation following "attacks of hysterical frenzy" while at work, P. F. Hopkins, chairman of the Iowa Board of Control, announced. He said, "As yet her transfer has no bearing on sanity," adding that she was "just a guest patient at the hospital."

Mrs. Dixon, 35-year-old mother of two married teen-age daughters, pleaded temporary insanity as a defense in her trial, but was pronounced sane by the court. She was convicted of the $2950 robbery Jan. 22 of the Des Moines Bank & Trust Co., after admitting robbing the St. Louis bank of $582 last Dec. 26.

CINCINNATI NLRB HEAD QUITS; THINKS LAW IS UNWORKABLE

CINCINNATI, July 29 (AP)—Martin J. Wagner resigned as regional director of the National Labor Relations Board yesterday, declaring he believed the Taft-Hartley act "unworkable."

NLRB chief here since 1943, Wagner made public his letter of resignation. He said:

"The act in my opinion contains provisions which are not conducive to sound collective bargaining or the promotion of industrial peace. . . . I do not believe it is sound policy to correct abuses by withdrawing protections which history has demonstrated are essential for the development of sound collective bargaining."

K.C. GRAND JURY RECONVENES; TWO AIDS FOR PHELPS

United States in connection with war contracts, and Mayor James M. Curley of Boston for mail fraud.

Broome has specialized in the investigation and prosecution of fraud cases for more than 20 years. For the last four years he has been in the Justice Department's war frauds section. He recently completed the trial of Calvert Iron Works, Inc., a major fraud and tax prosecution in Atlanta, Ga.

Broome left Washington last night and may meet with the grand jury today; Paisley will leave Washington tonight.

The work of the special investigators, and that of the grand jury, will center on the primary contest for the House nomination in the Fifth Congressional District. There Representative Roger Slaughter, Democrat, was fought for renomination by President Truman, who enlisted the active support of the county organization headed by James M. Pendergast. The Truman-Pendergast selection, Enos Axtell, was nominated on the face of the returns in the primary, but was beaten in the November election by Albert L. Reeves Jr., Republican.

Attorney General Clark, in announcing choice of the special assistants, said they were chosen following a request from Phelps for two lawyers from the Department of Justice to assist him. It was stated at the department that "If Mr. Phelps needs any more men, he can have them. The Attorney General has always wanted a complete investigation."

Senator James J. Kem, Republican who has demanded a senatorial investigation of his charge that Attorney-General Clark attempted to restrict the scope of the original inquiry into the primary frauds, arrived in Kansas City last evening, and was met at Union Station by a delegation of 50 Republicans. He said that, although Democratic filibustering tactics, and pressure of other legislative work, kept his resolution from coming to a vote, "there will undoubtdly be an investigation."

Shortly after the special grand jury convened today, United States District Judge Albert A. Ridge summoned the members and suggested that they continue in session daily for two weeks and then take a recess of possibly a month. He said he felt more would be accomplished by this procedure.

The jury, which had recessed after several days' sessions early this month, returning five vote fraud indictments, resumed its work today by examining and counting ballots from several precincts in the traditionally deliverable First Ward.

It was evident that this stage of its inquiry went beyond that conducted by the state, since the ballots stolen from the courthouse safe were mainly from 19 precincts, which had been impounded by the state grand jury as vital evidence against most of 71 defendants.

The purpose of counting the ballots, which were among those seized by the Government from throughout this city and Jackson county under court order after the safe-blowing, was to ascertain whether the actual count varied from that certified by the precinct election officials to be correct. Notes of a belated investigation by special agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, authorized by Attorney General Clark, also were available for the grand jury's guidance.

Previous indictments returned by the jury, at its initial sessions, alleged conspiracy to commit fraud in the Tenth Precinct of the First Ward. The principal political figure to be indicted was Morris "Snag" Klein, a lieutenant of Charles Binaggio, gambler and Democratic boss of an Italian faction in that ward. Both Klein and another federal defendant previously were indicted by the state. Then the ballots from that precinct were stolen.

In examining First ward ballots, the jury carried out preliminary spade work for a possible broadening of the inquiry in that ward. Meanwhile, subpenas were issued for witnesses from the Second ward, who were instructed to appear tomorrow.

Some of these witnesses, particularly from the Fifth precinct, had been directed to appear at the previous session of the jury, but testimony dealing with the Tenth precinct of the First ward consumed so much time that it was decided at the time to defer the inquiry into the Second ward.

The Second ward is the bailiwick of Henry McKissick, fishing companion of Circuit Judge John F. Cook, whose docket contains the state vote fraud cases, involving many defendants from McKissick's ward. Judge Cook recently overruled a defense motion to quash indictments against 22 of the state's defendants, holding that practical rather than technical considerations should be taken into account. Similar motions on behalf of 21 others are pending.

It is necessary to examine scores of voters from every precinct investigated, while additional leads may be received from questionnaires sent voters under the signature of John W. Garrett of Joplin, foreman of the jury.

Queries include: "Did you mark your own ballot?" "Did you notice any irregularities?" and, "Were you offered any money to vote?"

The same device was employed in 1937 during investigation of brazen frauds at the 1936 general election here. The inquiry resulted in punishment of 259 defendants. It led to the downfall of the political dynasty once ruled by Boss Tom Pendergast. His nephew, James M. Pendergast, heads what is left of it, but its power has been reduced from what amounted to a political monarchy to a working agreement between factions at crucial elections.

Bricker Assailant Indicted.

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—William L. Kaiser, former policeman accused of firing two shots at Senator Bricker (Rep.), Ohio, at the Capitol July 12, was indicted yesterday on charges of assault with intent to kill. Kaiser has since been under observation at Gallinger Hospital here.

CHICAGO TO START CONTROL OF HOTEL RENTS IN WEEK

the ordinance as finally adopted permanent guests, defined as tenants in the same hotel room for 90 days or more prior to June 30, cannot be subjected to a rent increase of more than 15 per cent.

Proponents are confident the law will be sustained in the courts in view of the housing emergency which brought about its adoption.

Meanwhile, at Cleveland, O., United States District Judge Paul Jones expressed "grave doubt" yesterday that the recently enacted federal rent control act was constitutional.

His statement was made unofficially in commenting on two suits filed by the national housing expediter's area rent control office to enjoin illegal practices by landlords under the new law. He said he made the statement "for the benefit of the expediter so he will know the lines along which the court is thinking."

"I have a personal feeling that the landlord, under these laws, has been unfairly and inequitably dealt with," said the judge. "There is grave doubt in my mind as to the constitutionality of this rent act. But the Congress has seen fit to enact it, and the matter has not yet been presented to me in such a way that I could dispose of the question of the constitutionality of it, because nobody yet has asked for a full hearing on that question, and usually the court doesn't, on its own motion, determine the constitutional questions."

WILD DOG OF BIKINI ATOMIC BLAST AREA IS CAPTURED

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—The Navy finally has captured the wild dog of Bikini which has been roaming the island since the atomic bomb explosions last summer.

After its capture in a ham-bone baited trap, the dog appeared to be in good condition on its diet of crabs, clams and other food picked up on the island.

The dog will be sent back to the United States aboard the Navy's scientific resurvey laboratory ship, the U.S.S. Chilton, to take its place with Pig 311 and a goat, two other survivors of the Bikini blast.

POPE DECLARES RIGHT TO SPEAK ON SOCIAL ISSUES

Warns Against Domination of State by Economic Forces to Injury of Public.

VATICAN CITY, July 29 (INS)—Pope Pius XII voiced concern yesterday over the danger of economic nationalization and asserted the right of the Roman Catholic church to intervene in world social problems.

He declared that "activities and services of society (the state) must have a 'subsidiary' character only, to aid or complete the activity of the individual, the family and the profession."

The pronouncement was contained in a pontifical letter sent to Carl Flory, president of the French Social Conference, which opened a seven-day study of social problems in Paris yesterday.

The Pope, commenting on charges that the Holy See and the Pope are "mixing in politics," declared that the church is "above political controversies."

The letter, dated July 18, recalled the famous encyclical of Pope Pius XI, "Quadrigesimo Ano," and its principles on relations between capital and labor. The Pope then said:

"What is important is to establish whether nationalization offers an appropriate device for providing the nation with unity and community spirit."

He added that at present the danger that the state "becomes dominated by economic forces—to the detriment of the general welfare—is exactly as grave as if it should be dominated by pressure from capital."

The pontiff noted the "impatience with which tried humanity tries to better its sort," but dismissed as "too simple" the motto that production is all important.

He declared:

"Production is of man and for man. It is one factor in the order between men, and in this order state intervention in principle cannot be excluded.

"But on the other hand—precisely now that the ancient laissez faire is ended the attitude has become fashionable—it is necessary to be on guard not to become its (the state's) victims."

The Pope concluded by warning:

"It is an illusion to believe that anti-clerical and anti-Catholic passion can be disarmed by limiting Catholic principles to the minimum domain of private initiative.

Mexico Objects to Vatican in Political Activities.

BUENOS AIRES, July 29 (AP)—Mexico, in a note to the Argentine Foreign Ministry, expressed adherence yesterday to Argentina's "doctrine of internal and external peace," but took exception to inclusion of the Vatican in proposals for its implementation.

President Juan D. Peron on July 7 pledged Argentina's rich resources to war-torn countries, declaring he believed international harmony could be attained only after internal peace was secured within stricken nations. Shortly thereafter Foreign Minister Juan A. Bramuglia called on the 21 American republics and the Vatican to co-operate in attaining the goal.

Mexican Foreign Secretary Jaime Torres Bodet said in his note that Mexico supported "the noble purposes of Argentina," but "owing to the precepts of our constitution" the Vatican could not be accepted in the "sphere of political activities."

REDUCTION IN GRAIN ALLOTTED FOR SHIPMENT OVERSEAS

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—The Department of Agriculture yesterday allocated 1,197,500 long tons of grain and grain products—the equivalent of about 44,936,000 bushels—for export to shortage areas in September. This compares with 1,364,500 long tons, or about 52,337,860 bushels, allocated for August.

The September allocations included no corn. The department said much of the corn originally allocated for export in July and August has been replaced by wheat and other grains because of a prospective short corn crop in this country.

The Government now plans to export upwards of 500,000,000 bushels of grains during the 12 months ending on June 30, 1948.

KILLED BY WIND-FELLED TREE

Joseph A. Boger, 2906 West Twentieth street, Granite City, was killed when he was struck by a falling tree in a windstorm at Meramec Caverns, Stanton, Mo., yesterday.

Boger was 74 years old. Stanton is about 55 miles southwest of St. Louis.

DES MOINES, Ia., July 29 (AP)—An 82-year-old man yesterday married the woman he saw baptized when she was an infant nearly 60 years ago.

John H. Fish, then a young man of 23, and Thora Cornelia Nazarene, then a baby, were baptized in the same church and at the time in the late 1880s.

They did not see each other again until about a month ago and wedding plans followed. It was the fourth marriage for Fish and the third for his bride. They will make their home in Des Moines.

FORMER TELEGRAPHER NAMED FRISCO TRANSPORTATION HEAD

Appointment of Howard W. Hale, who began working for the St. Louis-San Francisco Railway as a telegrapher 39 years ago, to the position of superintendent of transportation for the railroad was announced here yesterday by Clark Hungerford, president. Hale has served as superintendent of the eastern division at Springfield, Mo., for the last year. He will assume his new duties Friday.

Robert J. Stone, superintendent of the northern division at Fort Scott, Kan., will become superintendent of the eastern division. He will be succeeded in his present positions by Alfred M. Ball, now serving as superintendent of transportation.

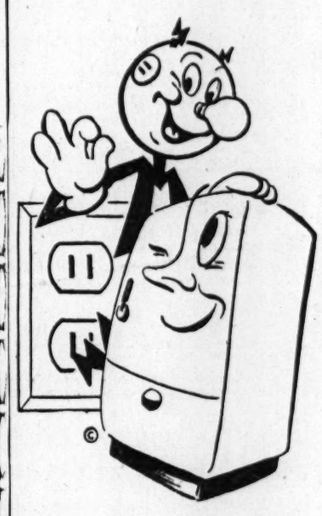

Hungerford also announced the opening of an executive office of the railroad at Memphis, Tenn., to be directed by John A. Moran, who has been named assistant to the president. Moran, now serving as superintendent of the southern division at Memphis, will be succeeded by X. R. Campbell, superintendent of the railroad's river division at Chaffee, Mo.

24 hours refrigeration for about 3¢
Yes, Reddy Kilowatt's wages are unbelievably low. The average family, for example, can enjoy electric refrigeration for about 3¢ a day. Today, the cost of just about everything else you buy has gone up. But the cost of your electricity has steadily gone down. Now, you can enjoy all the pleasure and conveniences of modern electrical living in your home . . . at the lowest Union Electric rates in history.*
UNION ELECTRIC
LIVE BETTER . . . LIVE ELECTRICALLY
*The average Union Electric residential bill is only $3.17 per month. This means the average family enjoys the advantages of electrical living for only about 10¢ a day!

Welcome to St. Louis
We're Glad You're Coming to Help Meet the Ever-increasing Demand for More Electric Power

This land we live in is a busy, prosperous place. Factories are turning out more goods than ever before. New industries are locating here in this thriving, expanding community.

This means bigger and better business for everybody. And it also means that your homes and stores and factories are using more electric power than ever before in history.

POWER DEMAND UP

Already, our peak load is 50,000 kilowatts higher than the highest peak reached during the most frenzied period of war production—in spite of many predictions that the demand for electric power would drop off rapidly in the post-war years.

That's why Reddy Kilowatt is so glad to see the first shipment of major parts for his new 80,000 kilowatt turbo-generator, arriving in St. Louis for installation at Union Electric's power plant in Venice, Illinois. (About 20 railroad cars will be required to ship the complete unit to St. Louis.)

IT'S BEEN A LONG, LONG TIME

The new generator, which is needed to keep pace with the ever-growing demands for electric power throughout this area, was originally ordered in 1941. Construction work on the foundation for the new section was completed before more pressing wartime needs, caused the War Production Board to stop work on the entire plant in August, 1943.

When priorities were lifted, construction work was resumed and the generator order reinstated. Delivery was first promised for January, 1947 . . . then May 1 . . . then July 1. But the same things that have held up delivery of your new car or washing machine or electric range or telephone or new house have held up delivery of the generator—shortages of all kinds and industrial difficulties.

FIVE MONTHS TO INSTALL

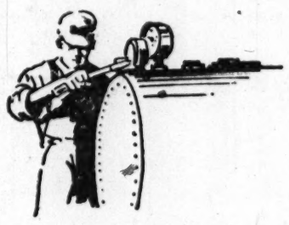

The job of installing the new unit at the Venice plant is now going ahead with all possible speed, but it will require from five to six months to complete. It will probably be the first of next year before the unit is actually producing power for your home or store or farm or factory.

The new generator represents just one of the things we've been doing to meet the rapidly-increasing commercial, industrial, agricultural and residential power needs of this community.

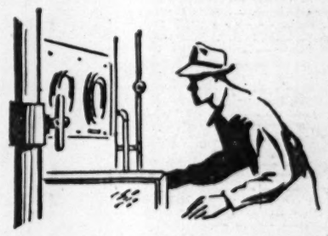

HERE ARE SOME OF THE OTHER STEPS IN THIS PROGRAM . . .

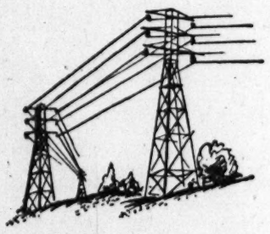

1. Still another 80,000 kilowatt turbo-generator has already been ordered for our Venice plant. Delivery is scheduled for late 1949.

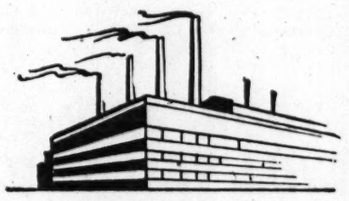

2. Plant Modernization. Older boilers are being replaced with new, modern equipment as fast as possible at the Ashley plant, and new pulverizing equipment is being installed at Cahokia as fast as such equipment becomes available.

3. Oil firing. Wherever practical, we have converted boilers so that they can be fired with oil and gas, as well as coal. This cuts down smoke . . . makes for more flexible operation.

4. To get more power to you. To get the additional power we'll be producing to you, we're building more transmission lines . . . and trying to get the meters, transformers and other equipment needed to supply more power to farms, factories, stores and homes. (This program is moving ahead as fast as material shortages will permit.)

5. Illinois Power Company. We have arranged with Illinois Power Company to release a substantial part of the 100,000 kilowatts which we now produce for them, for use in Union Electric territory beginning in late 1949. At that time, Illinois Power Company will start to produce its own kilowatts . . . and by late 1951, the entire 100,000 kilowatts will be available for Union Electric customers.

All in all, about $22,000,000 has been set aside for 1947 to meet your demands for more power. This amount is actually part of some $70,000,000 earmarked for such purposes three years ago.

It is part of your Union Electric Company's effort to provide for the greatly-increased power needs of an ever-expanding community.

DAY OF MOURNING IN WEST FRANKFORT

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill., July 29—All except the most essential business firms were closed today as the 15,000 residents of this mining town observed a day of mourning for the 27 men who died in the explosion at Old Ben Mine No. 8 last week.

No flowers were on the altar at the Baptist church, where non-denominational services were held, because florists' supplies had been depleted by the many funerals of the last few days.

The mine, on the fringe of the town, remained closed and was not to reopen until next week. The miners went with their wives, who wore black dresses, to the church services.

Prayers were offered, not only for those who died in West Frankfort's worst disaster, but also for the continued safety of those residents who make their living in the mines.

Like the mine, the church where the services were held was also once a scene of disaster. Five years ago it was gutted by fire. Then it was rebuilt and now stands as a building partly new and partly old.

Officiating at services today were the Rev. T. H. King, pastor of the Baptist Church, and the Rev. Clark Yost, Methodist minister. The Baptist choir sang.

"There is little we can do in the way of offering condolences in this terrible thing," the Rev. King said. "Those men died doing the job they cut out for themselves. We can only remind folks once again that such a death, regarded in that aspect, is truly a glorious ending."

At the services, prayers were offered for the recovery of Charles Smith, Tom Kirby and Frank Casper, who survived the blast and are now under treatment at Union Hospital.

The three men said yesterday a spark from an electric motor of an underground locomotive touched off the explosion in Old Ben No. 8. They expressed the belief that the methane gas was ignited in an area close to the group of miners rather than "well beyond," as the State Mining Board had reported.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 29—Harold L. Walker, director of the State Mines and Minerals Department, said today he doubted that the West Frankfort blast was started by a spark from a motor.

He stated none of the investigators at the scene agreed with the three survivors who maintained the spark caused the explosion.

"Everything indicated the explosion traveled westward from a starting point in an area where no one was working," Walker said. "There was no coal dust or gas in the area where the men were."

The state's 16 mine inspectors are meeting with Walker today to discuss the new Illinois mine safety laws.

Experience is the Best Teacher!
Remember all the different brands you smoked during the wartime cigarette shortage? That's when so many people discovered the milder, more flavorful pleasure there is in Camel's choice, properly aged tobaccos.
It was no fun!
But that wartime cigarette scarcity was a revealing experience to smokers . . . taught millions that cigarettes of different brands are not alike . . . that there are big differences in taste, coolness, mildness . . . in quality.
What Brand?
In those days of the wartime shortage, you took whatever brand you could get . . . a different brand every day sometimes. Naturally, people compared brands . . . for taste . . . for throat . . . for real smoking pleasure.
Choice of Experience
Even people who had never thought of changing brands tried Camels during the shortage. That's how more and more smokers learned that Camels suited them best. That's why . . .

MORE PEOPLE ARE SMOKING CAMELS than ever before!

Foreign Aid Cited as Example—G.O.P., Democrats Offer New Savings Estimates.

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—Administration budget experts said today that despite congressional cuts, federal spending this fiscal year will run fairly close to the $37,500,000,000 estimate outlined by President Truman last January.

It may even exceed that figure when all the items are totaled up next June 30, these analysts told a reporter on the stipulation that they not be named.

They said the main reason for this is that Congress voted a number of appropriations—chiefly for foreign aid—which were not figured in when Truman drafted his budget estimates.

The analysts' request for anonymity was underscored by the fact that the battle of the budget is still raging on Capitol Hill.

Taber's New Figures.

Chairman Taber (Rep.), New York, of the House Appropriations Committee—sparkplug of the Republican economy drive—came up last night with his third set of figures in three days. Representative Gore (Dem.), Tennessee, self-described "watchdog" of G.O.P. promises in the House to trim the budget by six billion dollars, countered with his party's third compilation.

Taber contended in a radio speech that total savings to the Treasury "as a result of the operations of the first session of the Eightieth Congress" amounted to $4,403,700,000. He said that in addition Congress rescinded $2,684,000,000 in previous appropriations.

Last Saturday Taber first told the House that the Treasury is better off by $4,423,000,000 and a few hours later said the savings would amount to $4,995,060,000.

Gore's Estimate: $1,267,661,000.

Gore's statistics, issued in the form of a statement, credited the Republicans with "total genuine reductions" of $1,267,661,000. That compares with a $1,199,000,000 cut he conceded in a speech last Saturday. Gore's latest figure, however, was almost one billion dollars less than Representative Cannon (Dem.), Missouri, top Democrat on the Appropriations Committee, tentatively gave the G.O.P. credit for Saturday.

Emphasizing that they have no desire to get caught in the middle of that argument, the men who keep track of such things for the administration said their rough guesses on the amount of the congressional savings run in the neighborhood of $1,600,000,000.

In citing prospective outlays that tend to offset this figure, the budget people point first to the $400,000,000 Greek-Turkish aid program—a situation which did not develop until after the original budget was submitted but which nevertheless will count as a budget expenditure.

Another factor is Britain's virtual certainty of using $500,000,000 more of its loan than had been budgeted for this year.

The administration analysts pointed out that Congress had no chance to control the rate at which Britain draws on its $3,750,000,000 credit and therefore cannot be held responsible for this item.

Added Drains on Budget.

Other offsets which they said Congress voted as additions to budgeted expenditures include $150,000,000 for stockpiling strategic and critical materials, $64,000,000 to combat foot-and-mouth disease in cattle and $35,500,000 for veterans' programs.

There were smaller "extras" as well, including such items as about $2,000,000 for congressional investigations.

In addition, the budget statisticians say, there are a number of technical items—such as a charge of some $230,000,000 to be made against the Treasury for the railroad retirement fund.

This charge was supposed to have been made during the past fiscal year, they said, but a delay in Congress will charge it to the current budget.

On the brighter side of the confusing budget picture is the virtual certainty that revenue collections—if they continue at their current rate—will far exceed the $39,700,000,000 predicted by Truman.

A scheduled mid-August budget revision may increase that figure by $2,500,000,000 or more, officials said.

Such a development would indicate a budget surplus of between four billion and five billion dollars on June 30, 1948.

LOUISIANA (MO.) PLANT AGAIN TO MAKE SYNTHETIC FUEL

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—The Bureau of Mines said today the War Department has stopped making ammonia at Louisiana, Mo., and the huge plant there again is being converted to production of synthetic liquid fuels.

The bureau acquired the $17,500,000 plant, known as the Missouri Ordnance Works, from the Army late in 1945, but had to return it to the War Department in July, 1946, for the emergency production of ammonia for fertilizers.

Secretary of the Interior Krug said the construction schedule calls for the plant to be producing gasoline and oil from coal and lignite by next June 30. A $6,780,000 contract for engineering, design and construction under the conversion program has been awarded to the Bechtel Corporation, Torrance, Calif. Subcontracts totaling $4,000,000 have been placed for equipment, grading and housing.

8 YOUTHS TO RACE DOWN MISSOURI RIVER IN RAFTS

Eight Columbia, Mo., youths will pile into four rubber life rafts next Friday morning at Kansas City and race 480 miles on the Missouri and Mississippi rivers to St. Louis, their Air Scout squadron leader said here today.

All members of Squadron No. 1 of Columbia, the 15-to-19-year-old Boy Scout river enthusiasts have been training themselves at handling the Air Forces surplus rafts. Charles E. Merritt, their leader, tested a reputed rough spot in the Missouri River at Easley last Sunday by swimming across it.

Observing a racing period from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. each day, the rafts are expected to be strung out along the river, putting in for supplies at Lexington, Glasgow, Boonville and Washington. At night they will rig up Army tropical hammocks.

Merritt, a former professional distance swimmer, will follow on a fifth raft equipped with a freshwater distiller. The racers will tie up five or six days later near Ross Airport, east of 7700 North Broadway, where they will be joined by a truckload of their squadron mates. They will end their visit with a show of their model airplanes at the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children.

American Medical Association says Aspirin is probably Safest, Most Efficient of Pain Killers!

Reader's Digest reports A.M.A's statement concerning Aspirin's effectiveness

ASPIRIN is probably the safest and most efficient of the pain killers. This statement, made by the American Medical Association, to the author of an article in the Reader's Digest, is a real tribute to all makers of Aspirin who have supplied this invaluable drug in ever-increasing quantities to allay the pains of ordinary headache, neuritis and neuralgia ... ills which cause more suffering than all serious diseases combined.

An unmatched record

Bayer Aspirin, the leader in the Aspirin field, has a unique distinction from all other Aspirin. It was Bayer who discovered Aspirin ... Bayer who made it first. That was 46 years ago, and since Aspirin's discovery, Bayer has employed the following principles of manufacture:

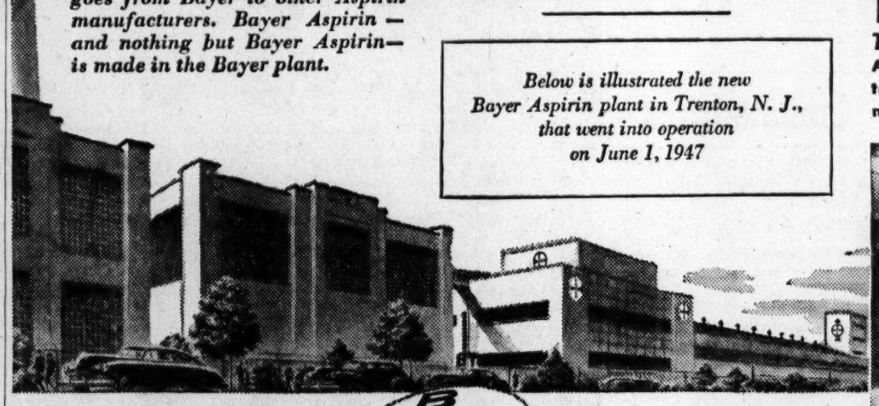

Every grain of Aspirin used by Bayer is made by Bayer. It is under Bayer's sole control from raw material to finished tablet. Not a single grain comes to Bayer from outside sources—and not a single grain goes from Bayer to other Aspirin manufacturers. Bayer Aspirin—and nothing but Bayer Aspirin—is made in the Bayer plant.

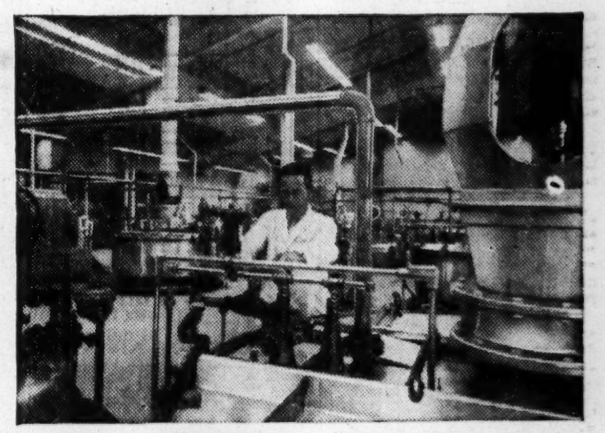

Because of this control, plus the years of experience which only Bayer has, there is little wonder that wherever you go, men and women in all walks of life have such deep-seated confidence in Bayer Aspirin—a confidence that means so much when you're in pain and want fast relief.

In the greater service of those who suffer pain

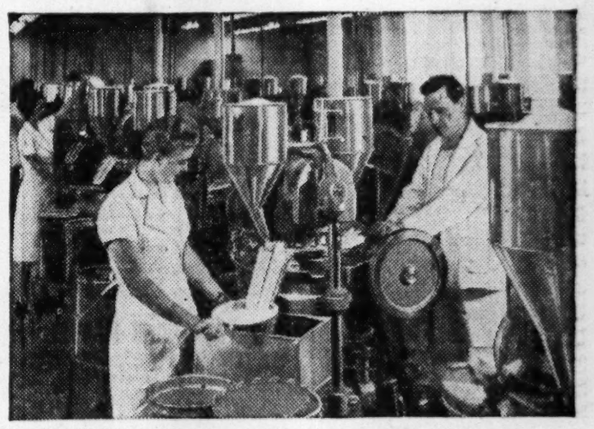

No other pain reliever can match Bayer Aspirin's record of reliability ... its record of use by millions of normal people—without ill effect. And to enhance Bayer Aspirin's value to those who suffer pain, the finest drug manufacturing plant in the United States has just been completed for the makers of Bayer Aspirin. In this magnificent plant, Bayer continues to produce its own Aspirin. And no drug, not even the sulfas or penicillin, for example, is produced under any better, any stricter, any more scientific methods of manufacture. As a result, when you use Bayer Aspirin, you know you're using an analgesic that's dependable.

Below is illustrated the new Bayer Aspirin plant in Trenton, N. J., that went into operation on June 1, 1947

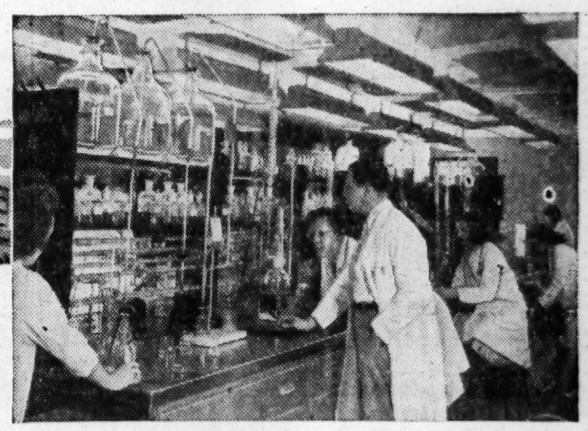

Where The Manufacture of Bayer Aspirin Begins. In this battery of gleaming stainless steel kettles and filters... embodying all of the newest advances in pharmaceutical engineering... Bayer makes its own Aspirin powder, employing a painstaking method originated by Bayer.

The Tablets Are Made. Here, in a carefully air conditioned, sunlit room, the Aspirin powder, with its effective binder added, is made into the familiar small tablets stamped with the Bayer cross... made on shining clean, modern equipment—and untouched by human hands.

Seventy Tests During Manufacture. Here Bayer continues its long established precaution of making more than 70 rigid tests for quality, uniformity and purity during the manufacturing process.

LATE SALES WAVE HITS STOCK LIST LEADERS

Offerings Credited to Weak Commodities, London Drop, Technical Reasons.

NEW YORK, July 29 (AP) — The stock market today suffered one of its widest breaks in several months as late heavy selling knocked over leaders 1 to 3 or more points and put the high speed ticker tape behind for the first time since the tumble of last May 16.

Little in the way of bullish material was seen in the news and the list resumed Monday's retreat at the start. Dealings tapered subsequently. Approaching the final hour a flood of offerings hit the exchange with motors, steels, rails and numerous industrials under pressure. For about a quarter of an hour the recording machinery was as much as two minutes in arrears. The pace then slowed and extreme declines were reduced in the majority of cases at the close.

Sales were 1,390,000 shares compared with 1,090,000 yesterday.

It was a broad market. Of 1072 issues traded 865 closed lower, 100 higher and 107 unchanged. Seven made new 1947 highs and 17 new lows.

In the curb a raised quarterly at one time buoyed Humble Oil. On the offside at times were Cities Service, Electric Bond & Share, American Gas and Textron.

Among exceptions were Hershey Chocolate and Associates Investment Co. which pushed up on split proposals. The former added about 3 points on a single sale, first transaction since July 15.

U. S. Steel Earnings.

United States Steel Corp. reported today net income for the second 1947 quarter was $29,336,868, equal to $2.65 a common share, compared with $13,900,270 or 87 cents in the similar period a year ago when output was affected by a two-month coal strike. The usual dividend of $1 a share on common stock payable Sept. 10 to holders of record Aug. 8 was declared. Net income for the first quarter of 1947 was $39,234,511, equal to $3.78 a common share.

Commercial and industrial failures in the week ended July 24 rose to 76 from 63 in the preceding week and compared with 13 in the corresponding 1946 week, Dun & Bradstreet reported today.

The entire increase for the week occurred among failures involving liabilities of $5000 or more, bringing the total for that group to 68 compared with 55 in the preceding week and 9 a year ago. Small failures involving liabilities of less than $5000 held at 8 for the second week and compared with 4 in the same 1946 period.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, July 29 (AP) — Railroad issues faltered in their summer forward stride in the bond market today.

As the session entered the final hour losses ranged to around 2 points. A handful of plus signs appeared.

Among the losers were Missouri Pacific convertibles, New Haven 4½s of '67, and Pennsylvania Railroad general 4¼s.

Sales were $4,850,000, compared with $3,690,000 yesterday.

United States Governments moved narrowly in the over-the-counter market.

COTTON OFF $2.90 TO $3.30

NEW YORK, July 29 (AP)—Cotton futures were reactionary in active dealings today. Commission house and New Orleans selling was inspired by weakness in outside markets, favorable crop news, and reports that mills are resisting high prices for early ginned new crop cotton.

An increasing movement of the new crop in Texas brought in some hedging in the future market. Only scale down trade buying was in evidence.

Cotton futures recovered more than $1 a bale from the lows of the day on a late flurry of short covering which met only limited offerings.

Futures closed $2.90 to $3.30 a bale lower than the previous close.

9-CENT DROP IN WHEAT, CORN, OATS 4C LOWER

CHICAGO, July 29 (AP)—Wheat led other grains downward on the Board of Trade today. The decline started at the opening on overnight announcement of smaller Government export allocations for September, and lower Government buying prices. Losses in wheat extended to more than 9 cents near the close.

At the low point of the morning session representatives of cash houses were good buyers, but the rally was good for only partial recovery, corn showing the greatest strength.

The selling was general in all pits. Oats showed the best resistance, until near the close, when new low prices for the day were recorded on general liquidation and hedging. Factors influencing the selling were the ease with which the Government has obtained large quantities of wheat in the last few days, and the effect a possible Russian surplus may have on European needs.

At the finish wheat was 9 cents to 9¼ cents lower than the previous close, September $2.22@2.22¼. Corn was 3⅛c to 4¾c lower, September $2.04¾@½. Oats were 3⅛c to 4c lower, September, 87⅝@¾c. Soybeans were 4c lower, November $2.76.

AS MUCH AS 8C DROP IN CASH WHEAT LOCALLY

MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, July 29—In the cash grain market Tuesday wheat was 5¼@6¼c lower with late dealing 8c lower; sales totaled 77 cars. Corn was 3@3½c lower on sales of 4 cars. One car of oats sold. Sales were as follows:

TWO HANGED FOR KILLING MAN, SON WHO BEFRIENDED THEM

LANSING, Kan., July 29 (AP)—Two former carnival workers were hanged at the Kansas State prison early today for the murder of a man and his son who had befriended them.

The two, Cecil Tate, 22 years old, of Jacksonville, Tex., and George Gumtow, 21, of Battle Creek, Mich., went to their deaths at 12:11 a.m. for the murder of W. W. McClellan, a 60-year-old grain elevator operator, and his son Arnold, 36.

The McClellans were killed in a robbery that netted only $4.50 at Calista, Kan., last May 12. The grain elevator operator had given the pair jobs and otherwise befriended them. The two pleaded guilty.

The hangings were the fourth and fifth since the Kansas capital punishment law was revived in 1935.

SOIL PAYMENTS TO BE RESUMED WITH NEW FUNDS

Farmers to Get Cash and Materials Under $265,000,000 Program for 1947.

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—The Agriculture Department gave its far-flung AAA field service the word yesterday to "resume operations" in signing up farmers to carry out its $265,000,000 soil conservation program for 1947.

Under the Agricultural Adjustment Agency program, farmers receive cash and materials—principally lime and fertilizers—for carrying out approved soil and water conservation practices. With its set-up of more than 100,000 farmer committeemen, the project was inaugurated in the early days of the New Deal. It was halted two months ago when the House voted to appropriate only $165,000,000 for it this year and to end it altogether next year.

The AAA had worked out a $300,000,000 program and President Truman had recommended that amount in his budget report to Congress.

Congress finally voted $265,000,000 for this year. Although this is lower than the sum asked, the soil program is being resumed on the same basis as originally planned. Officials say most of the county AAA officers will be able to keep present staffs. Under the appropriation bill first passed by the House, they faced sharp curtailment.

Although the amount appropriated for administrative expenses this year is about 18 per cent less than last, the bulk of the reduction in personnel and other expenses will be absorbed in Washington and in state offices.

The administrative fund is in addition to the $265,000,000, which will go for payments to farmers.

A farmer may sign up for any number of approved practices, but he is promised only a certain amount of money, with the provision that he will get additional payments if any money is left after all farmers have been paid their minimum guarantees.

Officials say the minimum amount promised all farmers is expected to total about $265,000,000, the sum Congress voted.

The program will be cut sharply next year. At the insistence of the Senate, the House agreed to go along with an appropriation of $150,000,000 for 1948.

BARRACKS CEMETERY WEEDS AWAIT FUNDS FROM CAPITAL

Representatives of the 138th Infantry Memorial American Legion Post 357 have received assurance the weeds and grass at the Jefferson Barracks National Cemetery will be trimmed as soon as the necessary appropriation, expected momentarily from Washington, is received.

The legion post passed a resolution Friday criticizing conditions at the Barracks cemetery and the two other national cemeteries in Missouri—at Springfield and Jefferson City. Copies were sent to President Truman, Missouri members of Congress and to Adrian L. Bushman, the legion's state department head.

Andrew K. Hill, appointed superintendent at the Barracks cemetery last April, said it would take only a week to clean up the cemetery as soon as additional funds are available to put on more laborers.

Flashes of Life

By the Associated Press.

Fish Story.

MENOMINEE, Wis.—Theodore Olecho of Chicago landed a 40-inch northern pike—but had to leave the scene of his conquest in an ambulance.

Olecho, attempting to drag his prize to the shore of the Red Cedar river, was jerked off his feet by the struggle and fractured his left leg on a log. Unable to get up, he continued to play the fish and landed it eventually without assistance.

Window-Busting Firemen.

NEWTON, Ia.—Firemen Dave Jones and Robert Hubler were practicing softball pitching when a toss got away from them and crashed through a window.

It's a Joke, Lady!

CHICAGO—A woman telephoned Bob Becker, Chicago Tribune outdoor editor, and asked: "Where can I buy a fish caller?"

Becker asked her to repeat the question.

"A fish caller," she insisted. "It's a little thing you sit in a boat with and blow on, and the fish come around so you can catch them."

"Well," Becker told her, "a duck caller I know about. A goose caller, a moose caller, a crow caller, yes. I've even heard about pig callers. But a fish caller, no. I'm afraid someone's been kidding you."

Hit by Flying Saucer.

WATERBURY, Conn., July 29 (UP)—Aaron J. Malley was hospitalized today—because he failed to see a flying saucer. The saucer hit him on the head. Calvin Harris was arrested for saucer-tossing and released in $1000 bond on a breach of the peace charge.

NICARAGUA BARRED FROM RIO MEETING

Election Result Could Bring Change in Pan American Decision.

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—The governing board of the Pan American Union decided yesterday by majority vote that Nicaragua should not be invited to the Rio de Janiero Inter-American Conference opening Aug. 15. A union official made the announcement after a two-hour discussion by the board.

He said that a member of those who voted against extending an invitation expressed the view that the way should be left open for Nicaragua to be represented at the meeting if the Central American country has a change of government which is recognized by a majority of the American republics.

Elections are scheduled for Aug. 3.

The current Nicaraguan government is headed by Benjamin Lacayo Sacasa, but is generally considered to be under the control of Gen. Anastasio Somoza, a former "strong-man" president.

DIES IN JAIL AFTER ARREST

Patrick Doolen, an Overland mechanic, died today in jail at Clayton where he was awaiting trial for peace disturbance. Police records show that he had served a three-year term in the United States penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., on a narcotics charge.

When Doolen, who said he lived in the 2200 block of Ashby road in Overland, was arrested last Thursday, officers reported he attempted to swallow some pills, which were then taken away from him. He later told his jailer he was a drug addict, but said he wanted to cure himself of the habit. He was 50 years old.

$150,000 FIRE AT MALDEN BELIEVED SET BY ROBBERS

MALDEN, Mo., July 29 (AP)—Fire believed of incendiary origin destroyed the Mitchell-Corder Wholesale Grocery warehouse and office here yesterday with loss estimated at $150,000.

An investigation started immediately resulted in highway patrolmen being given a pick-up order for three Negro men seen in that vicinity shortly before the fire in an old truck containing a battered Illinois license plate.

P. D. Watson, who has been acting as manager of the business since the owner, C. L. Mitchell was seriously hurt in an automobile accident June 9, said indications were the safe had been tampered with and that fire may have started from an attempt to blow the door from the safe.

Boy Hurt in Plunge From Truck.

James E. Tilley, 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Tilley 2020A Linton avenue, suffered head injuries yesterday when he jumped or fell from the rear of a truck driven by Eugene Borgschulte in the 2100 block of College avenue. Borgschulte lives at 1214 Shawmut place.

UE PARLEYS TO STUDY WAYS TO FIGHT USE OF TAFT LAW

The CIO United Electrical Workers will have conferences here tomorrow and Aug. 6 on "combatting employer efforts to use the Taft-Hartley law," it was announced today. The meetings will be at Musicians' Hall, 3535 Pine street.

William Sentner, president of the union's District No. 8, said similar conferences will be held in Kansas City, Cape Girardeau and Centralia, Mo.; Evansville, Ind.; Des Moines and Newton, Ia., and Moline, Ill.

Purpose of the meetings, the announcement said, is "to work out ways and means of maintaining in full all contract rights of the membership and combatting any and all employer efforts to utilize the provisions of the Taft-Hartley law to cut rates, introduce the speed-up and eliminate the rights and privileges now enjoyed by the membership."

U.S. Foreign Policy Too Little, Too Late, Too Loud; President, Congress Need Closer Ties

U. S., Like the Soviet Union, Is a Prisoner of Its Own Governmental System—Nation's Record in World Affairs Is Not Too Satisfactory.

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP

(Copyright, 1947.)

WASHINGTON, July 29

As the lawmakers head for home (and happy months of fence-mending), the best way to say a final farewell to the Eightieth Congress is to assess what it has done. And such an assessment, in turn, will be the best explanation of why this America, this great, wealthy, powerful and populous nation, is in these days like a giant bound in chains of his own devising.

History undoubtedly will hold that, in the domestic field, the most important single act of the Eightieth Congress was the statute unifying the armed services, jammed through hugger-mugger in the last days. Besides this, the Congress has shown itself significantly flabby in the presence of lobbyists. It has passed two political tax bills in the certain knowledge they would be vetoed. And it has placed on the statute books a labor law in which grave defects are already being discerned, even before it has come into full legal operation.

On the foreign side, largely owing to the commanding leadership of Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, the record is considerably better. What the President has ventured to ask for, the Congress has in general granted. Real milestones have thus been passed, as with the Greece-Turkey aid bill.

Too Little, Too Late, Too Loud.

Yet no one familiar with the desperate gravity of the world situation can be at all satisfied. American foreign policy, as developed by Congress and the Administration together since Jan. 1, has been too little, too late and too loud.

That is the only honest way to characterize the manner in which this country has thus far met the challenge of the Soviet Union's political and economic warfare against the Western world. And as one searches for the reason for the slowness, inadequacy and bluster with which we have met the Soviet challenge, a single curious and ominous fact begins to stand out.

The whole earth, in the years since the war, has been divided into two great factions, one led by the Soviet Union, the other led by the United States. And not the Soviet Union only, but the United States also, is in a strange way the prisoner of its own governmental system.

The imprisonment in their system of the Soviet people and their leaders must be obvious to any student of the ways of governments. All over the world men and women of good will sadly ask: "Why must there be this contest? Why cannot there be trust between nations?" The sad fact is that mistrust, suspicion and aggression are inherent characteristics of the Soviet system at present.

Cites Wartime Dispatches.

How can it be otherwise? As has been already pointed out in this space, even in wartime, when Soviet-American relations were at their warmest, intercepted dispatches of the Soviet Ambassadors in Washington proved to be mere "Daily Worker" editorials. The Canadian Royal Commission investigation has disclosed no less than five bitterly competing Soviet espionage nets, which can, of course, only compete by reporting sensations and horrors. Besides these, the Kremlin derives some information from the executives of its subordinate Communist parties. While the Kremlin bases its policy decisions on data from such sources, what else could be expected except what has occurred?

Thus there is no way to turn the Kremlin from its course, except to confront it with hard facts—facts of failure in aggression, facts of prosperity and stability in the Western world which it is attacking—facts which cannot be ignored or minimized by dialectics. This is the American task, if the Western world is to survive.

But in this task in turn we are too loud, because the President cannot move the Congress to such action as the Greece-Turkey aid bill without driving the lawmakers forward with the whip of sheer terror.

We are too little, because the Administration dares not present to the hostile Congress programs which will cover the full needs of the world situation.

And we are too late, because such programs as are presented must always wait on a long process of preparation and education, both of congressional and of public opinion. We, too, in short, are prisoners of our governmental system. Our founders designed it in a time when the best government was the least government. It has the defect of its virtue; it is always in danger of not working at all.

In these times, a government which does not work, which is impotent to act, is a short way to national disaster.

Congress has its ample quota of petty politicians, blind reactionaries and narrow men complacently wallowing in their own ignorance, but the real fault is not with Congress, which is simply an average body of Americans, with plenty of decent, industrious intelligent men to balance against the bad apples in the barrel. The real fault is with the system. Under our system the Executive has a monopoly of information, but no power to act without the Congress, while the Congress lacks information by which to judge the Executive's proposals for action.

The result is semi-stalemate. The stalemate can be overcome only by developing the insufficient beginning of the so-called bipartisan foreign policy into an entirely new relationship between the Administration and the Congress. The urgent need for this new relationship is the real lesson of the last six months.

Inert U.S. Role Reflected Again In Indies War

90,000,000 Asiatics Abandoned Politically at Potsdam, Weller Says.

Editor's Note: George Weller, one of the last to escape from Java ahead of the hot breath of the Jap invaders, revisited Indonesia during the first civil war. Herewith he furnishes a roundup of the new outbreak there.

By GEORGE WELLER

The Chicago Daily News-Post-Dispatch Special Radio. Copyright, 1947.

WARSAW, July 29.

Ninety million brown-skinned natives of southeast Asia, abandoned politically by the United States in the treaty of Potsdam, are now anxiously watching two erupting volcanos bury their villages in the burning lava of colonial war.

In Indochina, the French are trying to wipe out the Viet-Nam republic. In the East Indies the Dutch are battling with the Indonesian republic in a renewal of their earlier indecisive struggle.

Inequality of weapons is determining the first stage of today's colonial war in Java and Sumatra. Dutch armed columns find it easy to race along the hard-paved roads, except where republican engineers can slow them by breaking the dikes of the rice paddies.

The half-dozen patched planes which the Javanese seized from the Japanese probably have been destroyed in Dutch bombing raids. Furthermore, the Dutch have better discipline, better communications, more rifles, more artillery, a monopoly of the air and a tight naval blockade. They also have the borrowing power of the mother country, reinforced by loans from the United States.

The Indonesians have only their 40 million republicans on Java and their fanatical zeal, plus a near-monopoly of the food-producing areas of Java.

"We can lose 50 republicans to every Dutchman and still win the war," one Indonesian soldier told me.

Their two years of resistance to the Dutch have gained the Indonesians a certain respect in international eyes but no official status.

Leaders in Struggle.

Top Indonesia leaders are western-educated. The Communist party is weak and in the background. President Soekarno, popular and dapper spellbinder of the republican movement, preaches Thomas Paine, George Washington and Abraham Lincoln to the semi-illiterate masses.

Soetan Sjahrir, intelligent and politically adept former premier who has left to plead Indonesia's cause before India and the United States, is also a westerner by culture, and he is more inclined to parliamentary methods than the sly Soekarno. Both men are Indonesian patriots, but Soekarno collaborated openly with the Japanese during the war, while Sjahrir opposed them. The new premier, Amir Sjahrfoeddin, a gentle Gandhi-like figure, spent the whole war in a Japanese prison camp.

The Dutch are led by Lt. Gen. Hubertus J. Van Mook, born in the Indies. Van Mook is a moderate liberal, a highly adjustable statesman. For nearly two years he stood out alone against the Dutch military-naval group and property owners who demanded a free hand to clean up the Indonesian rebels. He held out for a moderate policy to keep the republic self-governing, but within the empire.

War marks the moral defeat of Van Mook's patient efforts and those of Sjahrir. Sjahrir has been frustrated by die-hard Indonesian generals who boast that they have "thrown every Dutchman into the sea" and by long-haired Moslem fanatics known as Laskarajat, who have pledged not to cut their hair until the Dutch are out of the Indies.

Makeup of Dutch Forces.

The Dutch army has many local brown soldiers from the island of Ambon, a onetime American naval airbase. Their morale is excellent and they hate the Javanese. The Dutch fighting forces consist of two groups: Enlistees and soldiers, drafted at home after four years of German occupation, and war-weary soldiers, redrafted in the Far East after four years' rotting in Japanese prison camps.

Both groups are disgusted at the slow progress of the Sjahrir-Van Mook negotiations. The former prisoners, some of whom owned modern homes in Javanese towns now held by the rebels, are angry at the long postponement of the fruits of the Allied victory over Japan. Like their commanders, they are in a mood for lancing what they regard as an ulcer of Asiatic independence deliberately left behind by the Japanese.

An immediate question that has Battle of Red Tape the First Step To Finding Actual War in Greece

By ROBERT C. MILLER

ATHENS, July 29 (UP)

In GREECE you fight a battle to find the war. Your weapons are perseverance and patience. Your enemies are the Government, red tape and bureaucracy. The victory you finally win is official permission to stay in the country long enough to look for the border war up in the hills of northern Greece.

The battlefield is Allen Police Headquarters. It is a decrepit building to which all foreigners must report within 48 hours after reaching Greece, for Greece today is a police state which requires day-to-day knowledge of your movements plus your mother's maiden name.

Unless you have a Greek friend for an ally, you go to the end of a long, sweating line of Americans, Englishmen, Turks, Armenians, Italians, etc., all seeking police permits.

Your friend tows you up two fights of rickety stairs and into a bare-walled room. In 60-mile-an-hour Greek your friend explains how important his dear American friend Robertos is to the Greek "cause." The man who listens patiently happens to be the police chief. He points to a very unreliable chair, gives you the equivalent of wait a minute.

You wait only a few minutes until the chief finds time to escort you to the registry room. You pass crowds jammed in the corridor, and feel a bit squeamish about cutting in front of them.

The registry is another undeco-

G.O.P. Purse Holders Check Marshall Plan

Decision Affecting Presidential Politics Is in the Making.

By DORIS FLEESON

WASHINGTON, July 29.

Bipartisan foreign policy, especially the costly Marshall plan to reconstruct Europe, is definitely scheduled for head-on encounter with the congressional power of the purse.

Plans were concluded during the closing hours of Congress for Senate appropriations members to join their House opposite numbers in a first-hand foreign survey. Republicans on these committees are both more conservative and more isolationist than their colleages on the Foreign Affairs Committees.

Senate Appropriations Chairman Bridges called his full committee of 21 off the floor Saturday afternoon to make a personal plea to them to accompany him to Europe this fall. He warned them that all indications are that they will be asked to furnish billions for the Marshall plan and that they needed more information for the task.

Tour Called Stern Duty.

He assured them that this would not be just another junket for which they could properly be criticized, but a stern duty. Army and Navy spokesmen were on hand to explain the ship and air transport which are available at Government expense.

While the appropriations questioners prepare for their journey, Senate Foreign Relations Chairman Vandenberg, principal pillar of the bipartisan policy, will be in South America, helping the administration with the Pan-American conference at Rio. He has no present plans to visit Europe.

The situation is building toward another historic foreign-policy debate that will cross party lines and have a profound effect on presidential politics.

The Democrats are fairly well united in support of the President and Marshall. One, Senator Hatch of New Mexico, has already challenged the principle that appropriations committees can, by withholding funds effectively, veto actions approved by the President and both Houses. Significantly, Senators Taft and Ferguson sprang to their feet to insist that appropriations had no obligation to recommend the full amount

Belgium-Netherlands-Luxembourg Customs Union Gaining Favor as Starting Point for Uniting Europe

Benelux the Reverse of Churchill's Plan for U.S. of Europe, Because It Began by Tackling Concrete Economic Problems First—Program Is Non-Political.

By RICHARD L. STOKES

A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 29.

The customs union of Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg, known for short as Benelux, is coming more and more into favor as a possible substitute for Winston Churchill's United States of Europe.

When the Marshall plan was first broached, the three governments recommended study of their experiment. It has been discussed with approval at the Geneva trade conference. And now, before the French National Assembly, Foreign Minister Georges Bidault has pleaded that it should be taken as a starting point for a customs union of western Europe.

Spontaneous and non-political, Benelux is exactly the reverse of Churchill's approach, which envisaged a political federation first, with concrete problems left for subsequent solution. Benelux began with economic difficulties, the arrangement of which might lead in future to political consolidation.

The program of the three countries is to abolish tariff barriers by the end of this year, and to bring other economic factors into line during 1948. Belgium and Luxembourg formed an economic union, with common tariff and monetary systems, as long ago as 1922. The Netherlands became a new partner in July 1946, when a body of experts, called the Benelux secretariat, was formed at Brussels.

Hopes for Expansion.

The scheme is capable of indefinite expansion, and its promoters hope it will extend far beyond mere frontier duties. Other countries are expected to join. Denmark is earmarked as the next probable recruit. Thus there would emerge a sizeable bloc of countries among which two of the major plagues on commerce and travel—customs duties and different monetary systems—would be eradicated.

The secretariat prepared a common tariff for the Benelux Union, which has been the basis of negotiations by three delegations at Geneva. It is a compromise between former Belgian and Dutch tariffs. The figures are generally lower than the Belgian and higher than the Dutch. The significant points are that the negotiations have not been allowed to become issues of party politics and that the compromise was framed item by item for each commodity. A bargain was struck between competing interests in every instance.

The inclusion of the Netherlands in the Belgian-Luxembourg partnership encountered serious obstacles. They were not allowed to impede the long-term advantages to be expected from the formation of a trading unit with an industrial potential among the first four or five in world commerce.

There was a historical quarrel of long standing between Belgium and the Netherlands. In the past two centuries they were united only for a brief and unhappy period of 15 years, as a result of the Napoleonic wars. With the Brabacon revolution Belgium regained its independence of Holland. The period of 1815-1830 is still known in Belgium as "the occupation."

Integration Difficult.

Holland and Belgium were not easy to integrate economically because Holland has built specialized industries which compete with Belgian manufactures, while Flemish dairy farming could be endangered by Holland's more highly organized agriculture. Both recovered from the German occupation in different ways. Belgium was liberated in September 1944, and became an Anglo-American military base, with Antwerp on the principal route of supplies. The Allied reverse at Arnheim left most of Holland in German hands until the spring of 1945.

Stimulated by American Army expenditures, Belgium took a free and easy course, as a result of which the cost of living rose steeply and more rapidly than wages, though these became three times the prewar figure. Holland, with greater losses, adopted strict production and rationing controls,

A.M.G. Urges Halt in Reparations Until Reds Agree to United Reich

By MARGUERITE HIGGINS

A Correspondent of the New York Herald Tribune and St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

BERLIN, July 29.

The American Military Government has recommended to Washington that the Soviet Union should receive no additional reparations allocations from western Germany until it agrees to fulfill the Potsdam provision for uniting Germany, it was learned today.

The question of resuming reparations deliveries arose as America and Britain, in going ahead with a program for making their fused occupation zones self-sustaining, began working out a new industrial level plan.

Western European countries and the Soviet Union are seeking assurance that revival of the western occupation zones would not jeopardize their rights to obtain compensation from Germany for damage during the war. Last week, the Soviet Union asked specifically for six Ruhr steel plants having a capacity of 13,000,000 tons, arguing that even with increased industrial levels in the west, this would be surplus capacity.

The original American order for suspension of reparations deliveries was announced in April 1946, when it became obvious that the unity of Germany was being blocked by the Soviet Union and France. The original level of industry and the reparations plan worked out for Germany were based on the premise that it would be an economic whole.

Some top occupation officials, including Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American military governor, believe that all reparations allocation, including those to France and other western European countries, should remain suspended pending a clear decision on whether Germany will be divided into two parts with different governmental systems or become a united country. Germany's future boundaries are important, these experts say, because they determine what industries are vital to its minimum needs and what are dispensable for reparations.

However, it is realized that reparations for western Europe involve urgent political considerations, particularly with regard to France.

The A.M.G.'s views are currently being presented at Washington by Maj. Gen. William H. Draper, chief occupation economist, who will participate in the forthcoming British-American Ruhr coal talks.

The United States stand with respect to Russia is considered here to mean there is no chance of the Soviets obtaining the huge steel plants from the Ruhr which they have requested.

Whether the over-all plan on further allocations for the Soviet Union from either of the western zones will become a British-American government policy is less clear. The British are inclined to take a softer attitude toward the Soviet Union in these matters. If reparations deliveries to western Europe are recommended, the British may ask for some token allocations to the east as well.

In this event, the Americans have an alternative suggestion. The A.M.G. believes that in the case of the Soviet Union the most that should be done is to earmark certain plants for the Soviet Union, with the provision that dismantling and delivery begin only if and when the Russians agree to live up to their commitments for creating a central German government and uniting the nation economically.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

The Railroad View Again

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Instead of accepting at full face value the statements of politicians without practical knowledge of rate procedures, as indicated in the editorial in the Post-Dispatch of July 16, "Bulwinkle and Tidelands," why not discuss the subject with the traffic managers of some of your St. Louis manufacturing concerns?

It would be enlightening to the Post-Dispatch to learn, from men who are familiar with shipping, some of the basic reasons for the Bulwinkle bill; why rate conferences are a necessary part of the vast nationwide interlocking transportation system. I am sure that you will not be told about interpretations or theories. It will be basic and founded on practical experience and knowledge.

I might venture to say that any man with practical shipping knowledge would say that abandonment of rate conferences would result in an immediate freezing of freight rates at the then current level. This would mean that requests for adjustments and new rates —and it has been estimated conservatively that they are in excess of 600 weekly—would have to be heard individually by the Interstate Commerce Commission, with interested parties, shippers, competing manufacturers and carriers participating. Nationally-known traffic men have stated that "hopeless confusion" would result in a few months.

Former Assistant Attorney General Wendell Berge and members of his staff were asked during the Seventy-ninth Congress Senate hearing on the Bulwinkle bill if the anti-trust division of the Department of Justice had devised a workable substitute for rate conferences. There was no response other than that there is "an area of permissible collaboration." No definition of the "area of permissible collaboration" was ever forthcoming although the question was repeatedly asked.

About all that could be concluded was that Mr. Berge and his assistants were engaged in a maneuver which they hoped would ultimately bring a fistful of power to the Department of Justice, a power that could deal either life or death to the keystone industry of the nation.

Renters Plan to Vote

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

A group of permanent hotel guests banding together for the next election wishes to thank the Post-Dispatch for its efforts on our behalf.

No one would have objected to a 15 or 20 per cent raise but 100 per cent has been the raise in most hotels and it goes to as high as 300 per cent which, in view of the heavy taxation and the extreme high cost of living, is decidedly unfair.

It seems that the consumer has to pay it all. It never occurs to those who are riding high that they could give the receiving end a break by cutting down on their extra dividends and high salaries. How long can this keep up?

We have adopted a slogan, "Anyone But Kaufmann or Albanese," for the next election.

VOTER.

Thanks From Hawaii

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Your excellent editorial of July 5, "The Forty-Ninth State?" is sincerely appreciated by the people of Hawaii.

After passage of Hawaii's statehood bill in the House of Representatives on June 30, the national press, in its characteristic style, rallied once again to the support of Hawaii's 50-year struggle to obtain statehood.

It is hoped that the press generally will continue to support Hawaii's statehood aspirations. H. R. 49, Hawaii's statehood bill, is now awaiting action by the Senate. Public opinion seems to indicate that the Senate will act favorably.

GEORGE H. McLANE,
Executive Secretary, Territory of Hawaii, Hawaii Statehood Commission.

Special Privileges at the Opera?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Last Wednesday I attended the Muny Opera and arrived at the lower parking lot about 8:15 to find a policeman blocking the way with a wooden horse. The car in front of me had gotten in so I asked "How come?" I was told there was a special parking area for those who have permits.

At 8:30 there was still space for cars in the special area.

I called the Municipal Opera Association, which at first said the permits were only given to invalids and patients of the Veterans Hospital, but on closer questioning admitted that certain others were given permits. The list was not available.

So there is a special parking area for the few, and it is at YOUR Municipal Opera.

I have made the same request of the Mayor's office, with a promise of an answer. I for one think that if there is nothing improper in this permit practice the list would be available.

SEASON TICKET HOLDER.

Travel Is So Broadening

Most members of Congress will travel during recess. Never before, says the Associated Press, has there been a group of legislators with such determination to collect first-hand information. This is fine. We wish the travelers well, and would like to see them off with a basket of fruit and complete itinerary.

First stop, a house—any house. A house is rapidly becoming a display piece in these United States, thanks largely to the failure of Congress to deal with the nation's major problem. Traveling Congressmen should look at this house carefully, before Americans all belong in tepees.

The next stop might be somewhere abroad. Practically anywhere abroad should be broadening enough. First the touring legislators ought to see one hungry child, in the interest of continuing our foreign relief program. They might study one propagandized Bulgar to see what our Voice of America broadcasts are intended to overcome, if Congress will let them. And they might question one frightened inmate of a displaced persons' camp, to see why they should have passed the Stratton bill for the admission of screened DPs.

Also the Congressmen should have tea with one hard-headed Soviet general, who always says No. Money for the Marshall plan, the rebuilding of Europe and containment of Soviet power is yet to come.

Upon returning home, the tourists might look at an Army post. Let them see an empty tank. Why is it empty? Because there are no soldiers to put in it. Why not? Because volunteering has fallen off and Congress failed to pass a universal training law to help build a defense.

Next the Congressmen ought to make a refreshing stop somewhere to pick up a social conscience, signs of which were sadly lacking in the last session. They could apply this discovery to broadening the social security program and raising minimum wages, and to health insurance.

A good side trip at this point would take in a coal field. The legislators could look upon the miners' huts and even, if they dared, drop down a shaft for a visit to the unsafe nether regions. This might instruct them as to why John L. Lewis is so hard to get along with, and why federal mine safety enforcement is needed.

No real tour would be complete without a visit to the Missouri Valley. Here the Congressman could look for levees. Any levee found intact wins a prize from the Army Engineers. Congress has shied at the idea of a Missouri Valley Authority long enough to deserve to see what lack of a regional plan has done to soil, homes and people of the Midwest.

Before disbanding the tour, the travelers might stop off in Kansas City, where dead men never tell how they voted. Congress didn't investigate the Justice Department's inaction in the Kansas City primary frauds, but a stuffed ballot (genus pendergastius) still ought to be worth a look-in.

On the way home the Congressmen might visit their least effective lobbyist. He is a fellow about five-feet-six, income maybe $2000, color anything, religion irregardless. He doesn't know many Very Important Persons. But the things he'll have to say every Congressman should hear. If he doesn't say them now, he'll say them in the next election. Good man to know, John Q. Bon voyage!

The Lucky Mr. Shearer

Judge Moore, we suspect, did Franklin Wells Shearer a favor yesterday in rejecting his request to withdraw his guilty plea and stand trial for tax evasion. The Maplewood automobile dealer just doesn't know when he is well off. Judge Moore had given Shearer two years in prison, but his offenses were so aggravated that a jury might have given him considerably more.

Shearer based his request for having the plea of guilty set aside on the ground that he had been badly advised by his attorneys. One of them, he said, told him that if he would pay up the back taxes and plead guilty, he would get off with a fine.

In bleacher language, Shearer seems to think he was buying a "fix." And since no fix was arranged, he wanted another day in court. This idea of cafeteria justice would not go down well with little people who know that if they err and get caught they will have no battery of highly paid lawyers, but whatever counsel they are able to pay or is appointed by the court.

Gov. Dewey visited the rodeo in Cheyenne, it having been the purpose of his western tour to get roped in.

Research, U.S.A.

The National Science Foundation which Congress has created grew out of the wartime experience of this country. It was proposed some two years ago by Dr. Vannevar Bush, who was director of the Emergency Office of Scientific Research and Development. The atomic bomb was only one, though the most dramatic, of the results which OSRD produced by bringing together a concentration of scientific effort under the national aegis.

Dr. Bush, and the scientists who worked with him, felt that the education of young scientists and the full and continuing support of research laboratories of many sorts called for help which the Federal Government ought to be giving. They were aware of the public interest involved in research in public health, agriculture, housing, military defense and other fields. In the first of these fields, for instance, the National Science Foundation will deal with cancer and heart disease through special commissions of scientists and public men.

In the words of a 50-man committee which Dr. Bush appointed to make recommendations with regard to scientific research in the United States: "A nation which depends upon others for its new scientific knowledge will be slow in its industrial progress. If colleges, universities and research institutes are to meet the rapidly increasing demands of industry and government for new knowledge, their basic research should be strengthened by use of public funds."

The bill just enacted by Congress makes that progressive step. It is a national adventure in self-enlightenment. In the years to come, it may be a source of wonderment to Americans that their country embarked on so sensible a course as late as 1947.

Progress and Problems in the Air

Scarcely a week goes by without the Army Air Forces being in the news with a report of some form of progress—a new speed record, the successful testing of a new type of plane, a fighter plane to be carried within a big bomber, an improved radar device. But this week a short item on jet planes indicates that this progress has brought a swarm of problems with it.

The high speed of the jet bomber is a great asset with a few exceptions. The standard bomb casing is aerodynamically inadequate since it cannot stand the violence of the air blast when the bomb is dropped from a plane traveling 500 or more miles an hour. Turret-mounted guns interfere with the air flow over the plane's structure and yet heavy gun power is essential to protection. (Carrying of a fighter plane in a bomber's belly may be a partial answer to this.)

Navigation of high-speed jet planes is another problem. For instance, a fighter at 40,000 feet has about three hours' endurance at 500 m.p.h., but at the low altitudes at which ordinary planes travel it can consume all its fuel in something like 40 minutes. And a tiny navigational error, made high in the air, magnifies into a tremendous one when the pilot gets low enough to identify landmarks.

These are but a few of the difficulties arising from planes now in use or undergoing tests. Yet the Army last month awarded a contract for design of a plane that would be capable of flying faster than 2200 miles an hour and have a ceiling of 60 miles. The scientists, technicians, mechanics and pilots are confident that they can solve the problems that their inventiveness creates.

In the research laboratories and on the proving grounds of the major nations of the world, the struggle for the air supremacy of tomorrow is going on at a furious pace. The United States cannot afford to fall behind. If war should come and we are behind in technological developments and pilot models, the great industrial setup that has won two world wars for us would not have a chance to get into production. There must be no parsimony when it comes to funds for scientific research and development.

What, No Tyranny?

The amicable agreement between the United States Government and the State of California, permitting continued withdrawal of tidelands oil under existing state permits, should make some faces an appropriate red. Attorneys General, Governors and members of Congress who fought to have the Federal Government quitclaim its right to these vital reserves of fighting oil forecast dour things if this were not done.

If the federal claim to tidelands were upheld, they predicted, there would be federal oppression of state's rights all the way up to seizure of reclaimed parts of San Francisco, Boston and Chicago. That was palpable nonsense to others when it was uttered, and it must be so even to its one-time proclaimers now.

Arrangements are being worked out smoothly between Federal and State Governments, with a notable absence of invasions, depredations or alarms. The states are to continue to have a right to do everything but waste for private profit the reserves the nation needs to keep for its defense. Should not all this be a powerful incentive to refrain from baseless talk of state's rights the next time there is a temptation to drag that subject into an issue to which it is not germane?

Even in the summer doldrums, an acceptable substitute for "The Voice of America" is not to be found in that program entitled "The Voice of Ohio."

Duty for the ICC

The Western Association of Railway Executives has read and replied to our attacks on the Bulwinkle-Reed bill systematically, but it still confuses our position with that of the Department of Justice. Today's letter shows the error.

Like the Justice Department, the Post-Dispatch thinks groups of railroads should not be immune from the anti-trust laws to "screen" rate proposals by the member railroads. The department may have no sound alternative, but a workable solution in keeping with American regulatory tradition has been outlined in these columns.

Competition among railroads must be held within limits. The railroads have usurped, and want to keep, the power to restrain competition among themselves. We want the ICC, to which the power rightly belongs, to use it. The ICC could do so by enlarging its staff to the same extent that the railroads can dispense with rate committee personnel when the ICC takes over. So the Western Association's picture of ICC waste and a log jam isn't true.

Even the ICC will not necessarily use the power well. The ICC wants the railroads to have it, apparently because its members had rather be the supreme court of transportation than the administrative agency it is meant to be.

But the ICC can be reformed in its ways, whereas if the railroads get the power, there is no hope they will use it in the public interest. The State of Georgia and the Justice Department, which have sued them for usurping it, cite evidence showing they have grossly misused it.

New congressional orders to the ICC are needed—just what cannot be known until the Supreme Court interprets the existing laws. But the railroads want Congress to forestall the court and whitewash them instead. That is why we drew the analogy with the abortive attempt to surrender tidelands oil to the states before the court could rule.

We repeat: The railroads expect a verdict of guilty. Otherwise they would be eager for judgment instead of for absolution from Congress.

Landlords who are asking for six months' rent in advance are asking for it.

Russia vs. America on the Air

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Voice of America broadcasts have proven far more effective than Moscow Radio's attempt to reach United States, writer says; our programs offer clear reception; Russians like them because they omit propaganda; Soviet epithets are good evidence of their effectiveness.

Neal Stanford, Washington Correspondent for the Christian Science Monitor, in the American Mercury

The broadcasts which the United States began beaming to the Soviet Union last February are effectively piercing the iron curtain. They are actually reaching into Russian homes. And they are also, it appears, getting under the Politburo's skin.

These American broadcasts to the Russian people were on the air less than two months when Moscow assigned its ablest political satirist and polemicist, Ilya Ehrenburg, to attack them.

Considering that the British Broadcasting Corp., which also hurdles the iron curtain with daily newscasts, had to wait 18 months for the Soviet regime to recognize its effectiveness with a polemic, Washington officials were genuinely pleased to discover so soon that they were achieving their objective—to be heard.

Since Moscow directs four and a half hours of programs westward to the United States every day to America's one hour going eastward, it might be expected that the loudest complaints would be heard in this country. There are four reasons why Washington does not give two kopecks for the psychological warfare being conducted against the United States by Radio Moscow:

Why Soviet Programs Fail

First, the number of Americans who listen to the Soviet programs, either to the four hours of English or the half hour of Yiddish broadcast daily, is infinitesimal.

Second, reception in the United States of the Soviet broadcasts is very poor. Moscow's propaganda comes in direct, without benefit of relay.

Third, the broadcasts are made up of blatant propaganda rather than news, and have no appeal for listeners searching for facts.

Fourth, America's free press and free speech provide Soviet propaganda with much better ways of contaminating the American mind. Americans who want to keep abreast of the party line have the Daily Worker, the Soviet Embassy publications and scores of fellow-traveling periodicals operating openly in the United States —all of which can be followed much more easily than Radio Moscow.

The four reasons why Washington is unconcerned by Moscow's shortwave programs to the United States, however, turn out to be the ones that have caused the Kremlin to react so violently to America's brief try at reaching the Russian people.

First, the Voice of America comes in strong and generally clear in the U.S.S.R. This is because Washington relays the Voice of America to Russia via powerful transmitters at Munich.

Second, whereas Moscow's shortwave programs are mostly propaganda, the Voice of America is just the reverse. Its hour program that hits Moscow at 9:00 p.m. is roughly divided into three parts—20 minutes of news, 20 minutes of music, and 20 minutes of features on American science, art, politics and education. The news reports read like any American press summary of the day's events.

Here are no propaganda phrases and accusatory comments such as appear in every Soviet broadcast; no snide references to Soviet policy or personalities; no charges of Soviet imperialism, duplicity or reaction.

Transmission by Grapevine

If there is a train wreck in the United States of any size, it is mentioned. If there is a strike, a riot or a lynching it also gets covered. Washington tries not to play the news up or down—just to record it.

A third reason why the Kremlin has taken offense at the Voice of America is that the American programs regularly give the Russians news items the Politburo has killed or censored. The Russians, then, have a real incentive to listen to American broadcasts.

The fourth, and most important reason, however, why Moscow so quickly panned the Voice of America, is without doubt that it was winning listeners daily. Washington daily learns of both Soviet officials and ordinary Russian citizens tuning in regularly.

There may be only 75,000 shortwave receiving sets in Russia today capable of picking up the Voice of America broadcasts. But there is a grapevine in the Soviet Union that quickly spreads whatever American news is heard. Where one Russian listens to the American newscasts, 10 get it second hand, and how many third, fourth, and fifth hand is anyone's guess.

It Means a Better Life

From the Public Employee

When rains brought floods to the Missouri valley, damage amounted to millions of dollars; thousands of people were made homeless. Equally heavy rains fell in the Tennessee river valley but there were no floods; no damage was done; no one was made homeless.

We need not have floods and devastation in the Missouri valley. The Tennessee Valley Authority stopped floods and destruction along the Tennessee and its tributaries. A Missouri Valley Authority could serve the people in that basin equally well.

Senator James Murray of Montana has proposed that Congress establish a Missouri Valley Authority. He is being bitterly opposed by utility companies and by chambers of commerce throughout the valley. If that opposition is successful we will continue to have floods and destruction and tragedy. The people will pay.

Senator Murray's bill can be passed. It would aid another big section of the country with flood control, power, navigation, reforestation, soil conservation and refertilization. It would bring a better life.

Between Book Ends

'African's Safari to U.S.A.

I HAVE TWO COUNTRIES, by Mbonu Ojike. (John Day Co., New York.)

Continuing his plea for Nigerian independence as set forth in his "My Africa," Mbonu Ojike in this second work covers his experiences in America since his arrival in 1939. It is "the education of a Nigerian" in both schooling and things American.

From Lincoln University in Philadelphia, he went on to Illinois University, where he worked as assistant janitor when funds failed to come from home. Here he also spread truth about the culture of Africa—a surprise to those who inquired about the "primitiveness" of the dark continent. He received his B.S. from Ohio State and then went on to Chicago for graduate study.

When a fellow Nigerian was refused admittance to the medical school of that university, he asked, genuinely puzzled: "Why should a white, Christian college train a white doctor to come to cure Nigerians and at the same time refuse to train a Nigerian to go home and cure his people?"

Ojike was appalled at the poverty of the American Negro. "I was convinced that in only a few countries today is there real freedom for the black man. In my country it is imperialism which has just about driven from us self-confidence and pride in ways and things African. South Africa is another Mississippi. In Egypt and Ethiopia it is the same white man's burden—what Britain wants, what Italy wants—never what the African needs."

His first taste of segregation came with a lecture engagement in Norfolk, Va. "The Southern whites employ blacks to cook for them, nurse their white babies, wash their clothes, make up their beds, and often maintain illicit sexual relations with the black belles. And beside these same black citizens they pretend not to sit.

"What hypocrisy! What a paradox! . . . Call me not a Christian until you act what the Bible says . . . I come from a long ancestry of a people who know no discrimination, whose statutes contain no race segregation. . . ."

Paradox followed paradox. After being entertained and served refreshments in the White House, he was not permitted to drink his ice cream soda inside an establishment in Washington. Again, "How could I understand the white man's mentality when he attends a program in a black man's auditorium and sits beside the black man, but denies the black man, his fellow citizen, the right to attend a similar program in a white man's auditorium and sit beside the white man?"

Ojike is not always scathing in his judgment. He does try to appraise the good and bad in our culture. He cites, with deepest admiration, America's voluntary granting of independence to the Philippines as an example to the world.

HELEN CAIN.

A Man Named Fraser

HIGH PLACES, by Helen Todd. (J. B. Lippincott Co., Philadelphia.)

Helen Todd, born in St. Louis, who wrote the biographical "A Man Named Grant," now tells in her third novel about what happened in the steel town of Millfield and in the hospital there, where Andrew Fraser served first as chief surgeon and finally as director. The inside life of the hospital is convincingly disclosed. So is the inside life of Dr. Fraser, with his Scotch Covenanter conscience and his slow awakening to the claims of romance. There is the ancient triangle of two men and a woman which calls for more skill than the best doctor possesses, but Dr. Fraser manages to handle the case with such success that the triangle is made straight.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Six Months of Secretary Marshall

SIX months ago, George C. Marshall became Secretary of State to the accompaniment of such salvos of praises as are rarely accorded any public figure. As chief of staff during the war, he had won a towering reputation.

Having completed his temporary assignment in China, Gen. Marshall's desire was to retire to his country home at Leesburg, Va. He was 66 years old. He looked forward to well-earned peace and quiet in his latter years.

Sec. Marshall

At President Truman's urging he accepted the new task. Some of us were fearful, at the time of his appointment, that the salvos of praise were too extravagant. To make him sound like a miracle worker, in view of what he faced, was a disservice.

But after six months of stress and strain, of trial and testing, Marshall's reputation still looms large. It has been a crowded six months with events pressing one upon the other, beginning with the Moscow conference.

The Threat of Isolation.

Secretary Marshall has not by any magic altered the fundamental relationships that existed before he took office. Those who understood the realities of the Soviet-United States position never believed that he could bring about an overnight change.

What he has done in six months is to present the world with an alternative to chaos and catastrophe. The consequences of Marshall's Harvard University speech have been astonishing.

It is not merely that representatives of 16 European nation have met in Paris to try to agree on a plan for European reconstruction. Equally important is the fact that it has spurred the Soviet Union to compete in kind.

The Marshall plan may fail. It may fail because the competition between East and West settles into a competition for bigger and better armaments. Or it may fail, more immediately, because of the division in the Government in Washington between Republicans and Democrats, and the deeper feud between those who believe we must play a part in the world and those who believe our only security is in isolation. But failure will not be the fault of the author of the plan. It will come out of circumstances beyond the control of any individual.

A Political Asset.

Having more modesty than most public figures, Marshall does not claim all the credit for what has been achieved. His new planning staff, headed by George F. Kennan, has had a lot to do with shaping the Marshall plan. The fact remains, however, that it was Marshall who instituted the planning staff and manned it with some of the ablest men in his department.

One of the few critical attacks on Marshall followed his return from Moscow. An inspired news story said he had held himself too aloof at the Moscow conference and had not called on the other members of the delegation for their help and counsel. Those who watched him at close range refute this charge. While he is naturally reserved, he made every effort to include his colleagues in all important discussions.

Almost inevitably, with politics to the fore on the eve of a presidential contest, Marshall's preeminent position is recorded with a certain jealousy in the books of the Republican opposition. He is by all odds President Truman's greatest single asset.

Would G.O.P. Keep Him?

For his own part, Secretary Marshall has done everything he could from the beginning to keep politics out. He considers himself a nonpolitical agent of all the American people.

The position he occupies today is not unlike that which Cordell Hull held as Secretary of State under President Roosevelt. Like Hull, Marshall is the repository of enormous public confidence. There is one sure way to take the Secretary of State out of politics. That is for the Republican candidate next year to declare that if he is elected, he will keep Marshall in his present office. That is also the best way to insure the continuity of a bipartisan foreign policy.

DOROTHY THOMPSON

Russian vs. U.S. Espionage

THE testimony last week before a crowded congressional hearing of Victor Kravchenko, former Soviet purchasing agent in Washington, was regarded as sensational. He claimed that every responsible representative of the Soviet Union here is a spy, engaged in finding out American secrets and using, wherever possible, American Communists and fellow travelers.

The testimony in the Canadian spy case substantiates Mr. Kravchenko's charges, for we may assume that the Soviets operate abroad according to a uniform method and are more curious about the United States than about Canada.

Kravchenko

But people will ask: Do not all governments maintain intelligence services? Do not we, also, attempt to find out military and other secrets?

The answer is, Yes, we do, but with considerable differences — arising from the contrast between the Soviet and American states, as such. The function of an intelligence service in the American state is assigned to a small expert body, limited in scope and method and subject to public inquiry.

The State Is Human.

The function of an intelligence service in the Soviet state—as in the Hitlerite German state—is performed by all officials, and by non-official persons as well, such as writers and journalists. It is incumbent upon members of the Communist party who are citizens of other states and who, through the party structure, may even be performing services unconsciously and unintentionally.

Americans speak of the "totalitarian" state without grasping the essential philosophic difference between the American concept of the state and such states as derive from the Hegelian governmental philosophy, to which belong the German—in its apogee the Hitlerite—in less degree the Fascist, and the Russian via Karl Marx.

In American political philosophy the state is a necessary institution in which there is much potential evil. It is a creation of society. Moreover, the state functions by contract with society which can—by the will of the majority—extend or diminish its powers and which has hitherto refused it all authority over certain realms of life.

There is, in the American mind, no "mythos" of the state. It is a human institution which it is wise to keep an eye on lest, like other institutions, it overreach itself.

It is not associated with divine right nor can it claim exclusive loyalty over conscience. It can say "thou shalt not," but it cannot command "thou shalt" beyond the limit of defined law.

Worst Crime.

The Soviet state, on the contrary, does not recognize any rights or conscience in society, nor even any matters of taste—as in literature or art—apart from itself. It is, in itself, the ultimate right and good. If it says "steal," it is right to steal; if it says "lie," it is right to lie.

This does not mean that all Soviet citizens are thieves and liars, nor that Communists—who have the same concept of the authority of the supreme collective will—personally are wicked men. It means, however, that the evil in a deed committed for personal reasons is expunged when committed on order of the state, for in this philosophy the worst crime of all is to oppose the individual conscience to the collective will embodied in the supreme being of the state itself.

Communism, a Religion.

Because we do not properly understand this religio-philosophic concept of the state as God, we cannot understand the behavior of otherwise civilized Germans under the Nazis, nor the real difference between a Soviet citizen and an American. An American undertakes espionage as a job, to quit if or when he finds it distasteful or its methods at war with his conscience. A Soviet citizen, or a Communist, performs it as a natural duty to a higher being, the collective state, with which he is in subservient union.

To an American, it all seems like nonsense, but it proves "there's nothing either good or bad but thinking makes it so," and that we certainly don't live in one world.

4 COUNTY VICE-CHAIRMEN NAMED FOR CHEST DRIVE

Names of four vice-chairmen for the St. Louis County division of this fall's Greater St. Louis Community Chest campaign, were announced today by Mrs. Joel Y. Lund of Ladue, county chairman.

They were Mrs. Robert McN. Cochran, 6 Upper Ladue road, Ladue; Mrs. Walter E. Morris, 432 Parkwood road, Kirkwood; John Armbruster, real estate firm president, and W. Victor Weir, vice-president of St. Louis County Water Co.

Mrs. Cochran's district will be the central part of the county. Mrs. Morris will be in charge of that part of the county south of Manchester road. Armbruster will operate in the county's northern section. Weir will have part of the western section. The drive will begin next Oct. 16.

"Chimes of Normandy," which in its 70 years has acquired the aura of a classic, was given its fourth production by Municipal Opera last night. It may be summarized as a pleasant festival of song which seemed fully to satisfy the opening night crowd of 10,000 persons, perspiring in the hottest opening weather of the season.

Although "Chimes" is an old-fashioned comic opera which unfortunately has very little comedy, the Robert Planquette music is both prolific and beautiful. Occasionally there is a line of dialogue to knit a stitch in the plot, but, almost entirely, it is singing, giving Music Director Edwin McArthur a field night with his sensitive, energetic baton.

The old vehicle has been given a considerable pepping up. Producer John Kennedy had hired Hamilton Benz, a motion picture writer who specializes in that sort of thing, to re-do a libretto. Mr. Benz might just as well have started out from scratch and concocted a new plot in place of the prosaic one about the discovery of the miser's gold in the haunted castle and how Germaine, the heroine, was really the missing marchioness in place of Serpolette, the village madcap.

Anything he may have devised probably would have been an improvement. However, he did fashion some new lyrics for all the musical numbers except the traditional bells song and, perhaps, the magnificent "Silent Heroes" chorus. These lyrics are very jaunty in the modern vein, and give the piece a liveliness, if you can catch all the wording, that the plot doesn't have. To hear Serpolette warbling about wanting an outdoor swimming pool, with chinchillas when it's cool, will give you the idea. Or to hear Grenicheux, sweating in his suit of mail in the old chateau, voice the fear, in a fairly bad joke, that some passerby might stick a postage stamp on him.

Mr. Kennedy was fortunate in having signed Mack Harrell of the Metropolitan Opera for the leading role of the Marquis. Mr. Harrell's rich baritone is given an effortless, fluent production that is a treat to hear. His acting has authority and finish. He lends dignity to a role that might in less skilled hands seem pompous. Sharing honors with him was Eleanore Lutton as Germaine. Her soprano was strong, of good tone and nicely handled, so she held her own with Harrell in their duets. In addition, she gave a sauciness, even a tartness, to her characterization, that kept it on the right side if you like your wines dry and your heroines human.

As Serpolette, Margaret Spencer was vocally pleasing. We, personally, were inclined to think she overdid the business of being a madcap just a little. We hate to say it, but she's inclined to be a mugger. Anthony Marlowe, who sang a minor role with the Met here last spring, and once appeared on the Forest Park stage under the name of Albert Mahler, was Grenicheux, the fisherman. What might have been a nice lyric tenor was marred by a persistent vibrato. And we're afraid Mr. Marlowe has quite a lot to learn before he becomes a comedian. Emile Renan displayed a fine voice as Gaspard, the miser, and acted it well enough. The dependable Edwin Steffe came through as usual with a first-rate performance of the Sheriff.

Two other points deserve emphasis. Patricia Bowman, teamed with Rudy Kroeller, and with the chorus working out some spirited choreography, came through with one of the best dance numbers of the season in the first act ballet, "Country Dance." Watson Barratt's three sets of a Normandy village, the interior of a chateau and a sweeping steps in a park, were tops.

'LOOKS MORE AND MORE LIKE TWO WORLDS' TO EISENHOWER

BILLINGS, Mont., July 29 (AP) —Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said yesterday that "it looks more and more as though the United States will have to accept a two-world concept when we have been working for a one-world plan."

The Army chief of staff made the statement to a reporter at a refueling stop here en route to Alaska to inspect military posts.

He conferred with Tom Campbell, Hardin (Mont.) "wheat king," who told him that the Big Horn county will have the biggest wheat crop in history this year. Eisenhower commented that "food is the number one step in the Marshall plan."

RICHARD KENT of Whalewalk Farms, Orleans, Mass., former St. Louisans, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Mrs. John Ingram Albach (Margaret Kent), to Harris Sawyer Richardson Jr., of Winchester, Mass. The marriage is expected to take place in the early autumn after which the couple will live in Boston.

Widowed by the war when her husband, a naval lieutenant, was killed in line of duty in 1944, Mrs. Albach joined the Red Cross and served as a staff assistant with a clubmobile unit in New Guinea and the Philippines. She was graduated from Mary Institute and Gulf Park College, Gulfport, Miss. She has a younger sister, Miss Joan Kent, and a brother, Richard Kent Jr. Her family resided at 2 Glen Forest, Clayton, until three years ago when they moved permanently to their summer home in Orleans.

Mr. Richardson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harris S. Richardson of Winchester, was graduated from Dartmouth College and in the war served in the Navy from which he was discharged as a lieutenant commander.

Visiting Former Roommate.

MISS MARILYN MILLER, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jule P. Miller of Valley View Farm, Chesterfield, departed yesterday morning for Indianapolis, Ind., where she is the guest of Miss Betty Lyn Hartgitt, her former roommate at Pine Manor Junior College, Wellesley, Mass. Both were graduated in June.

The purpose of the visit is a houseparty for the bridesmaids, most of them classmates from Pine Manor, at Miss Hartgitt's wedding Sept. 3 to James Hutchison, also of Indianapolis. After a week of festivities, the group will disperse and Miss Miller will accompany Miss Hartgitt to Roaring Brook, Mich., for a short stay with members of her hostess's family at their summer home. Miss Miller is expected to return to St. Louis the middle of next month and make her second trip to Indianapolis two or three days before the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hathaway Jennings and their baby daughter, Lynn Hunt, are expected in St. Louis soon to visit Mrs. Jennings's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Earl Baker, 6320 San Bonita avenue. The Jennings family has been living in Kansas City for the last three months.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert E. Britt, 7042 Westmoreland drive, will motor to Douglas Lodge, Lake Itaska, Minn., next month, accompanied by three of their four children, Jody, Bobby and Kathleen. Mrs. Britt's sister, Miss Gerry Dierker, who makes her home at the Westmoreland address, will remain in St. Louis with Nancy Britt.

Miss Berthila Griffin, 5575 Waterman avenue, is visiting her sister, Mrs. James Morton Curran, in Montclair, N. J. After a short stay she and her sister will spend the rest of the summer at Cape Cod, Mass. Miss Griffin will return to St. Louis the early part of September.

MERCURY HITS 105 IN PARIS, ALL HEAT RECORDS BROKEN

PARIS, July 29 (AP)—The temperature reached 105.6 degrees Fahrenheit here last night, breaking all heat records. The previous record of 101 had attained only twice since 1873.

(The United Press said the weather bureau at El Golea in the central Sahara desert reported a top reading yesterday of 98 degrees.)

VATICAN CITY, July 29 (AP) —Pope Pius XII plans to leave tomorrow for Castel Gandolfo, papel summer residence in the mountains south of Rome, to escape the intense heat of the Roman summer, an informed prelate said today. The mercury reached 97 yesterday.

ST. LOUISANS CHOSEN FOR LUTHERAN BOARDS

Convention Directs Education Group to Study Teacher Training Program.

CHICAGO, July 29 (AP) — St. Louis clergymen and laymen were prominent among those receiving appointments to various boards yesterday at the centennial convention of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Missouri, Ohio and other states.

The following pastors were among those elected to the Board for Foreign Missions: Dr. William Arndt and R. C. Lange, St. Louis; Herbert Berner, Cincinnati. The following five laymen, all of St. Louis, also were named to the board: Teachers Paul G. Bouman and Theodore Stuckmeyer; Jack Fleischli, Louis Prange and H. F. Voertmann.

Pastors elected to the Board for Parish Education were: Prof. Paul M. Bretscher and Paul W. Streufert of St. Louis, and C. T. Spitz, Belleville, Ill. Teachers named to the board were George Brandt, Dr. Paul W. Lange, and H. F. C. Roehl, all of St. Louis. Laymen named were J. C. Wegner, John Goodbrake, and Robert E. Steinmeyer.

Pastors named to the Board for Visual Aids were: H. C. Bielenberg, Oil City, Pa., and Karl Maier, Waynesboro, Va. Teachers named were Prof. C. T. Brandhorst, Seward, Neb., and Walter F. Steinberg, Chicago.

Laymen named were: Paul Dahlmann, Dallas, Tex.; T. G. Eggers, St. Louis, and Henry Stoeppelwerth, Indianapolis.

The following were elected to the Board for Missions to the Blind: Pastors—W. C. Oswold, Victor Selle and Martin W. Strassen, all of Milwaukee. Laymen—Victor Miller, Milwaukee and Theodore Lay, Brooklyn, N. Y.

The following were elected to the Board for Missions to the Deaf: Pastors—William Buege and O. H. Lottes, both of Minneapolis, and C. C. Niemann, St. Paul. Laymen—Charles Brose, St. Paul, and J. P. Miller, Minneapolis.

Aiming "to speed relief" from the teacher shortage in its schools, delegates directed the Board for Higher Education to study the teacher training program and to act on its findings.

In other resolutions adopted, the delegates approved expansion of Concordia Junior College, Edmonton, Alberta; authorized creation of a reserve fund in lieu of insurance on synodical buildings, and appropriated $200,000 to be used in addition to $75,000 remaining from the purchase price for remodeling a recently acquired synodical office building in St. Louis.

The teacher-training resolution authorized the board to "take immediate action" on the findings of its survey with a view to channeling students into training programs. This, spokesmen said, included necessary staff appointments, curicula adjustments and expenses.

The resolution urged action "even if such action involves suspension of part or all of the high school department at the teachers' colleges."

(A United Press dispatch said that the convention decided that the schools should provide a general education for students who do not wish to enter the ministry. In the past, the schools have limited their education programs to ministerial studies.)

Appropriations included $35,000 to be used for promotion materials in connection with weekday religious education, the vacation Bible school work and Sunday school work. Another $3000 was authorized for a research study of these projects.

'BLUE BABY' RESTING IN OXYGEN TENT AFTER OPERATION

Surgeons Say It Will Take 48 Hours Before Result Will Be Known.

Deanna Berkel, 3-year-old Belleville "blue baby," was resting today in an oxygen tent at Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, after undergoing yesterday the operation for which $1722 was raised by public subscription.

Following the operation, surgeons said the girl was doing well, but emphasized that it would be at least 48 hours before they know whether the operation had been successful.

Deanna, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Berkel, 129 (rear) North Forty-fourth street, Belleville, is suffering from a congenital heart malformation which deprives her blood of oxygen, giving her skin a bluish tint. Surgeons yesterday constructed an arterial bypass around a defective heart artery.

Neighbors of the Berkels made the appeal for funds after physicians said they feared she could not live much longer if the operation were not performed.

RECOVERY OF GERMANY VITAL, SAY 13 RETURNED CLERGYMEN

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—Thirteen clergymen representing Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths returned yesterday from a 35-day visit to Europe convinced that "the recovery of Germany must be an essential part of every plan for the recovery of Europe and hence of the world." This conviction was expressed in a joint statement.

The clergymen said that "America may be confronted with this dilemma: Either to reorganize western Germany as a separate economic and political unit, or to pour endless sums into diseased, starving and dismembered Germany. The implications of this are likely to affect the life of every man, woman and child."

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. James H. Griffiths of New York said "We are reliably informed that over 5000 young boys disappeared—picked up on the streets of Berlin in the Russian zone." He added he understood this was also happening in Vienna. The boys were those 12 to 17 years old who especially showed leadership, he said.

FATHER MUENSTER FUNERAL

Funeral services for the Rev. Henry Muenster, retired Catholic priest, will be at 10 a.m. Thursday at St. Margaret's Church, Thirty-ninth street and Flad avenue. He was 78 years old and died yesterday of a heart ailment at St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis. He lived at 3624A Shaw avenue.

Father Muenster came to the United States from Germany in the early 1900s and retired around 1931. He formerly was pastor of parishes in Dahlgren, Ill., and Breese, Ill. Since his retirement he had been saying masses at St Margaret's Church although he held no official post there. Surviving is a brother, the Rev. Theodor Muenster of Brazil. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery.

GREETINGS BY TRUMAN TO BAPTIST CONGRESS

World Spiritual Co-operation Urged—Copenhagen Stir Over Negroes.

COPENHAGEN, July 29 (AP)—President Truman, in a message to the opening session of the Baptist world congress here today, urged spiritual as well as political and economic co-operation among nations to achieve a peaceful world community.

The text of his message:

"I am pleased to extend greetings to the seventh world congress of Baptists.

"The world today is desperately in need of positive action by the forces of good will and co-operation as it searches for a formula for lasting peace. By gathering together for the discussion of worship in an atmosphere of fellowship and brotherly love, the Baptists here are symbolizing the hope of mankind for a brighter tomorrow.

"To achieve a free and peaceful world community which all men of good will earnestly desire, it is necessary that we dedicate ourselves not only to political and economic co-operation, but to spiritual co-operation as well. To this end I pledge the best efforts of the United States. Please accept my best wishes for your success."

Newspapers reported that hotels and some private householders had refused accommodations to Negro delegates to the congress.

Congress headquarters said a great number of city residents had called after publication of the news offering rooms, apartments and houses and that there were not enough Negroes to fill the rooms offered.

The Rev. Niels Anhoej, public relations official, said the city of Copenhagen had offered the congress the huge town hall for a joint sermon, expressing regret that the official Lutheran church had refused the Baptists their church for the service.

The hotel association denied officially that there was any discrimination against Negroes. The director of one big hotel said privately, however, that most large hotels preferred not to house Negroes because they feared they would offend other American guests.

William S. Paley Weds Again.

MANHASSET, N. Y., July 29 (AP) — Mrs. Barbara Cushing Mortimer and William S. Paley, chairman of the board of the Columbia Broadcasting System, were married yesterday. Mrs. Mortimer until recently was a member of the editorial staff of Vogue magazine. Her marriage to Stanley G. Mortimer Jr. ended in divorce in 1946. Paley's first wife was the former Dorothy Hart. They were divorced last week in Reno.

Dodgers Put Ten-Game Winning Streak on Line Against Cards Tonight

Rice's Homer With Two On Ties Score in Eighth; Pinch-hit by Garagiola Gives Redbirds Triumph in Ninth.

By Dent McSkimming

Would it not be appropriate, as the Cardinals and the Dodgers take the field at Sportsman's Park tonight, for the umpires to call the contestants into the center of the diamond, for a review of the rules and instructions?

Would it not be fitting for the chief arbiter to warn:

"And the first guy that hits a drive so that it caroms off the top of the bleacher or pavilion wall and bounces into the air in a manner calculated to confuse, confound and otherwise harass us umpires, will be tossed right out on his ear."

And why not a parting word of blessing, such as "All right, go to your positions, and come out fighting, ready to protect yourselves at all times."

Anything Can Happen—and Does.

Of course, it's unfair to the players involved in this crucial meeting of pennant contenders, but it is the popular impression that when Redbirds and Dodgers meet in a battle for runs and victories in the National League race the officials in charge should be called referees instead of umpires. Actually, they were called a lot of other things, too, after the incident at Brooklyn 10 days ago when Ron Northey was deprived of a home run. That game, won by Brooklyn under protest, has been ordered replayed.

But, with a lead of seven full games, the Dodgers come to town in very favorable position. They are riding high on a wave of 10 straight victories and the team is functioning better just now under Manager Burt Shotton than it has behaved at any previous time.

Harry Taylor, first-year man who has won eight games, will be the Brooklyn pitcher tonight, opposed by game little Murry Dickson.

There will be another collision of mind and muscle under the lights tomorrow, and the series will be concluded with an afternoon game Thursday.

Beat Braves the Hard Way.

Manager Eddie Dyer and his Cardinals, jubilant over their ninth-inning conquest of the Boston Braves yesterday, hope to cut the Dodgers' first-place lead to four games before Thursday night.

That thrilling 8-to-7 triumph over canny Billy Southworth's flag contenders was something in the nature of a final test and preparation. It was as though Southworth said: "I don't believe you've got what it takes; let's see you beat my Braves before you talk about winning a pennant."

On the strength of some timely hitting, including doubles by Schoendienst and Kurowski, and singles by Moore and Marion, the Cardinals gave Red Munger a 4-to-0 lead over Boston as early as the third inning.

But for the fourth straight time the big redhead lost his pitching charm and was driven out of the box. The Braves scored six times on seven hits in their big fourth inning and led 6 to 4. They added a run off Howard Pollet's pitching in the seventh so that when the eighth inning rolled around the Redbirds needed three runs to tie.

Old Ducky Gets Things Going.

Responding to the clutch just as he used to do back in the mid-30s when he was a ringleader in the famous Gas House Gang, Joe Medwick led off the Cards' eighth with a single to center. Marty Marion, steeped in the same tradition, followed with a like single.

It looked promising for the Redbirds but southpaw Warren Spahn had pitched so expertly through all but the third inning that Manager Southworth gave no sign that he foresaw his pitcher's collapse. Del Rice changed the whole picture when he hit a tremendous drive into the right-center field pavilion for a three-run homer, tying the score. Even then, Southworth had sufficient faith in Spahn to allow him to finish the inning, which he did without further damage.

When Frank McCormick opened the Boston ninth with a single off Alpha Brazle there came a series of manpower switches that would have put Army's GHQ to shame. Dyer changed his pitcher, shifting to right-hander Ted Wilks; Boston sacrificed and got one man as far as third and another to first before pinch-batter Danny Litwhiler was called out on strikes to end the inning.

Then came the winning climax. Si Johnson took up the pitching for Boston and retired Kurowski. But he walked Slaughter. Then Ron Northey, pinch-hitting for Medwick, was robbed of a game-winning double when Tommy Holmes executed a sensational one-hand catch of a drive to deep right-center. Slaughter, off with the pitch, had rounded second base and his race to get back to first before Holmes's throw reached Frank McCormick was as desperate and spectacular as any play in the game. Fortunately, Holmes's hurried return was a bit off the target. In that tight spot Marion again inserted a single and the rugged Slaughter slid head-first into third.

Southworth here departed from precedent by ordering Pinch Batter Dick Sisler walked, sending Marion to second and filling the bases. With two out and a force play at all four corners of the diamond, Joe Garagiola went to bat in place of Wilks. Joe's first mighty swing met nothing but thin air, but his second met the ball solidly and his pulled drive almost took Frank McCormick's glove off. The ball rolled into right field as Joe reached first, Slaughter scored and the 7986 crowd roared the Cardinal victory yell.

It was a useful tuneup for tonight's meeting with the Dodgers.

Redbird Notes.

Of their 12 clashes, the Cardinals have won eight, the Dodgers four games.

Relief Hurler Ted Wilks has not lost a game since 1945. Last year he was credited with eight victories; yesterday's triumph was his second of this season.

Earl Torgeson homered off Munger and Tommy Holmes matched the blow, against Kenny Burkhardt, in making Boston's fourth inning a nightmare for Dyer.

Any and all of the five Cardinal pitchers who worked yesterday should be available for duty against the Dodgers. None went very far.

Although they dropped three out of four games to the Cardinals, Southworth's team batted .366 for the series. The Braves collected 55 hits in 150 times at bat. Their extra-base hits included 19 doubles and three home runs.

89 Youngsters Tee Off In National Junior Golf

PEORIA, Ill., July 29 (AP)—Golfdom's top teen-age shooters, 89 strong from 26 states, today teed off at Mt. Hawley's Country Club in a 36-hole qualifying round which launched the second annual National Junior Chamber of Commerce tournament.

After the medal play elimination trims the field to 64, the youthful swingers will hook up in four days of match play starting tomorrow and ending with a 36-hole title showdown Saturday.

Al Mengert of Spokane, Wash., is back for a title defense, but he faces stiff competition from a flock of kids who think nothing of cracking 70.

Seeks Victory No. 22.

The undefeated Kutis girls softball team, defending city champions will seek its twenty-second straight victory tonight in a game with the Duro Seams at North Side Park in a girls interpark exhibition contest.

Kutis, three time city champion, has just returned from a successful invasion of Chicago, Ill., where it beat the Match Corporation girls two straight, 3-2 and 6-2, behind the four-hit pitching in each game of Catherine Blankemeier and Dot Hartman. The Match Corp. club recently stopped the national softball champion Jax girls, after they had won 86 straight.

Zoldak to Hurl For the Browns At Washington

WASHINGTON, July 29 — Breathing easier in the knowledge they will not have to combat Terrible Ted Williams here, the Browns of Muddy Ruel were ready to open a three-game series with the Senators tonight.

Williams alone accounted for enough runs to wreck the St. Louis victory plans in their recent stop at Boston. The Senators, playing in a park of wide expanse, trail the American League in home runs with only 28 as compared to Boston's 57 and the Browns' 61.

With Bob Dillinger and Johnny Berardino once more available for action, the Browns' field again is intact but Jeff Heath is still weak from a recent flu attack. Sam Zoldak, usually effective against the Senators, will do the pitching for St. Louis tonight, his opponent will be Rae Scarborough.

Seeded Players Win In Southampton Meet

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y., July 29 (AP)—Defending champion Gardnar Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla., and most other seeded players in the fifty-seventh annual men's invitation tennis tournament at the Meadow Club were carded for second-round matches today.

The top-seeded Mulloy advanced yesterday at the expense of Joseph Scheerer Jr. of East Hampton, N.Y., 6-0, 7-5, and was scheduled today to meet Alan Watson of Short Hills, N.J.

Hatten Beats Cubs Sixth Time This Year, Three From Record

CHICAGO, July 29 (AP)—Joe Hatten, stylish southpaw of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who has beaten Chicago six times this season without a setback, needs only three more triumphs over the Cubs to tie the record for most victories over a club in one year.

The record of nine is held by Ed Reulbach of the 1908 Cubs, whose victims, strangely enough, were the Dodgers.

Hatten pitched a three-hit 4-0 shutout over his "cousins" yesterday to extend the Dodgers' winning streak to 10 straight, not counting the protested 3-2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals July 20. It is the longest winning streak of the season in the National League.

Dodgers Break Out in Ninth.

Held to three hits in eight innings by Lefthander Johnny Schmitz, the Dodgers started a ninth inning assault when Jackie Robinson drew a walk and raced to second when the fourth ball was a wild pitch. Pete Reiser also walked and Carl Furillo bunted safely to load the bases. Robinson scored the first run when First Baseman Phil Cavarretta fumbled Dixie Walker's grounder. Singles by Bruce Edwards and Pee Wee Reese off Relief Pitcher Emil Kush brought in two more tallies.

Johnny Vander Meer, beaten in his last five appearances, handed the Giants their third shutout of the year and also halted the Giants' homer-hitting streak which had gone through 15 straight games, one short of the National League record.

In the only two American League games, the New York Yankees increased their first place margin over the idle Boston Red Sox to 10 games by defeating the Detroit Tigers, 5-1 and the Philadelphia Athletics won over the Chicago White Sox, 5-3.

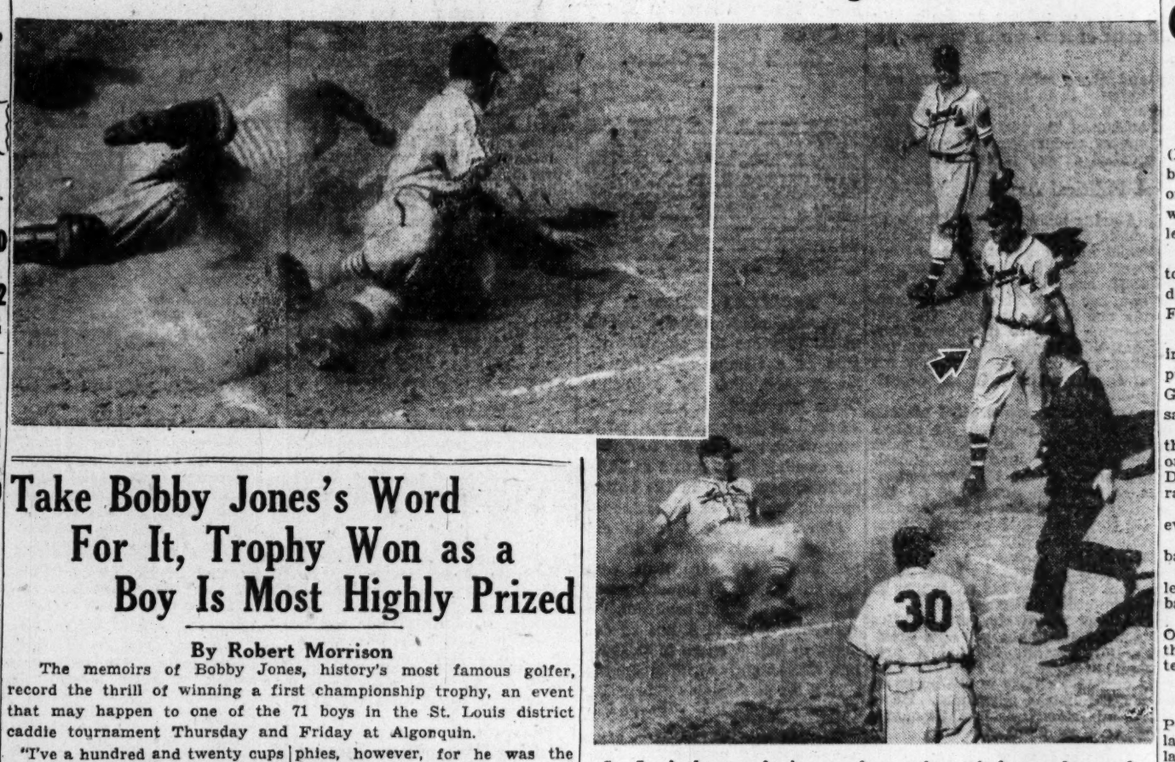

Another One for Raschi.

Rookie Vic Raschi, an importation from Portland of the Pacific Coast League, treated a Yankee Stadium crowd of 64,887 paid to some fine chucking as he held the Tigers to six hits in besting Hal Newhouser.

Newhouser also allowed only six hits, but three walks and a pair of Tiger errors proved damaging. Johnny Lindell socked him for his seventh homer.

Hank Majeski smashed a two-run homer in the last of the ninth to win for the A's over the White Sox.

Cards Get Down to Earth in Beating Braves

St. Louis hopes of victory alternately sank low and soared high in yesterday's ding-dong battle at Sportsman's Park. Above, left, ERV DUSAK is out at the plate in the fourth inning on Holmes's throw to CATCHER PHIL MASI. At the right, ENOS SLAUGHTER is shown sliding into first base to avoid a double play. FIRST BASEMAN FRANK McCORMICK (ball in right hand) just received the throw from Holmes. Slaughter was well past second base when Holmes caught Pinchbatter Northey's long drive. MANAGER DYER (No. 30), in foreground, coaching, and sweating. Slaughter scored the winning run.

Take Bobby Jones's Word For It, Trophy Won as a Boy Is Most Highly Prized

By Robert Morrison

The memoirs of Bobby Jones, history's most famous golfer, record the thrill of winning a first championship trophy, an event that may happen to one of the 71 boys in the St. Louis district caddie tournament Thursday and Friday at Algonquin.

"I've a hundred and twenty cups and vases now, and 30 medals," Jones wrote in 1927, "but there's one little cup that never fails of being kept well polished."

That was the trophy Jones won at a very tender age.

Most of the boys in the caddie tournament will be shooting for that first and very important mark in a man's golfing life. The boys range from 12 to 17 years of age, and this Post-Dispatch sponsored event may be the one that some boy will look back to with the affection Bobby Jones expressed.

But, for a few, the first place award in the caddie tournament would not be a first championship trophy for there are three who already have tasted final victory in a tournament.

Some Are Titleholders.

One is Larry Etzkorn, the 1946 interscholastic champion, who will be playing for Algonquin in the caddie tournament. The others are the 14-year-old Guariglia twins, Ronald and Donald, who have a stack of 15 trophies decorating their household.

Don Guariglia is the present standout of the two. During July he captured the Crystal Lake invitation tournament's junior division prize, then followed that with victory in the District Golf Association's juvenile championship.

Brother Ron can claim one of the Guariglia championship trophies, however, for he was the 1946 D.G.A. juvenile winner.

Most "titled" of all the entries, the Guariglias surprisingly are not too confident as the caddie championship approaches. They figure that age limit of 18 years lets in a lot of boys who have a few years on them in practice. But there are few with more tournament experience.

Competition this year has seen a few players developing, however. Norwood's Caddie Dick Krenning, 13 years old, attracted favorable comment from Triple A professional Clarence Norsworthy during the recent juvenile event. After Krenning beat Ron Guariglia, Norsworthy said the boy looked to be a sound swinger.

Winner Goes to National.

In the earlier district junior championship, the farthest advance by caddies was made by Bill Cox of Meadow Brook, and Bob Stamer of Norwood, both of whom reached the quarterfinals. Cox scored well in the qualifying trial for that event, marking up an 84 which was two strokes better than the qualifying score of the ultimate champion, Phil Newmark.

But anyone might win this one—the caddie event that will send the winner and runnerup to the national caddie tournament in Columbus late next month. And the victor might easily be a boy making his first winning mark.

Favorites Move Up in Net Meet

The old guard moved forward without great difficulty as the Municipal Invitational tennis tournament advanced through first round matches yesterday. Wayne Smith, Ray Wiese, Bill and Bob Ziervogel and other stars showed good form.

Play today starts at 4:30 p.m. The tournament is being conducted on the Jefferson Memorial courts in Forest Park.

Municipal Baseball Eliminations, Aug. 16

Elimination games leading to the Municipal Baseball Association championship will start Saturday, Aug. 16, it was announced today by the executive committee of the league. At last night's meeting at South Side Y.M.C.A., it was decided that first round games in Junior, Intermediate and Senior divisions would be played on that day.

Because of "ungentlemanly conduct" in the game of July 20, the executive committee voted the suspension for one week of Catcher Fred Broeg of Manufacturers' Bank team, Mid City League.

NEW YORK, July 29 (AP)—Eddie Walker, manager of the New York middleweight, Steve Belloise, announced he had signed for a 10-round match between Belloise and former middleweight champion, Al Hostak, in Seattle, Aug. 26. Belloise upset Georgia Abrams by stopping him in six rounds in his last start.

Another Clean Sweep for U. S. Track Athletes

BERGEN, Norway, July 29 (UP) —The European tours of American track and field stars continued as unqualified successes today as a result of the "northern" group's clean sweep of every event in an international athletic meet yesterday.

Several local records were broken as the group matched the all-conquering efforts of the other American group at Katowice, Poland, Sunday.

Harrison Dillard, U.S. hurdles champion from Baldwin Wallace College, won the 100-meter sprint in 10.4 seconds and the 110-meter hurdles in 14.3 seconds. Bill Hulse of the New York A. C., holder of the American record for the mile run, and Tarvar Perkins of the Illinois A. C., finished first and second respectively in the 1500 meter run, Hulse hitting the tape in 3:56.4 and Perkins in 3:56.6.

George Guida of Philadelphia took the 400-meter run in 49.2, and the Yanks won the 400-meter relay in 42.2. Bill Vessie of the New York A. C. took the high jump with a leap of 1.97 meters (6 feet, 5½ inches) and Fortune Gordien of the University of Minnesota won the discus throw with a heave of 52.39 meters (171 feet, 10 inches).

Marathoner Who Used To Walk 1000 Miles Killed as He Gets Ride

BOSTON, July 29 (AP) — No more will Ben Buffett make the long 1000-mile journey from his home in New Waterford, N. S., to Boston, on foot, to compete in the Boston A.A. marathon race.

The 30-year-old athlete, who made the long hikes three times, is dead. He was killed near Revelstoke, B. C., on July 19 when an automobile in which he and a companion had hitched a ride overturned, pinning him underneath.

Buffett, son of Mrs. Mary Buffett, made his epic hikes in 1944-45-46. He never finished the Patriots Day classic, however, each time his shoes wore out far short of the finish line.

Accurate Service Is Goal in Contest at Tower Grove Courts

A two-day tennis tournament in which the honors go to the player with the most accurate service will be held Saturday and Sunday on Tower Grove Park courts. The event, under the direction of Earl Buchholz, professional, is sponsored by the Tower Grove Tennis Club and the St. Louis Sports Council. It is open to boys and girls under 16 years of age.

Michigan Champion Grabs Diving Honors

LITTLE ROCK, July 29 (AP)—Near-perfection on all his dives gave Barney Cipriani of Detroit, Michigan state champion, the National AAU junior men's three-meter outdoor diving championship by a half point margin over Raymond Trindade of Coral Gables, Fla., at the Fair Park pool here last night.

Carl Quaintance, Little Rock Boy's Club champion, point leader until he faltered on one dive and lost eight points, finished third. George Eyester of Detroit was fourth, John Eischschlag of St. Louis, fifth, and Frank Keller of St. Louis, sixth.

Trindade, 16-year-old holder of the Florida State and Gulf Stream championship, compiled the highest score of the preliminaries yesterday afternoon.

Bah! Says Coast Owner to Winter League Proposal

SAN FRANCISCO, July 29 (INS)—The Pacific Coast Baseball League, which has been clamoring for major league status, wants no part of a "winter major league" on the West Coast.

At least this was the opinion today of Charles Graham, president and co-owner of the San Francisco Seals.

Informed of the proposal made in St. Louis by J. G. Taylor Spink, publisher of the Sporting News, Graham snorted indignantly and said:

"Bah! It rains in the winter on the Pacific Coast. Games could only be played possibly in San Diego or Los Angeles, and it even rains there.

"The idea is too ridiculous to be even considered.

"Also it would infringe on football during the whole season.

"If they want a winter major league, why don't they have it back there? We don't want it."

"Brick" Laws, co-owner of the Oakland Acorns, said he felt about the same as Graham on the matter.

Rowland Has His Say.

LOS ANGELES, July 29 (UP)—President Clarence (Pants) Rowland of the Pacific Cpast League last night said his circuit was in baseball's 'teen-age bracket but could not yet be classed a third major league.

The outspoken president of the P.C.L. issued his statement, he said, to clarify the plans and ambitions of the eight-club loop. Denying that the league had employed the designation of a third major league, Rowland said its ambition was to reach that bracket within five years.

"The Pacific Coast League definitely has emerged from baseball adolescence, but has not quite developed the strength of the National and American Leagues. It is a situation calling for reclassification as a prelude to major league status later," he said.

"Elevation to a higher class—one above the American Association and International League—plus abolition of the draft as far as it concerns us, would be a definite step in the direction of our ambition."

Unless the draft is abolished, he said, the Coast League could not hope to pay large sums for players because under the present system they are subject to being called up by the majors.

In order not to hinder the progress of players, Rowland proposed that baseball's executive council, under Commissioner A. B. Chandler, arbitrate cases of players dissatisfied with their salaries in the draftless Coast League.

Rowland stated, however, that the Coast League had no thought of going "outlaw."

America's Olympic Athletes to Live on Food Shipped From the U. S.

May Move To London By Planes

NEW YORK, July 29 (AP)—The 500 athletes who will carry America's colors to the 1948 Olympics will have the best in food, transportation and housing despite postwar shortages.

Assurance of this was provided by the United States Olympic Association meeting here yesterday as it gave the go-ahead to committees in 26 sports to proceed with the selection of teams for the VII Winter Games at St. Moritz and the XIV Olympiad in London.

The parent body, the United States Olympic Committee, then tackled the job of getting the contestants overseas and back and feeding and housing them, particularly in shortage-plagued Britain. Also facing the group is the task of raising an estimated $475,000 to finance the expeditions.

The committee placed its approval on air travel, although stressing this would not be compulsory. Boat passage will be available for those who prefer, but the committee has given up its original plan of sending all members of all teams as a unit on one ship.

To Use Air Force Barracks.

Most of the food required to fuel the athletes during their two-week stay in England will be shipped from here. The team will be quartered in former Royal Air Force barracks at Uxbridge, less than 10 miles from the Wembley Stadium games site.

After approving a preliminary budget to finance the teams and discussing ways and means of raising the Olympic fund, the association told the separate sports subcommittees in effect: Go ahead with your plans; we'll provide the wherewithal.

The only admonition was against overstaffing of teams. Because of the increased costs for food and transportation, each chairman was warned to hold down the size of his group. The needs for the 26 groups were aired and the numbers set with a minimum of haggling.

An example was the track and field squad. Sixty-six comprised the group sent to Berlin in 1936. Chairman Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson asked for a squad of 69 competitors, and approval was granted. Wilson figured that some $80,000 for the Olympic fund will be realized from the final trials in this sport at Chicago next summer.

Basketball to Carry 14 Players.

Basketball sought a 16-man squad, including 14 players, and the request was granted. Chairman Harry Henschel reported that more than $30,000 will be realized from the Olympic trials at Madison Square Garden next March. Two National Collegiate Athletic Association finalists, the National Invitation and the N.A.I.B. victors, three A.A.U. and one Y.M.C.A. team will be represented in the trials.

A major development of the session was a resolution that the United States present a solid front in bidding for the 1956 games. Last spring five American cities sought the 1952 games, which were awarded to Helsinki, Finland.

At the suggestion of President Avery Brundage, who pointed out that the five United States bidders came close collectively to having a majority, the association decided that in the future one city would be chosen to carry the full American indorsement.

Before and After Tours Okayed.

The question of pre-Olympic and post-Olympic tours and competitions was placed in the hands of the respective committees. After the 1936 games it was recommended that there be no such tours, but as a result of the committee's action yesterday, several teams received permission to leave in advance for Europe and remain abroad several weeks.

The Olympic Association gingerly referred back to the committees in each sport the question of allowing spouses to accompany married competitors. Several college athletic directors pointed out this is a post-war development that could cost the team athletes unless a clear-cut ruling is made.

Montgomery-Williams Bout Expected to Draw $200,000 Gate

PHILADELPHIA, July 29 (UP)—The advance sale for the Bob Montgomery-Ike Williams world's lightweight championship bout touched the $100,000 mark today, Promoter Herman Taylor announced.

The sale of reserved tickets, scaled from $12.50 to $4, was evidence, Taylor said, that the gate would be at least $200,000 by fight time next Monday night. Five thousand general admission tickets priced at $2.50 will be on sale fight night.

An expected crowd of 40,000 might tip the gate higher than $223,000, the second highest in Philadelphia ring history, set by Joe Louis and Al Ettore in 1936. The Philadelphia record is $1,600,000 in the first Dempsey-Tunney meeting.

Both Montgomery and Williams will come to Philadelphia Thursday for the five-day prefight examination by the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission. The fighters will return to camp after the examination to finish their training chores.

WRAY'S COLUMN

International Dog Days Are at Hand.

NOW the greyhounds are going international. . . . On the heels of the recent International Gold Cup horse race at Belmont comes word from John Kelly of the Greyhound Record that the British champion greyhound, Trev's Perfection, winner of both the English and Scottish dog derbies and many thousands of dollars, is coming to the United States.

Owner Fred Trevillion has agreed to bring his ace to the United States for a match event with America's best, including our standout greyhounds Flashy Sir and Lucky Pilot. . . . A big added money prize to the winner will be offered. . . . The track probably would be either Wonderland, at Revere, Mass., or one of the major Florida courses.

Such a race, if held at one of the tracks capable of handling a large crowd, would produce a mutuel that would set a greyhound record of three fourths of a million dollars or more for the night.

Trev's Perfection is the first dog ever to win the "double" of English and Scottish derbies. . . . He was bred by Mr. Trevillion, his sire being Trev's Dispatch. . . . More than 60,000 persons were present when Trev's Perfection won the English Derby from last year's champion, Monday's News.

In England, which likes to believe it is the very fatherland of thoroughbred horse racing, the dogs are crowding out the bangtails. . . . Greyhound tracks cost less to build and operate, are closer to population centers and run at night when the people as a whole are at liberty. . . . The dogs compete for big stakes and the crowds attending at Harringay, Wembley Stadium and other London area tracks are enormous.

Greyhound Racing Is Legal in Six States.

ABOUT the only American sport not breaking out at the seams due to expansion—or is it inflation?—is greyhound racing with pari-mutuel trimmings. . . . Only six states have legalized canine competition, although the bars are down for practically everything else, everywhere, day or night.

The hostile attitude of most state legislatures toward the mechanical rabbit chasers is somewhat difficult to explain. . . . We are at a loss to determine just what special iniquity arises from betting on dogs as compared to horses, whether by day or by night.

But it must be iniquitous, or our lawmakers, ever on the lookout for the unwary dollar to help out the state treasury, would not kill dog-racing bills. . . . That's slaying the golden goose.

If it's revenue the states want they're overlooking a bonanza in by-passing the dogs. . . . Only Florida, Massachusetts, Arkansas, Oregon, Arizona and Montana permit dog racing today, and in only the first four is racing supervised by the state. . . . Perhaps the other state treasurers don't know about that greyhound "fresh money" or they'd be sponsoring greyhound racing bills.

Here are some rabbit-chasing facts that will light an avaricious gleam in any state auditor's eye:

Largest track — Wonderland, Revere, Mass.

Daily average mutuel handle—Wonderland, $500,000.

Mutuel takeout — Average 15 per cent; top, 17 per cent in Florida and Massachusetts; lowest, 9 per cent, Oregon.

Largest daily purse distribution—$5500.

Dog Racing Is Sport World's Top Bonanza.

YOU get an idea of the dog-racing bonanza from the fact that with a top expense of only $15,000 and a 17 per cent takeout, one track might bank $70,000 a day as its profit over operating charges . . . And you can build a bang-up dog plant for $200,000.

Dog tracks operate 80 days and upwards . . . Massachusetts has a couple of high potential bread-winners . . . Besides Wonderland there is the famous Taunton track, the franchise for which was obtained by the late Eddie O'Hare of St. Louis . . . He operated it for enormous profits, together with another one he owned in partnership with the late Philip De Catesby Ball, at Miami Beach, Fla.

A major dog-track today, operating at top figures for 80 days, would have a potential net take of $5,600,000, with only interest on its capital investment to worry about—plus the state's share of the loot.

And there's where the states are overlooking a big bet. . . . Even in those commonwealths where dog mutuels are legalized the state grabs only 3 to 5 per cent. . . . The track takes the rest, plus half the breakage.

In some cases, under horse racing mutuel laws, the state's share is more than half the total takeout and breakage, as compared to the track owner's bit . . . For dogs it should figure about 9 per cent and breakage for the state, instead of measly three to five per cent cut.

A movement is gaining momentum among the members of the Greyhound Owners Benevolent Association — where the benevolence comes in we haven't learned—to spread the gospel of the Greyhound throughout the land, so that dog racing will be legal everywhere.

* * *

We're not here to defend mutuels, either for dog or horse racing . . . They're both devices for lifting your bankroll painlessly—until you wake up without one . . . But since it is OK for the harness horses and for the running horses, what the hek is the reason it isn't right and proper for the greyhound business?

Seeks World Title

TREV'S PERFECTION, British-bred greyhound, winning the seventeenth English Derby, at White City, London, time 28.95 seconds—a record. He also won the Scottish Derby—the only dog to score a "double." His owner, Fred Trevillion, has consented to race Trev's Perfection for the world title in the United States.

Third St. Louis Player Advances In Boys' Singles

KALAMAZOO, Mich., July 29 (UP)—Unseeded 16-year-old Jerry De Witts, La Jolla, Calif., pulled the first major upset of the thirty-first national junior boys tennis tourney today with a 7-5, 6-1 victory over fifth-seeded Gilbert Bogley, Chevy Chase, Md.

Bogley won the boys' championship last year and the contest today re-enacted—with a different ending—the match in which he won the crown. He defeated De Witts in three sets in 1946.

Herbert Behrens, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., top seeded in the junior division, took his third round match from Curtis Morsell, Milwaukee, 6-0, 6-1. The game he lost in the second set was the first Behrens has dropped in the tourney.

Dick Mouledous, New Orleans, seeded second among the juniors, kept pace with Behrens by beating Jack Yates, Chevy Chase, Md., 6-4, 6-0.

Conrad Woods, Los Angeles, seeded third among the boys, beat Bob Sierra, Tampa, Fla., 6-0, 6-0, to enter the second round.

Michael Weatherly of St. Louis, reached the second round in boys' singles when he defeated Ed Bailey, Harrisburg, Pa., 6-4, 6-4.

He was the third St. Louis boy to win a first round match, Allen Kohn and Benny Bishop having advanced yesterday.

Six Miscues Help Belleville Win, 9-2

West Frankfort, playing at home, got off to a two-run lead over Belleville in the first inning last night, but turned six errors in later frames and the Stags made off with another victory in the Illinois State League, 9 to 2.

Babe Ruth Tells of the Time Mack Tried a Shift on Him

PHILADELPHIA, July 29 (AP)—Babe Ruth, baseball's one-time king of swat, says the Ted Williams shift isn't new—"Connie Mack tried it on me once and it cost him a game."

Lou Boudreau, manager of the Cleveland Indians, devised the shift last year to halt the slugging Red Sox outfielder who habitually hit to the right side of the field.

It wasn't uncommon, the Bambino recalled, for a manager in his day to shift his infield deep and far to the right whenever Ruth came up to bat.

"Well do I recall a game at the Yankee Stadium with the Philadelphia Athletics," said the Babe, who was here yesterday to attend the American Legion's Eastern Pennsylvania junior all-star game.

"Jack Quinn, pitching for the Athletics, had us beaten 1-0 in the ninth with two out and a man on third. As I came to bat, Connie Mack signaled for his infield to swing to the right and play deep. You could have driven several trucks through the hole down the left side of the field.

"So instead of taking a full cut at the ball, I laid a bunt down the third base line and all but walked to first as the tying run crossed the plate. We then went on to win in the tenth."

Normandie Golf Results.

Commission Finally Approves Pep Bout For Featherweight Title

DETROIT, July 29 (UP)—The Michigan Boxing Commission today gave its formal approval to a 15-round world featherweight title bout Aug. 22 in Flint, Mich., between Champion Willie Pep and Challenger Jock Leslie of Flint.

Agreement on terms of the match was reached Friday, but formal commission approval was withheld until Lou Viscusi, Pep's manager, agreed to financial terms ordered by the commission.

Viscusi had demanded all of Promoter Tom Cussan's $25,000 guarantee in advance, but Boxing Commissioner John J. Hettche objected that this would give the state no protection if the match was a flop.

Hettche said Viscusi had agreed to place a $10,000 advance in escrow with the remaining $15,000 to be paid after the bout. Terms provide a return match at Hartford if Pep loses the title.

U. S. Yacht Wins Cup.

GLASGOW, July 29 (AP)—The American six-meter yacht Djinn, owned by Robert B. Meyer of Locust Valley, N.Y., won the Seawanhaka Cup today, defeating the British defender, Johan, for the third straight time by just over two minutes.

Mexico to Get Next American Soccer Tourney

In spite of the unsatisfactory outcome of the recent international games at Havana, Cuba, there will be more North American title soccer tournaments, according to Walter Giesler, St. Louisan, who was manager of the United States team at Havana. Giesler, on his return home, said the Cuban series was cut short solely because of poor attendance. The United States team (Ponta Delgada of Fall River, Mass.) lost to Cuba and then to Mexico. The latter country won the series and championship.

"Mexico City will be the site of the next tournament," said Giesler. "This initial venture was sent to Havana because the U.S.S.F.A. wanted to co-operate in an effort to awaken soccer interest there.

"But we chose the wrong season of the year," added the secretary of the Missouri Soccer Commission. "The heat and humidity were terrific. Sports - minded Cubans couldn't be bothered with soccer. The promoters lost money on the deal and so did the U.S.S.F.A.

"Mexico City, with its spring-like weather at 7400 feet altitude, draws big soccer crowds in July and August the same as in December. Cuba, Canada and the United States will send teams to Mexico for the championship series, in 1950. All countries will concentrate on the Olympics in 1948, and all will send teams to the World Championship tournament at Rio de Janeiro in 1949."

Much serious work lies ahead if the United States is to make a creditable showing in the Olympic soccer tourney at London next summer, Giesler said.

"The emphasis must be on speed and stamina," he said. "We can't match the others in finesse but we have the talent for a speedy, aggressive type of game that can win."

Giesler denied the United States team had "quit" the tournament at Havana, thus causing a sudden termination of the series. Press associations reported the United States withdrew after losing two games.

"We did not quit," said Giesler. "We pointed out to the Cuban sponsors that the financial losses incurred in the first round of three games would likely be doubled if the second round were played. They agreed and announced a termination. We were to have played a double round-robin. Nobody quit but the Cuban fans."

Mexico's national team, returning home for a triumphal reception, was immediately booked to oppose the Ferencvarosi club of Hungary, next Sunday. The Hungarian champions are playing a series of six games in Mexico.—D. McS.

Chicago Promoters Bid $500,000 for Graziano-Zale Bout

CHICAGO, July 29 (AP)—Promoter Harry Hannin said yesterday he had the backing of a group of "outstanding" Chicago sportsmen to guarantee a $500,000 gate for a prospective third middleweight title bout between new champion Rocky Graziano and Tony Zale here next spring.

Hannin said he sent a telegram to Irving Cohen, New York, who manages Graziano, offering to place in immediate escrow any percentage the champion would want from the $500,000 figure. The promoter said he presumed Rocky would demand 40 per cent, or approximately $140,000, based on the gross gate and taxes deducted.

Hannin, who said the fight could be staged in Wrigley Field or Comiskey Park, did not identify his sponsors and said an exact date could be set later. Hannin unsuccessfully bid for the second Graziano-Zale thriller fought at the Chicago Stadium July 16.

TROY, N.Y., July 29 (AP)—The Troy Celtics have relinquished their franchise in the American Basketball League, Anthony W. Korkemas, Celtics' business manager, said last night the decision was reached after Baltimore and Wilmington decided to suspend operations.

GOLF by ROBERT MORRISON

Golf's Super Salesman.

A SIX-FOOT-FOUR, 203-pound business executive is in the process of showing St. Louis more big-time tournament golf than it has ever seen in a comparable period. The man is 41-year-old Fred Dowd.

Directly responsible for the 1946 Western Open being held here and for the assignment of the 1948 National P.G.A. to Norwood Hills, Dowd has struck while the iron is hot. Including the 1947 U.S. Open, the city is likely to have an unbroken string of "name" tournaments for several years.

With the Western amateur set for 1949 at Bellerive, Mr. Tournament himself is tinkering with the idea of the Goodall Round Robin for 1950, envisions tentatively the traditional U.S. Amateur championship for 1951, and then perhaps the Western Open again for 1952.

The point is, Dowd not only dreams about such things; he makes them realities. And far from being a strictly commercial promoter like Tam O'Shanter's George S. May, the St. Louis Golf Association executive is merely an amateur enthusiast for the game of golf.

This is all the more surprising after a glimpse into his background discloses that he wasn't the least bit interested in the game until he had reached his thirties.

Born in New York, Dowd came to St. Louis only 15 years ago when an Eastern razor blade manufacturer sent him here as Western division manager. In his youth, he had been a prep school football tackle, as big then as he is now. He also caught for a high school baseball team and used to swim three miles every Sunday in Long Island Sound. After that he carried on his football interest by organizing a pro football team at Sea Cliff, N. Y., in a small league that still is playing today.

"I never went to college," Dowd said. "I always was too much interested in selling."

And now he's still a super salesman—selling golf organizations on St. Louis as a tournament town.

Just a Duffer?

"I USED to be pretty good in other sports," Dowd continued, "but even now I'm only an ordinary golfer. When I shoot a 76 or 77, I'm having a very nice round."

The St. Louis District Golf Association's president apparently has been looking at too many experts at the game. An 80-shooter is a pretty fair fairway athlete for one who took up the game only 10 years ago.

Arriving on the St. Louis golfing scene, Dowd joined Sunset Country Club in 1938. He said he was attracted because of the sociability golf afforded and because it was a game that could be played as one became older.

"I then became interested in doing what I could to promote interest in golf," he said.

He was president of the Sunset club in 1941, organized the purchase of the property from the Anheuser-Busch ownership in 1945 and reactivated the club which appeared to be heading for failure. He was elected vice president of the District Golf Association in 1945, became president this year, and was appointed a director of the Western Golf Association and a member of the P.G.A.'s national advisory board.

The nation's golfing leaders seem to like him. In fact, Scotty Fessenden, Western Association tournament manager, insisted that Dowd appear at the Western Open in Salt Lake City Aug. 28.

"You gotta come—you're my co-chairman," exploded Scotty.

Half Brother of Jet Pilot Brings $25,000 at Sale

The downward trend was evident when the big consignment of A. B. Hancock's Paris, Ky., nursery brought an average of $7494, compared with $11,987 last year. He and his associates auctioned 34 colts and fillies last night.

In sharp contrast, "Hancock night" last summer brought sales at $50,000 and more. Last night's highest bid was $35,000 paid for a chestnut filly by Count Fleet, out of Risk. The filly went to Coldstream stud, Lexington, consigned by Hancock.

A bay, half-brother of Jet Pilot, 1947 Kentucky Derby winner, brought $25,000, and expressions of disappointment from some observers. The colt's sire is Whirlaway, fourth leading money winner of all time with earnings of $561,161. Whirly holds the derby's record time of 2:01 2-5 for the mile and one-quarter. The colt's dam is Black Wave, dam of Jet Pilot.

The bay was sold to Norman W. Church, Los Angeles, who last year paid $65,000 for Speculation, chestnut colt by Mahmoud-Galla Belle. Hancock and Mydrie stud consigned the colt.

Earlier, a black colt by Eight Thirty, a $115,475 winner, and Miss Brief, was purchased for $28,000 by Mrs. Aksel Wichfield. The colt was consigned by Elmendorf farm, Lexington.

138 of Nation's Top Swimmers In A.A.U. Meet

TYLER, Tex., July 29 (UP)—One hundred thirty-eight of the nation's best swimmers, their eyes set on next year's Olympics, were entered today in the National A.A.U. outdoor men's swimming and diving championships starting Friday at Tyler municipal pool.

Meet officials said the 138 mermen were entered at the Saturday midnight deadline. They added there was a possibility a few more would come in before Gov. Beauford H. Jester opens the aquatic spectacle.

The defending outdoor champions from Hawaii University were on the list, but it was expected since many of the island's stars of last year are on stateside teams, the meet would turn into a three-way struggle between Ohio State, Michigan and the Philadelphia Turner's Club.

However, the Hawaiians still presented a power to be reckoned with. Their coach, S. Sakamoto, copped the meet in four of the past eight years, three times in a row, and it was expected his splashers would make a strong bid to hang on to the title.

Every 1946 individual titlist was entered, including Bill Smith Jr. of Ohio State who holds three national outdoor free style records, and Harry Holiday, champion backstroker from Michigan, both of whom swam for Sakamoto last year.

Other team entries included Oklahoma, Oklahoma City Y.M.C.A., Iowa, University of Mexico, Pasadena Athletic Club, Dallas Athletic Club, New Haven (Conn.) Swim Club; San Francisco Olympic Club, Yale University, El Paso Swimming Club, Illinois Athletic Club and teams composed of 31 Army Air Forces champions and seven Canadian champions.

Freddie Latson Defeated.

NEW YORK, July 29 (UP)—Danny Ruggerio, 149, Yonkers, N. Y., scored an eight-round decision over Jimmy Henderson, 146, Paterson, N. J., in the feature bout at Croke Park last night.

KILL THAT DANDRUFF GERM (Pityrosporum Ovale) on Contact while you groom your hair!

Great news! Tests by a famous New York laboratory show that improved Lucky Tiger Hair Tonic kills on contact the dandruff germ (pityrosporum ovale), which many leading authorities contend is a cause of infectious dandruff.

Not Sticky! Not Gooey! Lucky Tiger is one tonic you can rub way down to your scalp without gumming up your hair. Used that way Lucky Tiger, due to an amazing antiseptic, has the power to kill the dandruff germ (pityrosporum ovale) on contact!

So get wise to Lucky Tiger Hair Tonic. At druggists. Or ask your barber for a Lucky Tiger rub.

Want Armed to Race Assault For $100,000

CHICAGO, July 29 (AP)—The King Ranch handlers of Assault today weighed a challenge to face Calumet Farm's Armed in a winner-take-all match race for $100,000 during the current Washington Park meeting.

The bid made by the Washington Park Jockey Club yesterday for the long awaited showdown between the two great thoroughbreds became a challenge affair when Owner Warren Wright promptly said his Armed was ready and the owner was willing for a crack at the 1946 triple crown winner.

That put Assault on the spot, but Trainer Max Hirsch of King Ranch said he wanted to make sure his horse was in condition for the proposed match at a mile and a quarter with each runner carrying 126 pounds.

Hirsch said that if upon his return East he finds Assault full of run he will recommend that Owner Robert J. Kleberg accept the challenge.

The distance would be the same as the Kentucky Derby, which Assault won last year on his way to copping racing's triple crown in the three-year-old realm.

Assault this year won five consecutive stakes in New York and Maryland before finishing third to Stymie and Natchez in Empire City's $100,000 Gold Cup race.

Not only would King Ranch regain considerable prestige after the Gold Cup setback by sending Assault to victory over Armed, but Kleberg also would place his horse on top of Stymie as an all-time money-winner by grabbing the $100,000 pot.

Assault now trails Stymie in the money-winning column, $623,370 to $678,510. Calumet Farm's Armed, winner of five stakes this season, is third in cash-collecting with $568,735. The swift gelding this year broke track records at Hialeah, Gulfstream and Arlington Park.

Armed established a mark of 1:49 1-5 for a mile and an eighth in the $50,000 Stars and Stripes Handicap. In his latest start, he climaxed his Arlington Park campaign by winning the $50,000 Arlington Handicap.

Shortstop Albright, Leg Broken, Lost to Phillies for Season

CHICAGO, July 29 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies lost shortstop Jackie Albright apparently for the season when the promising newcomer suffered a fractured right leg in a doubleheader at Cincinnati Sunday.

Manager Ben Chapman said Albright also sustained a complete dislocation of his right ankle when he slid into second base in the opener of the twin bill. His injured leg was placed in a cast and he will remain at Christ Hospital in Cincinnati for three or four days.

Chapman said Albright later this week would be examined by Dr. George Bennett at Johns Hopkins Hospital at Baltimore.

Mauriello, Lesnevich Benefit Will Not Be Broadcast or Televised

NEW YORK, July 29 (UP)—Andy Niederreiter, promoter of tomorrow night's Tami Mauriello-Gus Lesnevich bout for the benefit of the Damon Runyon Memorial cancer fund, said that there would be no radio broadcast or television transmission permitted.

The bout, which will be held at Ebbets Field in Brooklyn, is expected to raise more than $200,000 for the fund.

"As long as it is a charity bout for such a worthy cause, I don't think it would be right for the radio and television customers to get in on it for nothing," Neiderreiter said.

Record Attendance For Garden Shows

NEW YORK, July 29 (AP)—A record attendance of 5,438,941 at Madison Square Garden events was recorded in the fiscal year ending March 31, 1947, Gen. John Reed Kilpatrick, president of the Garden reported.

Boxing was tops, drawing 989,139, including 123,587 for three outdoor shows under Garden auspices in partnership with Mike Jacobs's Twentieth Century Sporting Club. Basketball drew 943,006, hockey 425,656, track 108,181.

Stymie Favored To Add to His Record Earnings

BOSTON, July 29 (UP)—Stymie, rags-to-riches king of the turf, was favored today to gallop off with the pot of gold in tomorrow's thirteenth running of the $50,000 Massachusetts Handicap—Suffolk Downs' traditional "graveyard of champions."

Carrying top weight of 128 pounds over the mile and an eighth route, the big stretch-running six-year-old will seek to boost his record-high $678,510 earnings over the $700,000 mark in this richest New England classic.

Since the inaugural in 1935, only four favorites have won the jinxed handicap, First Fiddle twice, Market Wise once and Whirlaway once when he set the track record of 1:48 1-5 in 1942.

Up to Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs's chestnut will be Conn McCreary who rode Stymie to his smashing victory over Assault and Natchez in the $100,000 Gold Cup.

Barring late entries, only five thoroughbreds will vie with the greatest money winner of racing's history. The field was narrowed yesterday when H. Guy Bedwell announced that Prognosis would be sidelined with a cut knee sustained last week.

Second betting choice will be William Helis's Lady Elpis, three-time winner of the Hannah Dustin. The five-year-old mare will carry 111 pounds and will be ridden by Frank Moon.

Mrs. E. H. Augustus's Blue Yonder, boasting two successive wins at Suffolk, will draw strong backing despite its 111-pound impost. Riding him will be Chris Rogers. Fernando Fernandez, tied with Rogers for Suffolk riding honors with 14 winners each, will be up on surprise starter Agrarian U, crack sprinter and de luxe mudder. The five-year-old bay gelding will tote 108 pounds. Brookmead Stable's Boss will carry 105 and will be ridden by Job Dean Jessop. Dan F. Harrington's Weathercock, with Bobby Bauer up, will carry the lightest package—104 pounds.

12 Stakes Worth $750,000 to Be Run At Santa Anita Meet

ARCADIA, July 29 (AP)—One of the richest programs in American turf annals—12 major stakes totaling $750,000—has been announced for the 1947-48 Santa Anita Park winter season.

Three $100,000 events—the Handicap, Derby and new Maturity stakes—top the 50-day meeting, which also includes nine $50,000 offerings. Overnight purses will range up to $10,000.

Kansas City Places Six on All-Stars

COLUMBUS, O., July 29 (UP)—The league-leading Kansas City Blues and their chief rival, the Milwaukee Brewers, dominate the 1947 American Association All-Star team, final tabulation of ballots from A.A. baseball writers showed today.

The Blues placed six players on the honor squad and Milwaukee took another four to nail 10 of the 20 positions on the team. Three Louisville Colonels were selected.

Each player named to the team will receive awards from the league, though the game itself was canceled due to excessive rain this season.

The All-Star roster, listed according to largest number of votes polled in classifications of utility infielders, outfielders, catchers and pitchers:

FORRESTAL CONFERS WITH DEFENSE HEADS

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—James V. Forrestal, newly-designated Secretary of Defense, held a closely-guarded conference with armed service officials in the Army's Pentagon Building today and later declined to discuss the session.

Forrestal told a reporter he attended as Secretary of the Navy. Although appointed by President Truman and confirmed by the Senate, Forrestal has not yet been sworn in as secretary of the unified forces. In his new position he will have cabinet rank and over-all supervision of the combined Army, Navy and Air Force.

Blandy later was decorated by Forrestal with a gold star in lieu of a fourth distinguished service medal for his work in directing the joint Army-Navy task force in the Bikini atom bomb tests last summer.

At a press conference yesterday Forrestal hinted that it is his idea to confine his job to top level coordination.

Forrestal said that at first the unification of the armed forces under a single cabinet officer, provided for in a bill signed Saturday, will increase rather than reduce the cost of the military establishment. He added:

"I hope the added administrative expense will be nominal.

"It is my hope that it will not add a large number to the federal payroll because I think to some extent the success of this job will be reflected in the smallness of its administrative staff."

Forrestal's indication of plans to restrict his set-up was taken as implying a good deal of autonomy for the three co-ordinate branches of the armed forces. Yet to be picked are the three non-cabinet secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air who will take over those phases of the nation's defense business.

BATTLE OF RED TAPE PRELUDE TO FINDING GREEK WAR

rated room filled with more perspiring people. A man behind a desk writes furiously with a scratchy pen, filling out forms, pasting pictures on documents and asking questions in Greek.

Finally it's your turn, and your friend goes into action. He waves his arms and bellows in Greek. The clerk carefully records "Robertos Miller" on the first line. More arm waving and more dialogue produces your middle name, your father's name, mother's maiden name, place of birth, date of birth, passport number, expiration date of passport, date of arrival, date of expected departure, reason for visit, where you came from, where you expect to go.

A Startling Discovery.

Then the startled clerk discovers you have only a temporary visa. This time he does the loud talking and arm waving. You have been wasting his time, and he disgustedly crumples the paper and tosses it into the wastebasket, then leads you off to another department where they give permanent visas.

Up another flight of stairs into another whitewashed room and you are delivered into the hands of Lt. Constantine Bramos, English-speaking shavetail who makes temporary visas permanent. Again you wait this time until the lieutenant finishes his coffee.

He points out that you can stay seven days on your temporary visa and is plainly unhappy that you insist on more than seven days. He goes to work on the green-covered passport and begins demanding papers. You toss him the bundle accumulated since your arrival, but it seems there is one missing and without that one you get no permanent visa.

You have lost your friend somewhere in the scramble, so you sit and cuss and wait.

The lieutenant ignores you and goes about his morning's work completely unaware of your existence. Finally your friend arrives.

Approval Is Granted.

Again arm waving and oratory, and after two trips out of the room for consultations with unknown aids, the lieutenant places his stamp of approval on your stay, and off you go. Fifty minutes to complete a 50-second job.

Your friend breaks trail back to the registry office, and again you go through the process of scratching, pasting and questioning. It's simple this time, as the clerk has forgotten only about half the answers you gave him a few minutes ago so it only takes half an hour to fill out the necessary documents, get them stamped and arrange them in the necessary order for the No. 1 man's signature.

But when you look for the department head whose signature has been your main objective, he has gone to lunch and won't be back for two hours.

You're licked. So you retreat, completely crushed by the weight of Greek bureaucracy. But wait—the security clerk takes the papers from you, smilingly signs the No. 1 man's name, and sends you on your way.

Now all you have to do is find the war—200 miles away, somewhere to the north.

16 R.A.F. BOMBERS IN U.S. FOR ARMY AIR FORCES DAY

Will Join American Planes in Mass Flight Exhibit Over New York City.

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—Sixteen Lincoln bombers of the Royal Air Force arrived from England yesterday. They will tour the United States as guests of the United States Army Air Forces as part of the celebration of Army Air Forces day Aug. 1.

The planes landed at Andrews Field, Md., 16 miles from Washington. They were met by Gen. Carl Spaatz, commanding the United States Army Air Forces; Air Chief Marshal Sir Guy Garrod, head of the Royal Air Force delegation in the United States, and Gen. George C. Kenney, commanding the United States Army Strategic Air Forces.

As part of the Air Forces day celebration, the British squadron will fly with American planes in a mass flight exhibition over New York City.

The British planes will begin a nation-wide tour of the United States Aug. 4.

The British flyers, officially designated Squadron 617, won fame during the war. Among its missions was the breaching of the Mohne and Eder dams in Germany, and in conjunction with another R.A.F. squadron, the sinking of the German battleship Tirpitz.

INERT U.S. ROLE REFLECTED AGAIN IN INDIES WAR

blown the cap off the Indonesian volcano is police power. The Dutch recognize the republic as self-governing but they insist on introducing a Dutch constabulary to share control with the Indonesians.

This same question came up before in Batavia, when the British, following Gen. Douglas MacArthur's renunciation of the Indies to British Lord Mountbatten, spearheaded the Dutch landing. At first the Indonesians were ready to fight even a British landing.

The British solution was to agree to a big police force, half-British, half-republican. When the British went home last October, the Dutch replaced them with Dutchmen and natives. The republican half of the police found themselves, like patrolmen who buck a political machine in America, walking beats along the wharves and warehouses, with the best jobs and all the weapons in Dutch hands.

U. S. Mostly Inert Observer.

At Potsdam, President Truman, probably to avoid getting mixed in Indochina or Indonesian wars, gave southeastern Asia to Winston Churchill. After this renunciation it might have been expected that the role of peacemaker and arbiter would have been assumed by the Americans.

Actually, the American role had been one of inert observer except for a characteristic offer to lend money also to the Indonesians if they would treat peaceably with the already indebted Dutch.

United States Secretary of State George C. Marshall has revealed the limits of America's military aid to the Dutch without referring to the substantial American loans to the Netherlands. More Dutch loans were approved this spring when Dutch plans for Indonesian reconquest were being prepared.

The Indonesians, their backs to the wall, are now asking for a mediator. They want someone like Lord Killearn, portly and adroit chief of Britain's miniature foreign office in Singapore, to whom the role of middleman in southeast Asia has fallen, since America remains interested but aloof. Killearn engineered the Linggajati agreement under which Indonesia won self-government equal ot Queen Wilhelmina's, in an Indies union.

But the Dutch do not seem to be willing to talk peace, although they have mastered most of Java.

Not All G.O.P. Agree.

Not all Republicans agree and a strong phalanx, centering around Vandenberg, could be relied upon to take the Hatch view. This group has carried the bipartisan policy along swiftly and effectively—until the time came to pick up the check. Then appropriations stepped in with its delays, and it now appears they intend to keep on doing so.

According to the record of the past session, the principal peril to the Marshall plan consists of economy-minded House Republicans who have consistently resisted sending American dollars abroad. Republicans from the two coasts and large industrial states joined with Democrats to save the day.

The Senate got by without notable division. It was noticeable that regardless of party Republicans and Democrats from the same regions tended to vote alike on foreign policy in both Houses.

with the consequence that its increase in cost of living—only 81 per cent above 1938-39—is by far the smallest in liberated Europe.

Belgium was therefore threatened not only with competition but with rivalry of low-cost production which it could not hope to equal. That a way out could be found is thought due to the fact that politicians were excluded from the negotiations, which were restricted to professional technicians of industry and trade.

20 PLEAD NO CONTEST, GUILTY IN SUGAR CASES

Parent Dr. Pepper Co. Among Nine Corporations Winning Dismissals.

SANTA FE, N.M., July 29 (AP)—Prosecution of conspiracy charges based on illegal diversion of 1,250,000 pounds of rationed sugar to soft drink manufacturers was concluded yesterday when the Government accepted guilty or no contest pleas from more than 20 defendants to simple charges of ration law violations.

Disposing of five indictments returned last March, this left the Government with convictions for two individuals on conspiracy counts, which are felonies; and fines of $100 to $5000 for three corporations and 23 individuals on lesser charges.

The Dr. Pepper Bottling Co., of Fort Worth, Tex., drew the heaviest fine, $5000.

United States District Judge Alfred P. Murrah imposed a three-month prison sentence on H. B. Dorris Jr., manager of the Fort Worth bottling firm, but later vacated the sentence. "I have been too severe," he said.

Freed were Dr. Pepper bottling firms at Denver, Winston-Salem and Greensboro, N.C.

Embezzled to Pay Bills.

CHICAGO, July 29 (UP)—Mrs. Irene Cinnamon said today she embezzled $598 in post office funds entrusted to her as postmaster at Steager, Ill., "to defray some household expenses." Mrs. Cinnamon pleaded guilty to embezzlement charges yesterday.

Tenite handle for electric fences molded for Accessories Manufacturing Co., Inc. by Kuhlman Plastics Co., both of Kansas City, Mo.

No Ordinary Handle Opens This Gate

Shock-Free Grip For Electric Fences Found In Nonconducting Tenite

Just any handle won't do for this fence gate which is charged with electricity to keep livestock in its place. That's why the handle you see is made of Tenite—a good electrical insulator, even in the wettest of weather.

This lightweight Tenite grip also insulates against heat and cold—and will not rust nor tarnish from outdoor exposure. The brilliant red Tenite color is easy to see—the lustrous finish won't chip or peel. Molded-in ridges facilitate safe handling, as do stops at either end.

The use of Tenite for handles, knobs, and grips has grown by leaps and bounds since its first appearance on motorcar and radio controls. For wherever you look—on tools, lawn mowers, doors, cutlery, motorcycles, luggage or revolvers—you'll find tough, easy-to-clean Tenite contributing a combination of properties never before available in this field. Tenite is so resilient that some of these handles require only a force fit.

Whether your handle must act as an insulator, be shatterproof, have permanent color or a pleasant feel, it will pay you to investigate the many advantages of Tenite. Chances are you will find just the combination of properties you need—and increased sales too—in Tenite.

A telephone call to our local representative will bring you further information on the properties and uses of Tenite, and personal assistance, if desired.

FORD WORKERS MOVE TO CALL STRIKE AUG. 4

DETROIT, July 29 (AP)—The CIO United Auto Workers Ford Council asked permission to strike against the Ford Motor Co. by Aug. 4 in a resolution on file today with the union's executive board.

While negotiations with the Ford concern on a new contract continued, UAW-CIO Director Richard T. Leonard announced he would ask an "immediate" meeting of the board to approve the action taken yesterday by the National Ford Council, a group made up of representatives of all Ford local unions.

Two issues stand in the way of settlement of the three-month Ford contract dispute, it was disclosed in a statement made last night by Leonard and Thomas Thompson, chairman of the UAW-CIO Ford negotiating committee.

The union officials said there was disagreement on details of a pension plan covering 107,000 Ford workers, to which the company has tentatively agreed. Some members of the UAW's Local 600 reportedly are demanding a straight 15-cent hourly wage increase instead of the pension plan.

In addition, union leaders said, a union demand for protection from possible damage suits under terms of the Taft-Hartley Labor Act "is very important to us and has become one of the major issues.

New hope of settlement of a strike that has endangered Ford production was held out as UAW-CIO President Walter P. Reuther announced he would take part in negotiations to end the weekend walkout at the Murray Corp. of America.

Murray President C. W. Avery also agreed to join the top-level contract talks, it was reported. The 7000 striking Murray workers also have asked a contract provision relieving the union of responsibility in "wildcat" strikes as provided by the labor legislation.

In addition, the UAW-CIO has asked Murray officials to agree to a clause providing no recourse to the National Labor Relations Board in case of labor disputes.

Californians Like To Laugh at Selves

By Earl Wilson

HOLLYWOOD, July 29.

I'VE found here in the land of milk and honey that Californians love to laugh at themselves. They enjoy telling how Jimmy Durante became a home-owner. Anxious to "get it wholesale," he negotiated with close friends who built this and repaired that. "Thanks to bringing in his friends," they say, "his house cost him only three times as much as if he'd gone to perfect strangers."

JIMMY DURANTE . . . GOT IT WHOLESALE.

The supposedly dough-heavy gamblers at Las Vtgas come in for kidding, too. Comedian Jimmy Brewster, buying some gas the other day, had 1 cent in change due him. With a wave of his hand, he airily told the attendant, "Keep the change. I'm one of the boys from Las Vegas."

I'm suffering somewhat from party-shock because there are three every day. At one I met Claudette Colbert and Laraine Durocher.

At almost every party somebody mentions Eddie Jaffe, the N.Y. press agent who boasts of being "the ugliest man in the world."

Best story is about the time he went to a psychiatrist. The psychiatrist looked at his patient, winced and said, "Usually I ask the patient to talk and close his eyes. But this time I'm going to ask you to talk and I'll close my eyes."

NOBODY IS WITHOUT a flip answer out here. My son, Slugger, who is 4, was having a talk with Sidney Skolsky (who is about the same size) and Skolsky asked Slugger how old he is.

"I don't know," said Sluggie.

"Didn't your daddy ever tell you how old you are?" said Skolsky.

"He's too busy," said Sluggie.

After Joe Pasternak's son, Mike, 4½, threw $35,000 worth of his mother's jewelry out in the back yard the other day or at least he threw it somewhere, his father decided to use psychology to find out exactly where he'd tossed the ice.

"Look, we're going to play a game," daddy said. He took from his pocket a ring of his own. "Now," he said, "we're going to find mommy's rings."

"O. K.," said Mike, "go ahead and find them."

I WENT to a formal party at the Danny Kayes where Groucho Marx, George Burns, Gene Kelly and Leo Durocher entertained. Claudette Colbert was watching from a sofa. When we wondered who'd perform next, Groucho called to Miss Colbert, "Claudette, you do "The Egg and I."

All was kosher with Day and Durocher—Laraine and Leo insisted that they not even be parted at the dinner table.

COMEDIAN FRANKIE HYERS landed a small movie role in "T-Man" when he visited Brynie Foy at Eagle-Lion. "I'm giving you a part because I like the way you're dressed," Foy said. "But I look like a bum," Hyers said.

The Neighbors

By Christopher Billopp

NEIGHBORS do not always stay with you forever. Sometimes they move off to distant cities. Surely their departure should be attended by fitting ceremonies.

You will have them in. And you will have in with them other neighbors who are not departing. Maybe you will depart some day and neighbors will do as much for you.

When will you have them in? Perhaps you should call them and inquire. But when you call their line is busy, so you put it off. Meanwhile you try to hit on a day that will be convenient to you.

YOU CAN'T DO IT very well on Monday because that is wash day and by evening you will be all tired out. Tuesday you have an engagement. Wednesday you have a whole series of important meetings and no telling how late it will be when you get home.

Since you expect to be away over the weekend Thursday is the logical choice. But, unfortunately, the Joneses have booked the departing neighbors for Thursday.

Obviously nothing can be done until the following week. But by the time you get around to picking a day the Smiths and the Browns will have got ahead of you and allocated the only days on which the departing neighbors can come.

DEPARTING NEIGHBORS have reasons for departing. They cannot wait forever for you to make up your mind as to when you can have them in and fit it in with a time when it will be convenient for them to come.

So, before you know it, the neighbors' house will begin to look very quiet and you will not see the neighbors around. Upon inquiry you will learn that the neighbors have gone.

You awake then to the distressing fact that there is nothing you can do; and that the departing neighbors, however far they may go, will be on your conscience for the rest of your natural days.

Try and Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

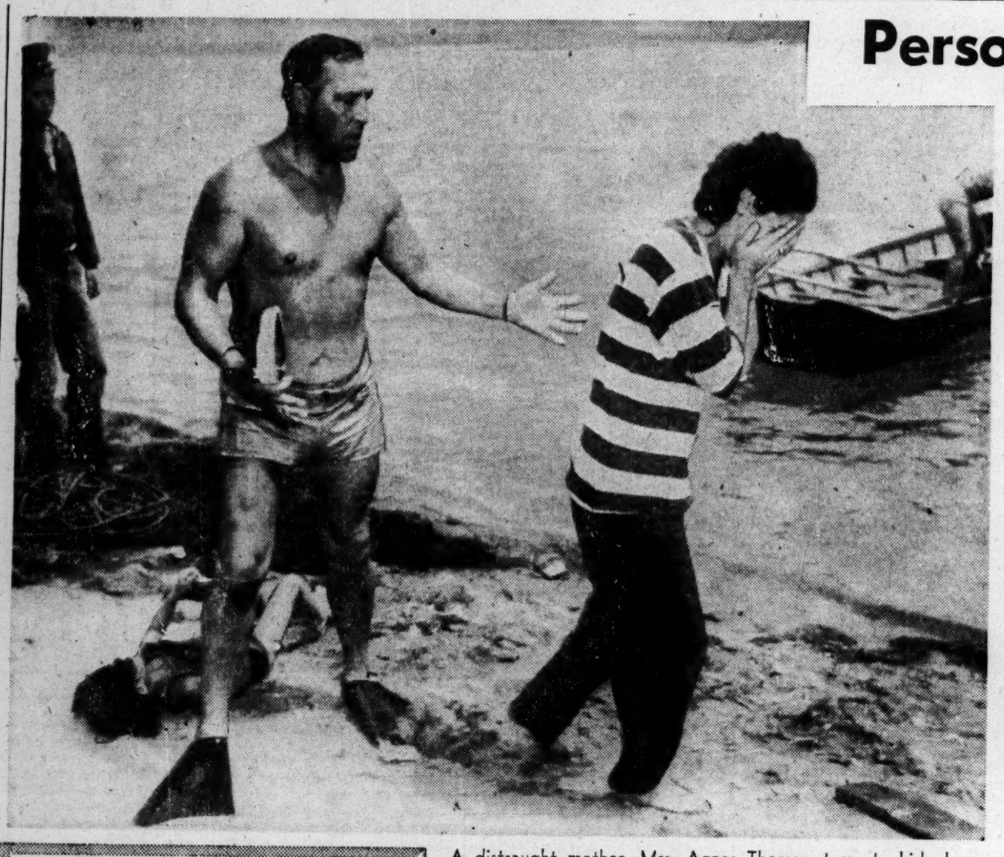

OLD Man Himmel liked to rock himself gently in the corner of the porch of the Mountain View hotel, get the advantage of whatever breeze was blowing, and tell tall tales about his four wonderful sons.

"What do they do?" people asked him, just to hear him explain, "They are brilliant, every one of them. One is a great doctor, another is a scientist, the third is a dentist, and the fourth is a poet. Thank the Lord my millinery business is so good it brings in enough to support all four of them!"

THE LATE W. C. Fields, according to Hollywood legend, once made an unsteady exit from a swanky night club, tapped a uniformed gent on the shoulder, and said, "Fetch me a cab, boy." The uniformed gent wheeled angrily, and said, "Sir, I am an admiral." "All right, all right," soothed Fields. "Then fetch me a battleship."

Personal Reactions After Trouble

A distraught mother, Mrs. Agnes Thomas, turns to hide her grief after hearing Lifeguard F. M. Cox explain that her 6-year-old daughter (on ground beside him) was dead from drowning in Hansen Dam Reservoir at Roscoe, Calif. Minutes later searchers found the body of a son, 9. The children wandered away yesterday from a picnic.

Sitting in the glare of the flames, Tommy Logudice (right) and his mother, at left, watch fire destroy their home in Los Angeles yesterday. The blaze started in a furniture factory and spread to six other buildings, including two other homes. All were damaged with loss estimated at $35,000.

Fred Perplies talking with a fireman at Chicago after he fled from his brother's apartment in a two-story frame building when he heard flames crackling. Damage was in excess of $20,000.

Animals in the News

Smokey, 9-week-old kitten, immediately after Sgt. Harold Present of the Humane Society of Missouri had rescued it yesterday from the bottom of a quarry at 5100 Virginia avenue. The kitten, on a board floating on oily water when Present approached, tried to avoid capture by swimming away.

CLAYTON STREET WIDENING

Construction work in progress today on Meramec avenue on the west side of the St. Louis County Courthouse in Clayton as part of the project to widen the streets around the building 15 feet at a cost of $39,433. The space will be taken from the courthouse side of the streets except on Bonhomme avenue on the south where it will come from Atwood Park.

Case Records

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE N-286: Beth W., aged 20, is a student who has been troubled by a lack of boy friends. "Dr. Crane, when I was in high school, I had many dates," she said. "But I have begun to lose my charm, it seems. I suppose it is because of my weight. I've put on quite a few extra pounds in the last five years. Now I weigh 154, which is too much, but, honestly, Dr. Crane, I don't eat much. Couldn't I get some medicine that would take off my surplus weight? My roommate at college is taking thyroid tablets to reduce."

THERE ARE two methods of growing heavier. One is by the accumulation of excess water in the tissues, or the abdomen. Thus, people who have damaged hearts or kidneys or livers, may put on excess weight which is chiefly fluid. And cretins, those children who have a deficient amount of thyroid secretion, may also be listless, dull mentally and pudgy owing to water accumulation. They can often profit remarkably from thyroid extract. But never take drugs to reduce, except under your physician's advice. Moreover, most people don't require such drugs to eliminate the surplus upholstery around their equator.

THE GREATER CAUSE of obesity is too much food. Women who protest that they don't eat much, will often nibble 500 calories worth of food between meals. And the things which tempt us to nibble are usually very rich in sugar and cream.

A couple of chocolates, for example, may equal a good-sized home-made hamburger. A few peanuts or pecans may count more than a restaurant serving of roast beef or steak.

A large dish of plain ice cream may equal 25 per cent of a girl's entire daily quota of calories. And the frills, such as pecans, fudge syrup, whipped cream, etc., just zoom the calory content.

"WHY DO people grow fat as they grow older?" is a frequent query. Because we don't exercise as much as in high school and young adulthood. We are usually married, too, and eating better meals or more food than when we dined at restaurants. Young people usually burn up more energy than those past 30 years, because they are more athletic.

For further particulars, send a 3-cent stamped envelope, plus a dime, for my bulletin, "How to Lose Ten Pounds in Ten Days." It works, for Mrs. Crane and I have followed it ourselves. Write to me in care of the Post-Dispatch.

Other Women's Lives

By Donna Ford

A YEAR ago, Ruth Arnold of Hollywood had an idea. She thought there was a need for an agency to answer the questions listeners ask about radio programs. She interested station managers in her scheme, then set up shop. Her brain child was an immediate success and she averages 1000 calls a day. She branched out and now supplies answers to visitors who want to know where to eat or what movie to see.

HER HUSBAND fought in the Civil War, but Mrs. James Longstreet, widow of the general, has had a few battles of her own. The spry gray-haired woman, who was his second wife, was an editor of a newspaper and active in politics before she married. She changed her name but not her interest in public affairs. She was appointed as postmaster of Gainesville, Ga., in 1904 and stirred up a bitter controversy later in 1913 when politics stepped in and a new postmaster was nominated. During the past war she went to riveting school and was able to take a job in a war plant. She has made many speeches on important issues as she firmly says, "I am entitled to my opinions and the right to express them." Recently she was honored by having her picture put in the state capitol library in Atlanta for her efforts in government and civic affairs.

PRETTY LITTLE Hazel Peterson only feels at home when she has on overalls and her hands are streaked with grease. The Milwaukee girl is an expert mechanic and has been working in her father's garage for 11 years. Now 25, she rivals her father in proficiency in taking a car apart and putting it together again. Many of the customers insist she work on their auto. She became interested after she had been ill and lost the sight of one eye. Her father casually suggested that she help him, and Hazel grabbed a pair of pliers. Now she is half owner of the shop with her father and is saving up to buy a helicopter. When she isn't adjusting someone's carburetor, she sings hillbilly songs over a local station.

Find Another Girl

By Dr. Paul Popenoe

A WOMAN'S No doesn't always mean Yes. Sometimes it really means No! But Fred can't figure out which it means in his case. Let him tell his own story: "I met her at a Christmas entertainment, and I thought she went out of her way to be agreeable. She seemed pleased when I offered to take her home." After that she went out with me several times. I couldn't see her often, but I wrote to her frequently. I thought,—and still think,—that she's a wonderful girl. I want to marry her.

"THEN SHE BEGAN to evade me, to stall along, to say that she was going to be busy for some weeks to come, and so on. When I insisted, she told me to forget all about her,—that she was not good enough for me. Of course that's nonsense. Her parents seemed to like me. I don't want to lose out by lack of persistence, by seeming to be discouraged too easily. On the other hand, I don't want to butt my head against a stone wall. What shall I do next?"

LIFE IS LIKE THAT, Fred. We men have to do a good deal of guessing, and usually find that we can't outguess a woman. You think she may simply want to find out whether you are in earnest. On the other hand, it may be that your own persistence is merely an evidence of hurt pride. You don't like to admit that you are not irresistible. The relations between young people before marriage are based largely on what the scientists call trial and error. You try a good many times and usually find that you were mistaken. You like her but she doesn't like you; or she likes you but you like someone else better.

I think you would be smart to give a girl three chances. After the third turndown, quit. If the refusals were inevitable and undesired by her, the next move ought to come from her. Meanwhile, go out and look for another girl.

'Society' Proves Hard to Define

Reader Takes Exception to Miss Post's 'Exaltation of Tradition'

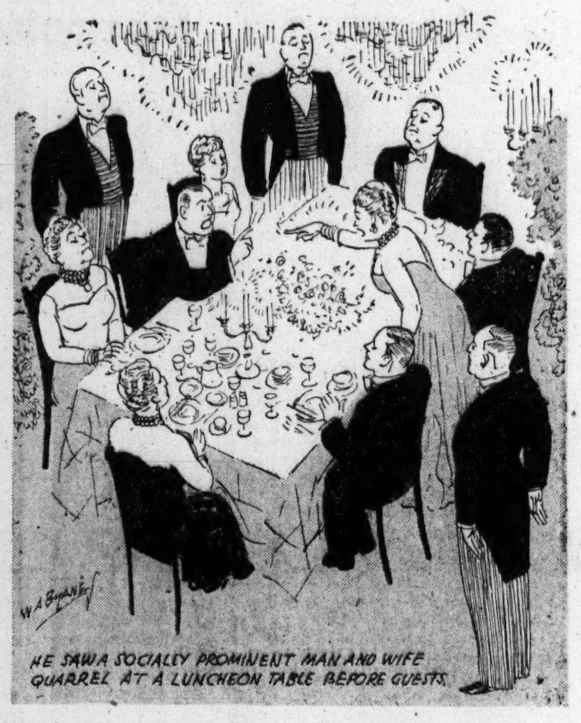

By Emily Post

THE following letter from a man is one of the most interesting ever sent me.

"Dear Mrs. Post: For many years your writings have been a source of interest and pleasure to me and yet you always leave me in a state of discouragement. Not that you intend to do this—no one who listens to you doubts the kindness of your motives. My quarrel with you is on your exaltation of tradition. I always have the feeling that your standards are those of people who not only have money but whose standards have been set up by the habit of money.

"For my own part, I always have believed that charming, cultivated, intelligent people are encountered at random and without regard to social position or wealth. I have watched a man and his wife, of one of the supposedly "great families of the social world," quarrel at the luncheon table before guests. At the dining table in one of the few palatial houses left in New York, I have seen a titan of finance make not the slightest attempt to change the conversation from silly, almost indecent gossip to something of a more intelligent nature. I could name a famous leader of society whose language I could not permit in my house. I have heard a number of our professional society beauties of the illustrated magazines, rotogravure supplements and face cream advertisements show a banality of ideas which any intelligent child of 12 would scoff at.

"And so I ask: 'Where does that leave me and my family and our few friends who are to us priceless companions? Can 'society' matter very much, really? I can't help wondering what you think and whether you are willing (and able) to look at your world of best tradition from the outside in, instead of from the inside with no view out."

HE SAW A SOCIALLY PROMINENT MAN AND WIFE QUARREL AT A LUNCHEON TABLE BEFORE GUESTS

To this letter I must answer that it is something of a shock to be told that my point of view reflects a money standard, since it is the last one that I had imagined could apply. And yet, upon thinking over what you say, it is undoubtedly true that the advantages of life are contributed to by at least a moderate degree of wherewithal. But money of itself, as a standard of value, is incompatible with appreciation—let alone "exaltation of tradition."

As to your graceless examples, I, too, probably could find a parallel for each of the examples you cite. But I also could contradict them a hundred times over.

After all, you must remember that New York is the clearing house of America—quite possibly of the world. With equal truth, it might be called a mecca or a dumping ground. Appraising values by label is not practical because labels often are put on the wrong objects. The chances are that those people whom I would label "of best tradition" would more than likely have the qualities of your "priceless companions." Those who represent best society (what is left of it) are necessarily less conspicuous than those who flock into the show ring and whose press agents megaphone for spotlights.

In every great city in the United States, all sorts of people make up the business world, the political world and the social world. You can point out a certain number of apparently unfit people who, by some fluke, have become rich businessmen or holders of high public office. But the majority of men who rise to prominence have abilities greater than most of the rest of us. The same is true of social leaders.

Every social group is obviously an aggregation of people who have tastes in common. On the other hand, society which, with any degree of truth, can be called "Best" must be comprised inevitably of people of culture—and culture, as I like to define it, is the essence of education and experience distilled through an enlightened mind and an understanding heart.

When you say that you, your wife and a few friends are "priceless companions," you merely are describing society at its best.

On my first trip to England, back in 1916, I arrived at the London railroad station to find the city buried in one of those fogs which the people there call "pea soupers." It was nighttime and the streets were empty with a ghost-like blackness.

I asked directions to the Savoy Hotel and started out on foot. I found that the only way to keep straight was to walk in the gutter and kick the curb now and then.

Every time I bumped into someone I'd ask for the Savoy Hotel and try to follow directions. Up and down the streets of London I wandered for three hours, looking for a place "just around the corner." About midnight I stumbled into a little old man and unloaded upon him the sad story of my misadventures.

"Take hold of the tip of my cane and come along," he said in a kindly voice. And he led me through the murky night, straight to the Savoy.

"I'm amazed!" I exclaimed. "How are you able to find your way around in this terrible fog so easily?"

"The fog doesn't bother me a bit, my friend," the man chuckled. "I'm blind."

My Day -o- By Eleanor Roosevelt

CAMPOBELLO ISLAND, N.B., Monday.

THE other day, I noticed an interesting news item on a report made by Miss Molly Silva-Jones, supervision officer of the German Welfare Commission in the British zone. At the Paris conference of the International Federation of Business and Professional Women, she said that she had founded in Westphalia three women's clubs along the lines of those existing in other countries. She said that the educated German woman is conscious of her isolation, conscious that the Nazi regime narrowed her opportunities to take part in the public life of her community, and desires now to be a force for good in her country.

Many German women, Miss Silva-Jones said, had been in prison for anti-Nazi activities and were eager now to find out what was happening in other parts of the world, particularly as it touches women, and would welcome speakers from other nations.

ALMOST on the same day that I read this item, I received a letter from a German woman in Dusseldorf, which is in the British zone. I am going to quote from it because I think it will be interesting to women in this country in view of what Miss Silva-Jones reported.

"I am associated with a women's union shortly founded here at Dusseldorf, which has adopted the name Deutscher Frauenring, and I am a member of the managing board. This is a woman's guild of non-political character. That means it . . . only intends to deal with general questions and problems of life and of public interest. Of course, we must and we will avoid to be a kind of suffragettes, though I am of the opinion that just now, after the Hitler regime is broken down, we have to show and prove that women are well able to deal also with other problems than those which only were reserved to them under the Nazi system.

"German women must learn again to realize what they can and what they must do here in Germany. Therefore, I feel it is necessary to make contacts and correspondence with women of other nations all over the world, in order to learn what progress they have made during the past years, and particularly what they are doing in view of the world peace, of an understanding among the people and towards world common welfare.

"WE GERMANS, of course, are not authorized at present to do anything of decisive character in view of the great politics of the world. But we are looking at the great powers, what they will decide. It is quite evident that there are two alternatives for the world at present, one to avoid a third world war, and another to start a third world war. That is the question which is generally discussed here. What is your personal point of view about it?

"Of course, I am afraid of a new war, because I have still the terrible impressions from the first one and even more from the last one. On the other hand, I realize that there are too great political controversies existing, which cannot be easily settled by conferences, meetings and speeches."

"The Cart Before the Horse."

THIS expression, which a reader defines as meaning "a reversal of the proper order of things, whether in description or the way we approach an undertaking," may today fit the category of modern American slang, but actually it dates from the Sixteenth Century and has a literary history.

"Set the cart before the horse" is to be found in the earliest collection of English colloquial sayings, the "Proverbes" of John Heywood, first published in 1546.

The French satirist, Francois Rabelais, who died in 1553, used it more than once in the great "Works." In Book Two in this form: "It is folly to put the plough in front of the oxen." In Book Five of the Works Rabelais said: "Others set carts before the horses."

The idea had notable expression in the early Seventeenth Century. In a Letter to the Lord Keeper of England, written in July, 1617, James I wrote: "To make the plough go before the horse."

Keeping Bright the Lights of Home

By Angelo Patri

HOME is not a house, not even a family. It is an emotion, an emotion so powerful that it can draw people across continents and oceans back to its source, home. That source, the force that generates the emotion of home, is the feeling that exists between father and brother; father, mother and children; between the children themselves. As the years of their growth roll on to completion, that emotion becomes a bond and the house that shelters the love becomes home.

Little things are what build the feeling of home. Mother's smile and gentle word, Father's devotion and protection shown by the toy he brings in his pocket to gladden some wee heart. The chair by the window, the dog by the door, the swing under the tree—these and countless other little things spell home.

CHILDREN must have a share in all this if they are to know the feeling. They must be taught to help in the daily duties that are the foundation of family life—cooking, cleaning, serving, whatever work is to be done they are to share. That way they grow into home and plant their roots.

Some folk look upon this proceeding as work, labor that should be paid for. That is not the way to foster the emotion that is home. The way to that lies through service, the sort of service a mother gives so happily day after day without thought of pay. Imagine paying a mother for tending a baby through sickness and health up to maturity. It is unthinkable. It is unthinkable, too, that children should measure service to home in terms of money. They won't if they are taught the right way.

Each child should have his daily duty to perform for the service of the family. This might be done in rotation so that each child gets the experience of doing everything necessary to make the family comfortable and happy—from washing dishes to playing a musical instrument for the entertainment of the family and guests.

CHILDREN SHOULD have an allowance just as soon as they begin asking for pennies to spend. It should be in relation to the scale of living the family enjoys. It should be increased with their growing responsibilities. When they are able they should earn, spend and save under the guidance of their elders. But there should be nothing like a feeling of so much work for such much pay in the home.

There is one exception. If an older child does work which otherwise would have been paid for, he should be paid for that. But seldom is a child able to do a workman's job. Money should not enter into family interests, turning a labor of love into a business matter. It can't be done that way.

My OPINION

By MARTHA CARR

Dear Martha Carr:

I DON'T mind wearing a lace cap, or cleaning gobs of silver. I am not objecting either to putting in a good full day's work. But 7 a.m. till 8:30 p.m. every night, and 10:30 to midnight on company nights can get pretty tiresome. Supposedly I have one day off per week, but first I must get out a day's wash before I can go, and often as not my day off is changed around to suit the mistress's convenience, and she has often asked me to do shopping for her downtown on my few hours off. I want to quit and she has threatened to have me fired from any job I might take. I have told her nine hours per day is quite enough and that with the hard work—for she demands real service—I have lost 20 pounds in the year I've worked here. I suggested she pay me extra for overtime and that I want one entire day off each week. She replied that no servant is going to tell her how to run her house. She and her friends spend long hours discussing the servant problem much to our discredit yet when we want to leave we get threatened. This woman I work for can't tolerate idleness and if one of us dares sit down what she considers a little too long while eating, she immediately rings the buzzer in her room summoning one of us, and starts giving orders. What kind of life do we maids have, anyway, and what do these people we work for think we are? M. T.

Here we go again! It is easy to understand why houseworkers with as demanding an employer as this one become not only discouraged but rebellious. On the other hand, no one is forcing you to remain and work where you feel imposed upon and unhappy. Your employer has no right either to threaten you with keeping you from another position, or to try to carry out her threat. Instead of stewing, why not call her bluff? These days there are more demands for houseworkers than there are persons to fill them.

IN ANSWER TO "Mo": Sorry, unless you send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope it is impossible to get an answer to you at a specific time. Apparently you are just one more girl who thinks she owns a boy because she has dated him a few times. He's been out with another girl—so what? There was no steady going agreement between you, the world is full of girls, and he is perfectly free to date whom and when he chooses. Likewise the same world is full of boys and you can date others, too. This not speaking is childish. Of course act as if nothing has happened by all means. Nothing has, or at least the skies aren't going to fall just because one boy didn't date one certain girl for a Saturday.

IN ANSWER TO "Worried": It seems to me the maids at the hotel could be helpful when it comes to finding a sitter for you, but you will be wise not to leave them unless you absolutely have to. If worst comes to worst perhaps you could find a foster home for them temporarily through the Children's Aid Society, 4643 Lindell boulevard.

IN ANSWER TO "Two Morose Maidens": The boys in their twenties are too old for you girls. They seem to be trying a species of blackmail with regard to the date and there is no reason why you should break it and go with them. Call their bluff, tell them to go ahead and tell, you should worry. You are much better off dating these other boys who are within your own age group.

Beauty Principles

By Patricia Lindsay

THERE are "get away" days and the cosmetic firms are quite aware of the pertinent increase of travel, for they have designed serviceable packaging of their wares.

Take for instance that shampoo which comes in three tube sizes—a small for just a weekend emergency, a medium and large for longer trips. Its emerald-clear consistency with its delicate fragrance serves beautifully for a quick, sudsy shampoo and leaves your hair sparkling in glory.

THEN THOSE fluffy milk bath wafers—tube packed, too—which make any bath anywhere a pleasure. Twelve in a tube, or buy the gift box of three tubes for your hostess—it comes exquisitely wrapped as a corsage.

Naturally you want to take your two favorite perfumes along when you travel, or your favorite perfume and its companion cologne. To protect them and your undies and other suitcase contents, there is a heavily padded, compact bottle guard with a zipper closing. The outside is imitation chamois. If you do not wish to cart perfume, use the bottle guard for your other bottles of liquids. You will find this in the better department stores and speciality shops.

A COSMETIC CACHE, four by six inches, has two padded compartments and is of rich burgundy satin. In one compartment there is a sheer foundation film in a frosted bottle, an oval box of lovely face powder, and a lipstick in a crown-jewel case. The second compartment is for tissues, handkerchiefs or whatever you wish to carry. The pretty thing may be carried for a cocktail or evening purse.

Mrs. Vandenberg--Loyal Helpmate

Getting Ready to Attend Fifth International Conference With Husband

By Ruth Brigham

A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch

WASHINGTON, July 29.

MRS. ARTHUR VANDENBERG was preparing today to attend her fifth international conference as "buffer, sub-secretary and valet" to her husband, president of the Senate and chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee.

This time it'll be flying down to Rio, perhaps in President Truman's plane, for the cosmopolite who has diaried United Nations conferences in San Francisco, Paris, London and New York.

When Sen. Vandenberg said he "wouldn't go without her" she didn't hesitate. Chances are she wouldn't have hesitated anyway, because:

"Pops needs me to look after him. He won't stop working long enough to eat, unless I make him. Too, I take my typewriter along, and use it. I always get to know the reporters, and help them all I can."

The lady from Michigan who is a potential candidate for the first lady's job—"but only if Pops is drafted, and that doesn't happen often"—said of the past conferences:

"I got the most out of the one in Paris, enjoyed San Francisco best, and worked hardest in London. Mrs. Jimmy Byrnes, Mrs. Tom Connally and I washed all the time there. It was so cold and dirty. But we went around a lot with Mrs. Roosevelt, and saw many interesting things."

Mrs. Connally is the only other "veteran conference wife" who will attend the Rio conference, which begins Aug. 15.

During her 17 years in Washington attractive Mrs. Vandenberg has learned to take many things in her stride, namely:

"You have to have skin like a turtle, and not mind what people say about your husband. That's the best advice for new official wives. And you can't let differences in opinions of husbands come between friendship of wives.

"I choose my friends, regardless of their parties. I don't try to 'get votes' for my husband. I think his record should do that. Of course there are many social demands, because of his position."

The ringing telephone at their Wardman Park apartment testified to that, but Mrs. Vandenburg said:

"I accept what we can, and what I think we should. And when I am so tired it begins to get me down, I just go to Atlantic City and hide out for a week."

Mrs. Vandeberg, a former high school teacher, is a well known public speaker, but she never "discusses politics."

Of the 1948 presidential elections, however, she did say:

"Neither my husband nor I want it. We have nearly five more years to go, anyhow, in the Senate, and I'd like us to have some fun after that.

"I believe his past four years, in particular, have demonstrated that he puts his country before his party. He doesn't seek the presidency, doesn't want it, but if he were drafted, which seldom happens, I wouldn't ask him to refuse."

To the statement that "his age has been said to be against him," she replied:

"He was only 62 last March."

WHENEVER YOU SEE SENATOR VANDENBERG YOU MAY BE SURE MRS. VANDENBERG—"BUFFER, SUB-SECRETARY AND VALET"—IS NOT FAR AWAY. HERE THEY ARE SHOWN AS THEY DEPARTED FROM WASHINGTON FOR THE PARIS PEACE CONFERENCE LAST AUGUST.

Bad Habit Discussed By Doctor

By Dr. William E. Brady

FIRMLY but gently let us insist that the good old fashioned home remedies still hold their place in our practice against all modern inventions, and salts is one of the old reliables. Yet reluctantly but frankly we must confess that this same old reliable is capable of doing a powerful amount of harm when abused. And it is abuse to take salts when you merely require a laxative.

Under certain circumstances nothing can be substituted for salts when definite results are to be obtained. By salts we mean Epsom, Rochelle, Glauber's, Carlsbad, phosphate of soda, citrate of soda, in fact any saline cathartic, natural or artificial, plain, effervescent or disguised. But each and every kind of salts will do much harm if habitually or frequently taken merely to move the bowel.

THE ACTION of salts, no matter which kind, is very simple to explain. The saline has an affinity for water and draws water from the lining of the bowel. This, of course, causes irritation, to which the bowel responds by increased activity.

Some of the salts, no matter which kind, will be absorbed into the blood and eliminated through the kidneys. In the process of elimination the kidney is irritated, and if the dose is a daily habit the kidney will in time suffer. The abuse of salts is one of the many causes of kidney disease in later life.

IT IS NOT ABUSE to resort to a dose of salts upon rare occasions, or several doses if necessary. It is not abuse to employ salts when your physician prescribes such medication for some particular purpose other than moving the bowels. It is abuse to take salts when a milder laxative will suffice, and it is abuse to use salts merely for the purpose of producing an evacuation.

One of the least unpalatable saline laxatives and most effective when properly prepared and taken is the official solution of magnesium citrate of the Pharmacopoeia. This pleasant solution must be freshly prepared by the pharmacist on call, and the whole bottle (twelve ounces) should be taken by an adult, in divided doses every half hour or so.

Tips for Teens

Lively Question at Home

By Elinor Williams

BE SURE TO MAKE CLEAR WHEN YOU ARE EXPECTED HOME.

SPARKS fly in most homes when the question "How old for dates?" comes up. It's usually more like a battle than a question, more often an argument, loud and long, instead of a discussion.

At the risk of going 'way out on a limb between parents and high schoolers here's an answer to the question "At what age may girls and boys begin to have dates?"

It seems common sense that when girls and boys are old enough to go to high school, they're old enough to go to high school doings—football and basketball games, club affairs and dances—IF they prove they can be trusted to come home on time . . . at a reasonable time after the affair is ended. Movie dates must wait until your parents think best; most of them agree on sophomore year in high school.

School activities are almost as important, in some ways, as studies, for they help to teach sportsmanship, leadership and social poise. They help to teach you how to get along with other girls and boys, how to work and play together, taking part in community life. All this helps to make you a well-rounded personality and a good citizen and should help to make you remember that there are millions of others in this world besides you.

That's what school activities are for. They're not planned just by students, but are also carefully planned, supervised and approved by faculty, school board and Parent - Teachers' Association. They're the normal beginning of 'teen boys' and girls' social and community life.

So run along and have fun—and don't forget to come home on time so you can go again.

From Oxen to Airplane

By Dr. Daniel Poling

WE crossed the Missouri river at Bismarck, North Dakota, last night and pulled into the Northern Pacific station at Mandan just as the sun rimmed the hills to the west of this ancient Indian stronghold. Here when the first white man came in 1738 the skin lodges of five great native villages stood. Here in 1804 Lewis and Clark camped en route to the Pacific and here it was that they found the young Indian woman, Sacagawea, who guided them to the headwaters of the Missouri, where she had been stolen from her people, and on to the mouth of the Columbia.

Bismarck, the capital of the state, was for some years the rail head for the Northern Pacific. General and Mrs. George A. Custer traveled to this point by train during the Indian campaigns. The Custer's famous Seventh Cavalry had its headquarters at Fort Abraham Lincoln a few miles to the south. This was the starting point of the ill-fated expedition that went to annihilation at the Battle of Little Big Horn. President Rutherford B. Hayes owned an eight-hundred-acre ranch in the immediate vicinity. The high lying reaches of this vast region are crowded with history and legend.

But my interest in Bismarck, the Missouri and Mandan is chiefly personal. In the spring of 1884 my parents waited on the east bank of the river for the floods to subside so that they could cross (it was before the first bridge) and continue their journey to Oregon. I have my mother's diary for that year and she writes of my father preaching in the little sod church on the Sunday of their delay. She tells, too, of the baby that died from exposure in the arms of its young mother whom my mother sought to comfort. "What shall I find," she muses, "in this far, strange land to which I am going

Well, she found hardships, sorrow, and nine children—and love and fulfillment. Nearly 50 years afterward and the day following their golden wedding anniversary, I put my parents in an airplane and flew them over this same route they travelled first in 1884. How swiftly and comfortably we travel today where with "peril and pain" and the speed of oxen, they went to win the west.

Suitable Material For Fall Outfits

AS YOU plan that new fall wardrobe for yourself or your daughter, this year you'll want to give more thought than ever before to the suitability of the material you select to the pattern or design you have in mind.

The reappearance of sweeping skirts—many of them pleated—of much use of draping, of sheath-like skirts for formal wear, all bring up new consideration for suitability. For example:

Pleated skirts are easier to keep in press if the pleats are wider rather than the very narrow accordion or knife pleats. Unpressed pleats, which lend themselves to softer wools and spun rayons, are easiest to take care of. In planning cotton school frocks, remember that every pleat means extra time in ironing—first the pressing of the fabric as a whole, then the creasing of the pleat. Ginghams, chambray, woven stripes and plaids, and the percale type of prints—that is, cottons with considerable body—are best adapted to pleating. (However, seersuckers will not hold tight pleats.) Consider, too, he starching of the material, unless you are fortunate enough to get a permanent starch-like finish.

Drapes call for specific types of materials. Soft, clinging drapes are best interpreted in rayon crepes, jersey, and velvet, and in very soft wools. Fabrics that are very fine and sheer — chiffon, mousseline, and lawn-like spun rayons—should be used full for that graceful floating effect, but don't expect them to stay primly in place in pleats or close-fitting drapes.

Taffeta and satins can be draped but they will give a somewhat stiffer or more formal effect, except in the very, very soft satins.

For tailored effects, turn to the more sturdy fabrics of firm weave, gabardines, twills, worsted flannels, faille, sharkskin, broadcloths, shantung, linen-textured spun rayons and cotton suitings.

Contract Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

NORMALLY, a hand should not be opened with one no trump if it contains more than four honor-tricks. There are exceptions, however. Consider this case:

East, dealer.

	♠QJ1083 ♥Q5 ♦98 ♣A632
♠AK75 ♥AK9 ♦K32 ♣QJ10	NORTH WEST EAST SOUTH	♠964 ♥J32 ♦AQ64 ♣974
	♠2 ♥108764 ♦J1075 ♣K85

East	South	West	North
Pass	Pass	1 N. T.	2 spades
Pass	Pass	Double	Pass
Pass	3 hearts	Double	Pass
Pass	Pass

The 60 part-score made West's one no-trump opening both sound and highly strategic. East had already passed, hence it was virtually impossible that West's underbid would result in losing a slam, and there was the chance that the opponents, looking to West for substantially less strength, would "put out their necks" in an effort to stop the game. Obviously, that is just what happened. North's two-spade overcall was not far out of line, but when it met with a penalty double, South became panic-stricken and, as so often happens, rushed forward with a ridiculous and suicidal rescue.

The three-heart contract met the fate it so richly deserved. West made the sound opening of the heart king to get a look at dummy, and then shifted to the club queen. Declarer won and returned a club, permitting West's 10-spot to hold. West now cashed one spade honor and then, in order to "kill" dummy, exited with his third club. Dummy's ace won and declarer, floundering around helplessly, led the thirteenth club. East and declarer both discarded diamonds; West ruffed with the heart nine, cashed the heart ace, then led his other spade honor. Declarer ruffed and returned the diamond jack. West, of course, ducked; East won with the queen, cashed the heart jack and diamond ace, and then led his remaining diamond to West's king.

Declarer won only four tricks—two clubs and two hearts—and thus suffered a penalty of 900 points. Needless to say, this was more than twice the value of the non-vulnerable game that East-West could have made.

It's an Idea!

'Spade Deep Into Your Old Ideas'

By Elsie Robinson

First, of course, he tears away the old stocks and weeds and spades the ground thoroughly. But does he stop there? No, indeed. Into the worn-out soil go various fertilizers to renew its life. Carefully he turns the soil over and over, until it's practically powder. Now, surely, it's ready for the seeds and plants. But again you're wrong!

For days or weeks the gardener leaves the plot untended . . . open to the sun and wind and rain. Occasionally he returns and spades the earth again, until each inch of ground has been exposed. And then, at last, he plants his seeds within the quickened soil.

AERATING is what we call this waiting process, and every gardener and farmer knows how vital it is to healthy growth. For, however rich the soil may have been in the beginning, it needs to be aerated from time to time . . . it needs to open its heart to the spade or trowel, and feel the sun and rain flow through its every cell. Otherwise, soil will die, as surely as any other living matter.

Have you ever thought that this might be happening to you . . . that you, too, might need aerating? You were rich soil once, back in those years not so long ago. Good soil, filled with dreams and fire and faith. And life took root and blossomed in your deep abundance.

Then you married, or took a job. Probably did both. At any rate, you settled down into a rut. Had babies and accumulated a circle of friends. Went certain places, did certain things, year after year. When you all met you expressed the same old thoughts . . . talked about babies and clothes . . . gossiped about that terrible girl down the street. Yet, in the long run, you were quite satisfied.

BUT LATELY things have been different. You felt a little restless, a little bored. You wish Fred would stop telling the same old stories. And you're fed up with hearing Alice whine about her mother-in-law. If only they'd tell about something different . . . talk about something new.

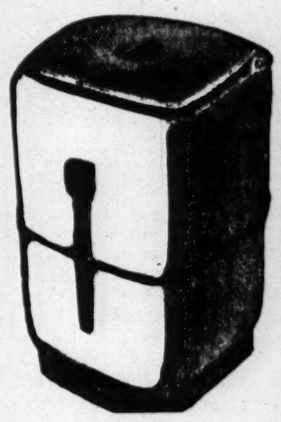

Did it ever strike you that they may be saying the same thing about you—that they may be getting just as bored with your little mannerisms and prejudices, as you are with theirs? Has it ever occurred to you that the fault lies within you, yourself, and not in the friends around you?

Get out of that rut. Tear away those withered notions and useless weeds that have accumulated in your life. Spade deep into those old ideas. Spade deep until you have eliminated every rotting notion and obsolete idea. Bare your heart to the life-giving air of all human experience, until once more you quicken and bloom as you did in those first good years. And then, seed yourself with new interests and new activities. And once more your life will blossom with its old abundance.

Strawberry Sauce

One-half cup sugar, one tablespoon cornstarch, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one cup strawberry juice, one tablespoon lemon juice, two tablespoons butter or margarine, one cup sliced strawberries.

Mix together sugar, cornstarch and salt. Gradually stir in hot strawberry juice and bring to a boil. Cook for 15 minutes, stirring until smooth. Stir in lemon juice and butter or margarine. Add sliced strawberries when juice is slightly cooled.

Escarole is a very sandy vegetable and, therefore, should be carefully washed when preparing. It is used primarily as a salad ingredient or a garnish, but it may be cooked as you would spinach. Escarole also goes well in soups, souffles, pancakes and many other dishes.

CONTRACT FOR PEACETIME ATOMIC ENERGY PILE IS LET

NEW YORK, July 29 (AP)—A contract for building the first atomic energy pile to be built in peace time, at the Brookhaven National Laboratory at Brookhaven, on Long Island, has been let to the H. K. Ferguson Co. of Cleveland, New York and Houston, the New York office of the United States Atomic Energy Commission announced last night.

Details were not announced, but construction is expected to be completed within a year.

Situated on the site of Camp Upton, the $50,000,000 laboratory will be operated as a joint research agency of a group of eastern universities, with federal financing.

PAIR DIVORCED SECOND TIME

Mrs. Beulah L. Kloess, 4243 Dewey avenue, today was divorced from Dr. Edward J. Kloess for the second time. The decree, on grounds of general indignities, was granted by Circuit Judge David J. Murphy.

Mrs. Kloess said they were first married in 1933 and divorced in March 1944. They were married again in July 1944, she said, and separated last November. Her husband, who is a major in the United States Army Medical Corps stationed in Germany, entered a general denial.

Why Hurry To Cemetery? Asks Writer

By Erich Brandeis

JUST one more column about my recent trip to California and then I won't bore you with it any more.

I told you previously that my wife and I rushed out to Hollywood to attend the funeral of our best friend, John P. Medbury. Fifty-four years old—a heart attack—finish.

John had worked too hard all during the year. He had wanted to come East this spring, but his work did not permit it. He was tired. The doctors had told him to let up a bit, but he could not take time to heed their advice.

Two years ago another of my close friends died, Joseph V. Connolly, head of the syndicate that distributes my column. He had been my pal for a quarter of a century. He was 50 when he died. Fifty years old—a heart attack—finish.

The doctors had told him, too, to let up. He, too, couldn't afford the time. So Death took his toll.

AFTER JOHN'S FUNERAL we went to San Francisco. I visited the office of the paper for which I worked as a reporter before I came to New York. I inquired about many of my old colleagues.

Four of them had died of heart attacks within the past few weeks—and every one of them under 50 or just a year or two past 50. A fifth, who as a young photographer had gone on countless assignments with me, was in the hospital, not expected to live. He had his third stroke a few days before and couldn't move or talk. I wanted to visit him at the hospital, but the doctors wouldn't let me. He was too sick, they said.

AT THE PAPER I had quite a visit with Harry Coleman, head of the photographic department, and over 60. He was the picture of health and didn't look a day older than 50. Three or four years ago a big outfit brought him on to New York at twice the salary he had in San Francisco. But, the pace was furious and he quit. Now he is back in San Francisco at half his New York salary, but he is happy. He expects to live at least another 20 years, and he looks it.

"I'm not going to let a pay check kill me," he said.

When we got back to New York we took a taxi. The driver was one of those philosophical cabbies for which New York is famous.

"You plane travelers always make me laugh with all that time you save," he said. "I get much more fun out of wasting time. Tomorrow I'm going to take my wife to the beach and lose a day's pay."

"What's a dead man going to do with all the time and money he saved?"

What's YOUR hurry?

First Aid for Screens.

THIS is about the time of year when most of the window and door screens about the house look as though they just got back from a peace conference in Moscow.

With this in mind we ran down to the hardware store the other day to see what they had in the way of first aid kits for ailing screens. There was quite a selection. For instance, you can get little screen patches that are fine for covering up those holes made by junior and his .22.

Sagging doors can be pulled up in a hurry with a couple of metal rods and a turnbuckle fitted between them. One end of the rod is screwed to the lower outside corner of the door and the other end runs diagonally to the opposite side. Once the rods are attached, you tighten things up by turning the turnbuckle with a pair of pliers until the door opens and closes easily. It is not necessary to remove the door for this operation.

Metal mending plates of one kind or another are fine for loose corner joints or broken horizontal bars.

Hand-Tailored Blouse

Economical Menus for Tomorrow

By Meta Given

THE following recipe is not guaranteed to produce food that everybody will eat with 100 per cent pleasure. So examine the recipe before you begin to use it. Your family may think it dislikes garlic, so our recommendation would be to reduce the suggested amount, but use some and the chances are the dish will be pronounced d e l i c i o u s. Maybe they'll want some more chili powder, so half an hour before serving time, test the flavor to see if you dare add more. They may never have a hankering for ripe olives and think it silly to heat them before serving. But heat six or seven anyway for a glamorous garnish. Adding beauty to food induces many to try it and rate it much higher than they would if it were without good looks.

Savory Rice.

One-third cup olive or salad oil, one-half pound ground beef, one-half pound ground veal one teaspoon salt, one small clove garlic, finely chopped, three-fourths cup coarsely chopped onion, one teaspoon chili powder, one-half cup sliced mushrooms, two cups tomato juice, six-ounce can tomato paste, one cup raw rice (four cups cooked), one cup sliced celery, one cup grated carrots, one-half cup pitted ripe olives, one cup ripe olives, heated, grated Parmesan cheese.

Heat oil in a heavy skillet with a cover. Add ground meat and stir constantly, cooking until meat is well broken up and only gray (not brown) in color. Add next seven ingredients and two cups water. Cover tightly and simmer one hour, adding more water from time to time, if needed. Meanwhile, cook rice until tender, drain and turn into a colander and place over steam to fluff. Lay a folded dry clean cloth over top while steaming. Add next three ingredients to meat sauce and cook 15 minutes longer. Serve sauce over hot rice which has been piled loosely onto a hot platter. Sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese, garnish with olives carefully heated in their own juice and drained, and serve immediately. Serves five to six.

Menus for Wednesday.

Dress and Jacket

Solution of Yesterday's Puzzle

Portable Ironer for Small Household Space

YOU'VE looked into the splendid service of an electric ironer, but you can't find room for it anywhere in your house, or perhaps it won't fit into your budget. In such a case, why not consider the portable ironers that you can store in a closet when not in use, and can set it on a table, desk or on any piece of furniture that's of a height convenient for working while you are seated? Several of the well-known ironer manufacturers are beginning to turn these out now.

The portable ironer operates on the same principle as the full size moving-roll type, which has a curved shoe above or below the padded roll. You won't find all the refinements of service on the smaller portable types, but they are built to give you a lot of time-saving and good work. You will be able to iron rapidly and well—and this includes sheets, tablecloths, shirts and dresses as well as the general run of smaller items.

In a portable ironer the roll is usually about 22 inches long by six inches in diameter. It also has thermostatic heat control combining on-and-off switch with the selection of ironing temperatures. The weight—which is generally about 33 pounds or so—is distributed fairly evenly, so that the iron is easy to handle. It will need a storage space of about 10 inches deep by 30 inches by 15 inches high. It operates on 115 volts, but must have an appliance outlet.

Frances E. Willard, founder of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, also was the founder and first president of Evanston College for Ladies in 1871. The college is now part of Northwestern University.

Chicken Fricassee

One 4-pound fowl, three slices salt pork, three tablespoons flour, two cups stock, one teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon freshly ground pepper.

Clean and wash fowl. Cut into pieces. Place in a large kettle and add boiling water to half cover. Simmer, covered, for two to three hours, or until tender, adding half teaspoon salt per pound after first hour of cooking. Dice the salt pork. Remove chicken from kettle and saute pieces with the salt pork. Remove chicken and pork cracklings. Stir flour into drippings. Gradually add the stock and cook until thickened. Return chicken pieces to gravy. Add salt and pepper and simmer, covered, until thoroughly heated. Serve chicken on top of rice on a hot platter with gravy poured over all.

Robert Greenstein, winner of baseball bat in recent contest, says: "I'm King BUB in my neighborhood! It's easy to win with BUB..." And his father, Mr. Marcus Greenstein, says: "I know that BUB has won the PARENTS' MAGAZINE 'Guarantee' Seal. That says so much for its quality and purity!"
Champions like Robert Greenstein say: Look for the Yellow Package with the Big Red Letters!
